BARE NEW DEAL BID FOR INDICTED OIL MAN'S CASH

Dictaphone Reveals $2,500 Sales Talk.

New York, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—J. Edward Jones, dealer in oil royalties, who is under federal indictment on a mail fraud charge, alleged in a story published in the New York Sun last evening that a representative of the Democratic national committee offered to aid him in his troubles with the government in return for Jones ordering $2,500 worth of Democratic convention books.

Jones filed with three federal agencies transcripts of a dictaphone recording of an alleged conversation in his office at 342 Madison avenue on Oct. 20 between himself and John J. O'Donnell, who described himself as special representative in the metropolitan area for the Democratic national committee.

The transcripts were sent to the senate committee investigating campaign expenditures, to Lamar Hardy, United States district attorney for the southern district of New York, and to the foreman of the federal grand jury of the district.

Thousand Get Same Chance.

The transcripts quoted O'Donnell as saying that at least a thousand other business men who were in difficulties with the government were being given the same chance to show monetarily and secretly—through purchase of the convention books—that they were for the New Deal.

O'Donnell also is quoted as saying that Jim Farley, Democratic national committee chairman, and W. Forbes Morgan, treasurer of the committee, kept confidential the names of these business men. Further, O'Donnell is reported to have said that President Roosevelt knows the way the convention book is being merchandised and that he knows "it's a sort of blind for contributions."

Ready to "Go to Bat."

In reply to a question by Jones as to whether O'Donnell "would get somebody on the committee to do the necessary things with Lamar Hardy down here to get my case nolle prossed," the transcript quotes the Democratic representative as replying, "I'll do my damndest." O'Donnell assured Jones, the transcript says, that he [O'Donnell] "will step right to the bat for you the day after election."

Morgan denied all of Jones' charges and said that the oil man sought to get a promise of aid in the mail fraud case in return for a $2,500 contribution. Jones made public a letter he sent to Morgan in which he informed the Democratic treasurer that he had a record of his conversation with O'Donnell. He also made public a letter purportedly written by O'Donnell on Oct. 21—a day after the alleged conversation—in which O'Donnell stated that "inasmuch as you are engaged in a controversy with a governmental department, the treasurer of the committee would not be willing to accept from you a check either as a contribution or in payment for the convention books."

Hamilton Wants Truth Now.

John Hamilton, chairman of the Republican national committee, issued a statement tonight from the Chicago headquarters demanding that the senate committee on campaign expenditures investigate Jones' published charges. Hamilton insisted that Morgan should be subpenaed before the senate committee.

"Let the extent to which the Democratic national committee has undertaken to shake down persons or corporations selling to the government, or under investigation or indictment, be made public," Hamilton said. "Let the truth come out. Do not hide it until after election.

"The public is entitled to know before election who instructed Mr. O'Donnell to solicit an undercover contribution of $2,500 from a man under federal indictment. The senate committee can easily ascertain the truth or falsity of Mr. Jones' charges by calling an open hearing."

"Only Reason" for Book.

The transcript of the alleged conversation between O'Donnell and Jones, as published in the Sun, begins with O'Donnell asking Jones "to cooperate with us." The transcript continues:

O'DONNELL—Well, we've got this Democratic national convention book. The only reason for it being in existence is to have the committee know

PENSIONS OUT OF ROOSEVELT'S WAGE TAX.

Only nine more weekly pay days before the Roosevelt wage tax goes into effect. From that time on for the rest of your working days something is going to be taken out every pay day for the wage tax. You will want to know what you are going to get out of it when you are 65 and the pension comes due.

No pensions will be paid until 1942. If you are 60 years old now and quit work the first of 1942 you will start getting the pension. The largest pension any one can draw who is now 60 years old is $5.77 per week. But to get a pension that large you must earn at least $3,000 every year between now and 1942. If you earn substantially less than $3,000 per year your pension may be only $2.50 a week. And you will get that only if you quit work.

If you are 50 years old now you will pay the wage tax for fifteen years. If you quit work in 1952 you may receive a pension as high as $11.54 a week. But to get that much you must be paid at least $3,000 every year from now until 1952.

Even though you are only 35 years of age now and pay taxes for the next thirty years the largest pension you can possibly get is $15.86 a week, and to get that much you must earn at least $3,000 in each calendar year for the next thirty years.

In contrast with that, a man and wife now, under the laws of forty states, may receive a pension up to $60 per month without having contributed a penny. To get a pension as large as this out of the Roosevelt wage tax fund you will have to pay the tax for nearly thirty years and be employed steadily at a wage of at least $3,000 per year.

The Roosevelt wage tax is a fraud upon American workingmen. Alfred M. Landon has sworn to secure a repeal of the Roosevelt wage tax if he is elected.

Run Browder Off Platform; Balk Address

Tampa, Fla., Oct. 25.—(AP)—A band of men whose leaders wore American Legion caps today slugged their way to a flag-draped stand in a vacant lot where Earl Browder, communist presidential candidate, was starting an address and broke up the meeting.

A dozen persons, including a couple of women, were injured slightly by blows from the raiders' fists and a pistol used as a club by Constable Fred Newberger. Newberger wore civilian clothes and attended the meeting apparently as a private citizen.

The wooden scaffold which served as a rostrum was upset during the fighting, but Browder and the others who occupied it slid down the tilting floor to the earth and were not hurt.

Browder Flees to Hotel.

"It is clear," he commented afterwards, "that mobs in Tampa are working in collusion with the police to deny freedom of speech. Under those circumstances I will not attempt to speak here."

Browder came here last September 13 to deliver an address, but the hall which he expected to use was padlocked.

The leader of the men who broke up today's meeting was a strapping fellow who wore an orange American Legion cap. He and his associates had been standing by the side of the lot, in downtown Tampa, for a full half hour before the speaking started.

Introduction Their "Cue."

They went into action as Alfred Bell, state secretary of the communist party, introduced the presidential candidate.

"Come on, boys," the leader called and the men surged toward the speakers' stand, where three American flags flew in the breeze. A chorus of boos arose from the crowd of about 200.

As the group fought a way to the side of the stand, Bell completed his introduction and Browder started to speak, disregarding the commotion. There was a flurry of fists at the side of the stand until those on the platform urged the spectators to be quiet.

Browder's Plea Ignored.

"Don't hit back, don't hit back," they called. This brought a lull for a few minutes and gave Browder a chance to suggest that "those who disagree with us might listen to what we have to say, and afterwards voice their own opinions."

At this the intervening group started to mount the stand, fighting off several men who blocked the steps. The rickety stand teetered precariously.

"Take it easy on the flag, boys," the leader called. The crowd took up the cry. The men tore the flags away, rolled them up carefully and then upset the stand.

Sherif J. R. McLeod said he was out of town at the time of the disturbance and had no official report on the episode. He added that he did not plan an investigation unless a formal complaint was made to him.

This is a message to all Volunteers!

It is a message to all those hundreds of thousands who have given their time and energy since midsummer.

And it is a message—a most important message—to those who have yet to join the Volunteers and who will spring into action in these last days of the campaign to save the United States from the blight of communistic experimenters.

Message for Every Voter.

The message is this: Use every resource at your command to see that every voter knows the danger of New Dealism.

You must make sure that every one within your reach has been told. This you can do by the effective first hand method of bell pushing. See to it that every bell in your neighborhood has been pushed. See to it that the owner of that bell gets your message.

If you can't reach all of your acquaintances with doorbells write letters. Write lots of letters. If you can reach your friends better by telephone do it. Make lots of telephone calls. Therefore push door bells, write letters, and make telephone calls.

Big Rally Tomorrow Night.

The speaker of the evening is to be former Senator James A. Reed of Missouri. There will be addresses by Wayland Brooks, the Republican candidate for governor, and Otis F. Glenn, candidate for United States senator. Mrs. F. Louis Slade of New York City, prominently identified with political and civic affairs in the east for more than twenty years and a speaker of note, will be the chief woman speaker. Mrs. Slade accepted the invitation of the women Volunteers after rearranging her eastern schedule. She is a national vice chairman of the Volunteer movement.

CHAPTER X.

[Concluded.]

When the Hon. Jellico arrived in front of the house he was again thrown into a kind of vexation to discover that the firemen were going about the routine business of collecting their gear.

"The fire! The fire!" exclaimed Mr. Jellico.

"What fire?" asked a battalion chief sourly. "There's no fire. But there'll be one if I can find the rascal that turned in the alarm."

"The alarm?" quavered Mr. Furter. "Why, I turned in the alarm. But I didn't know the fire was here."

"O, you did, did you?" demanded the chief, advancing upon the soul of the youth movement with emphatic menace. "What made you think you had to turn in an alarm?"

"Why," babbled Furter, "I came here to look for Mr. Jellico. This is his house, you know. I saw a fire cart come along sounding its siren. I thought I would be of help. So I hurried and gave the alarm box a pull. Say, there's that fire cart now."

Mr. Furter darted his finger toward the curbstone where a vehicle stood hemmed in by fire apparatus.

The chief turned. Then his lip curled in an eloquent sneer. "A fire cart?" he said with mincing scorn. "You can't tell a fire truck from an ambulance. You're coming with me to explain this."

"An ambulance," gasped Mr. Jellico. He whirled and dashed up the steps to his house. Mr. Furter moved to follow him. The battalion chief kept a firm hold of him. "With me, please," he said, drawing Mr. Furter after him.

Mr. Jellico burst through the door. The sight that confronted him all but overcame that great strength of purpose that had sustained him through life. In the dusk of the room to which his eyes were still unaccustomed he saw his daughter, June, in the clutches of a man.

"Stop!" he shouted.

The man carefully placed June in a large chair. He turned to present the Hon. Jellico with a smiling and inquiring countenance. It was Dr. Work.

"What's up, father?" asked June. And a happy smile from her left Mr. Jellico helpless and quite agog. "The fire isn't and I am home."

"How did you——?"

"And here," said June, interrupting him, "is my husband-to-be." She laid her hand in that of Dr. Work.

"That is," said the surgeon, "if you don't mind."

"O, he won't mind," said a voice behind Mr. Jellico. The figure of an elderly stranger came into the circle.

"Henry North!" The words leaped from Mr. Jellico's nerveless lips. "I don't understand. I don't understand."

Dr. Work laughed aloud. "Let me explain," he said. "Mr. North is my uncle. Of course, you couldn't know that. I could have told you in the hospital, but somehow the occasion didn't seem appropriate. I wasn't sure that it might not make a difference to June."

"Coward," said June.

"Thank you, June," said the surgeon. "You wonder what my uncle was doing in the hospital so mysteriously."

"Perhaps I can interrupt," said Mr. North. "I am in the business of manufacturing surgical instruments. It was my factory you visited some days ago."

"And I can add," said Dr. Work, "that my uncle donated the operating rooms with all equipment. He doesn't like to advertise it, but he does love to visit the hospital. And while we are on the subject of Uncle Henry I should like to say a kind word for my Aunt Polly. It may be of interest to Frank Furter to know that Aunt Polly is Mrs. Polly Sheldon North. It was she who founded the Sheldon scholarship which educated Mr. Furter."

"O, dear me," said the Hon. Jellico with something like a groan. Then he started up. "But how did it happen, Mr. North, that you were spy—ah—looking at my daughter that evening by the elevator?" For a moment his old look of severity came back.

Dr. Work laughed aloud. "That's the easiest of all," he said. "I happened to meet Uncle Henry in the corridor just after the operation. I told him I had just found my future wife. Uncle Henry is very curious about my affairs. He just had to see for himself."

"With me, please!"

"And today," said June, "I felt so well I simply had to come home. So John and Uncle Henry brought me."

The Hon. Jellico's face slowly bloomed out in a sunburst of smiles. "Well," said he, "we share the wealth after all, for health is wealth."

14 Faculty Leaders at U. of C. Join in Battle to Elect Landon

A group of the leading members of the faculty of the University of Chicago joined actively yesterday in the fight for the election of Alf M. Landon.

Fourteen men outstanding in their professions and in the field of education, men who have deplored publicity seeking all their lives, made public a joint letter in which they declared their intention to vote for the Republican nominee for President.

In it they referred to widespread publicity given to the political utterances of "few" of the faculty members as having created the erroneous impression that the views expressed were the views of the university and its faculty. This was construed as an allusion to at least two kinds of utterances in recent months.

It was believed to be a reproof to professors of the "pink" type who frequently have put the school on the front pages of the newspapers. Moreover, the letter is considered a disclaimer of New Deal activities by a small group of faculty members over the radio.

The chief radio spellbinder has been Thomas Vernor Smith, professor of philosophy since 1927, who has been an ardent Democrat and is now a state senator from the Fifth district. Prof. Smith has delivered a series of radio speeches for the Democratic national committee and has taken part in "round table" discussions which brought out his New Deal tendencies.

The fourteen faculty members who, to counteract this activity, have come out for Landon, stressed in their letter of declaration that no member of the faculty has the right to commit either the university or its faculty to any political viewpoint.

The standing of the fourteen among their associates at the Midway is such that it is predicted that many of the other members of the faculty will declare for Landon.

Their letter was made public by the Republican national committee which appended thumbnail biographies of the signers. In abridged form these sketches follow:

"ANDREW C. McLAUGHLIN is regarded as the leading authority on the development of the American constitution. His volume, 'A Constitutional History of the United States,' won the Pulitzer prize for history in 1935. He was for 19 years head of the university's history department.

"ARTHUR H. COMPTON, a 'distinguished service' professor, won the Nobel prize in physics for 1927 for the discovery of the 'Compton effect.' At present he is the leading authority on cosmic rays and has conducted tests at many points on the earth's surface.

"HENRY GORDON GALE is dean of the division of physical science, which includes six of the university's most eminent departments, and is chairman of the department of physics. He is the author of several standard textbooks in physics and is a former president of the American Physical society. He is an experimentalist as well as an administrator; in some of his experimental work he was associated with the late great Prof. A. A.

Because of the widespread newspaper publicity given to the political utterances of a few members of the University of Chicago's faculty, we have been told that many people hold the erroneous impression that these utterances represent the political viewpoint of the University of Chicago and its faculty.

The University of Chicago is a non-political institution. Each member of the faculty has the right to complete expression of his own political views. No member of the faculty has any authority to act as representative of the views of the faculty generally or of the University.

Illustrative of that right of complete political freedom, we the undersigned wish publicly to announce that we shall vote for Governor Alf M. Landon for President of the United States on November 3d.

SPANISH REBEL AVIATORS SET VESSELS AFIRE

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

GIBRALTAR, Oct. 25.—Spanish insurgent airplanes from the island of Mallorca today successfully bombed in Barcelona bay, two munition laden ships alleged to be Russian, according to the Palma radio. Both ships were set afire. A munition ship at Malaga also was bombed on Friday by airplanes from Ceuta.

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Oct. 25.—At least twelve Russian cargo steamers and tankers believed to be carrying supplies of war material and oil for delivery to the Spanish government passed down the Bosporus between Oct. 1 and 24.

On arrival at the sanitary station at the head of the Bosporus their destinations were declared to be Mexico, Hamburg, London, Denmark, New York and so forth but unofficial information indicates they were bound for Alicante, Barcelona or Cartagena. As some of them returned in about 16 or 20 days after passing Istanbul the declared destinations obviously were fictitious.

Deny Russia Asks to Move Fleet.

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Turkish authorities denied today reports that Russia had asked for authorization to send the soviet fleet through the Dardanelles into the Mediterranean sea. The fleet is at present anchored in the Black sea.

SAY REDS PLANNED WAR

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 25.—Portugal's reply to Russia's charge that Lisbon is aiding Spanish rebels is a twenty-one page document accusing Russia of having planned and brought about the civil war in Spain, it was learned tonight. The reply is in the hands of Lord Plymouth, chairman of the nonintervention committee.

Dr. Armindo Rodrigues Monteiro, Portuguese foreign minister, names Russian agitators, diplomats, and soldiers as having directed the operations.

Dr. Marcel Rosenberg, Russian ambassador, dominates the Madrid government and participates in cabinet meetings, according to Monteiro, who declares that Rosenberg was accompanied to Madrid by 140 soviet Russian agents.

Reds Direct Army?

The Russians also are said to have the direction of military affairs and they are accused of sending fifty-five Russian army officers to Barcelona last month. Monteiro specifies that soviet cargoes of arms and munitions are flowing into Spain and charges:

"At this very moment the soviet ship Heba and the Mexican ship Jalisco both are unloading at Alicante, Spain, large quantities of war material of Russian origin."

The Portuguese government refutes charges leveled against it by Moscow and declares that Russia is not interested in carrying out the nonintervention agreement, but in the promotion of civil war.

Seeks Revolution.

It also alleges Moscow's object is to start a revolution in Portugal and provide a base for attacking Gen. Franco's Fascist insurgent armies in the rear. Details of the Portuguese note, following the break off of relations with Madrid, created a stir in diplomatic circles.

Meantime, while Gen. Franco apparently contemplates closing all Spanish ports to Russian shipping, the nonintervention committee is considering the British proposal to set up an independent body to watch the Spanish ports and frontier and to report on any entries of arms.

Await 20,000 Russians.

LISBON, Portugal, Oct. 26.—[Monday].—(AP)—Portuguese citizens arriving at Lisbon from Barcelona aboard the destroyer Douro declared today that Catalonian authorities expected the arrival shortly of 20,000 soviet Russian volunteers.

They said the Russians were ready to embark from Black sea ports to aid Catalonia against the insurgents.

Other passengers said a few days ago two soviet cargo ships arrived at Alicante and unloaded tanks, aircraft and other war equipment. They said they actually saw one ship unloading alongside the destroyer Douro.

DICTATORS AGREE

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 25.—A Nazi-Fascist agreement insuring a unified political program of authoritarian Italy and Germany on a continent torn by fear, dissensions, and political fanaticism has become a reality with which European democracies and states will henceforth have to reckon.

Contents of the protocol, reached in Berlin, were sketched by Il Duce's son-in-law, Count Galeazzo Ciano, foreign minister of Italy, in Munich this morning after the conclusion of his negotiations with Germany's fuehrer, statesmen, and the heads of the Nazi party.

Perhaps most important, at the moment, to all Europe and the world are the decisions of the two nations on civil war torn Spain.

See Franco as Leader.

Germany and Italy openly grant in direct recognition of Gen. Francisco Franco, Spanish rebel leader, as ruler of Spain, who, the Nazis and Fascists assert, "is supported with energy by the Spanish people in the greatest part of the state where he restored order and discipline in contrast with anarchistic conditions prevailing there before."

Italy and Germany declare they will respect the principles of nonintervention in Spain.

Italy and Germany pledge themselves to respect "Spain's national and colonial integrity with the hope that Spain soon will resume the big rôle to which it is entitled in the life of nations."

[Other dispatches assert Italy and Germany agree to establish a common front to resist any attempt by soviet Russia to aid an "independent soviet republic of Catalonia," if communism is turned back at Madrid. Such an attempt, both Fascist leaders agree, on no account can be permitted to succeed.]

An Elastic Agreement.

The new agreement provides a pliable instrument which the dictators of each country can easily adapt to their political needs and which, therefore, is of infinitly greater value to men accustomed to act on the spur of the moment like Premier Mussolini and Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler, than a hidebound treaty could be.

For the sake of unity which spells strength Dictators Mussolini and Hitler forgot personal differences and concentrated on a program which assures the maximum effectiveness to their political actions.

The protocol as outlined by Count Ciano indicated that Germany emerges as the winner from the Berlin conference.

The first point of the protocol refers to a new Locarno treaty with Italy and Germany agreeing to "strengthen the foundations for security such as provided by a guarantee pact for western Europe."

Seeks League Reform.

This shows Italy agreed with Germany's demand to exclude the problem of the eastern borders from the new Locarno agreement contrary to the wishes of England and France.

The second point deals with the league of nations. Italy and Germany agree to remain in the "closest friendly contact" in the study of this question, indicating that Italy will encourage reform of the league of nations in a manner which will make it easier for Germany to return to Geneva.

The third point of the protocol refers to the delicate question of the Danube, where friction existed between Italy and Germany. Both countries agreed to stand by the Rome protocols and the Austro-German agreement of July 11, which provided "practical positive advantages for Austria."

Battle Against Bolshevism.

"In view of the serious dangers threatening Europe's social structure, the Fuehrer [Hitler], Baron von Neurath [Konstantin von Neurath, German foreign minister] and I stress determination to defend with all our strength the holy inheritance of European civilization," Ciano declared, revealing that Italy is accepting Germany's leadership in the fight against soviet Russia.

Still another point of the protocol calls for "a more intensive cultural exchange between Germany and Italy," which will be laid down in an agreement to be worked out in Rome.

REBEL PLANES CIRCLE MADRID, DODGE GUNFIRE

See Fascist Plan to Stir Terrorism in Capital.

MADRID, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Spanish government forces unleashed anti-aircraft and machine gun bullets against two Fascist insurgent airplanes over Madrid today.

Flying high, the insurgent airplanes circled over the city late this afternoon, apparently out of range of the anti-aircraft and machine gun batteries.

The airplanes retired after a visit which was interpreted as a second Fascist attempt to terrorize the city's 1,000,000 inhabitants. Previously four raids occurred Oct. 23.

Valuable art treasures were brought here today to safeguard them from the Fascist advance on El Escorial, 30 miles northwest of Madrid. Among the works of art removed from Escorial were the famous Goya tapestries and the 16th century paintings by Tintoretto and El Greco and a valuable collection of books, including the Codice Albeldense, written in 976 A. D.

Resume Oviedo Siege.

The government reported gains in other sectors. Fighting was reported continuing without pause in the northern Oviedo sector and Asturian miners announced they had closed around the city in a new blockade and had repulsed fresh divisions of Fascist reinforcements.

The newspaper Socialista reported that 5,000 insurgents had been killed in the northern sector since Oct. 4. Newspapers carried reports of a Fascist bombardment of Malaga to the south and criticized a policy of bombarding civilian populations.

Meanwhile the government announced its decision to liquidate most of its outstanding commercial credits without delay. American banking circles here were hopeful that the United States would be among the first to benefit.

The government said it had decided to pay out 250,000,000 gold francs in foreign currency to provide payment of past due 90 day acceptances under commercial credits.

Bankers here estimated that there were more than $3,000,000 in outstanding credits due the United States. They covered purchases chiefly of cotton, rubber, jute, and chemicals.

Form Wall of Militia.

VALDEMORO, Spain, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Strong lines of government militia today formed a human wall two miles beyond this town, 17 miles south of Madrid, while other Madrid forces lashed out in a savage onslaught against the Fascist insurgents at Sesena, southwest of here.

Two vital points in the Madrid government defenses were threatened. The insurgents' drive toward the capital attempted to cut the Valencian railroad in the east, while another insurgent column attempted to cut off Aranjuez from the capital.

In a surging counter attack government militia from Aranjuez attacked Sesena, seeking to "squeeze" Gen. Francisco Franco's troops with a scissorlike movement from Sesena to Ciempozuelos.

Three insurgent whippet tanks escorting a company of Moorish cavalry advanced under protection of heavy guns in the Sesena sector. They patroled the countryside from their position on the Aranjuez highway, facing the Ciempozuelos crossroads.

Two insurgent bombers straffed the government lines late in the afternoon, while convoys of ambulances conveyed wounded to Madrid.

Press Escorial Drive.

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

NAVAS DEL MARQUES, Spain, Oct. 25.—Five 6 inch batteries hammered all day at Loyalist positions in Peguerinos while the Fascist infantry continued its drive east toward the road junction leading north to Peguerinos and south to Santa Maria Alameda in an effort to capture Escorial, 30 miles northwest of Madrid.

All morning Loyalists replied to the Fascists' gunfire but around noon their shelling ceased. This was taken to mean here either that their batteries had been silenced or that they were retreating. In these broken hills full of natural obstacles such as trees, boulders, and rock formation every ridge must be fought for separately.

The duke of Medinaceli's 16th century castle, built on the highest point of Navas Del Marques, is now ruined by shell fire. Two civilians who had succeeded in running the lines from Escorial said the San Lorenzo monastery where Spain's kings are buried had not been hurt so far. It is being partly used as a hospital for the wounded.

60,000 at Catalan Rally.

BARCELONA, Spain, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Sixty thousand Catalans jammed the bull ring here today to hear speakers of principal Socialist and anarchist workers' organizations appeal for a common front to war on Spanish Fascists. The Russian consul attended the gathering and was cheered loudly.

Blocked in Mountains.

LISBON, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Madrid is quite safe from attack through the northwestern Guadarrama mountains, a Fascist general was quoted today.

The reason is the 6,000 troops under the leadership of the veteran, Gen. Julio Mangada. Until Mangada is dislodged from his northwestern strongholds, a correspondent for Diaro Noticias quoted Fascist General Valdez as saying it will be impossible to advance through the jagged mountain passes. Mangada has yet to suffer a defeat, the correspondent asserted.

The newspaper Diario Lisboa quoted a Fascist, Capt. Garcia Morato, as saying that two airplanes held at Getafe airport outside Madrid to evacuate cabinet officers when the final attack on the capital begins had been destroyed in a daylight air raid yesterday.

Maj. Ramon Franco, former air attaché to the Spanish embassy in Washington, reached here today en route to Spain to join his brother, the Fascist commander, Francisco Franco. Maj. Franco recently was dismissed from his post by the Madrid Socialist government because of his relationship to the insurgent leader.

The insurgent commander, Gen. Gonzalo Queipo de Llano, broadcasting yesterday from Seville, addressed a "heartfelt" greeting to Portugal which broke diplomatic relations with Madrid Friday. Queipo de Llano declared "all conscientious peoples of the world should follow Portugal's example."

Wireless Trafic Delayed.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Wireless communication with Madrid today was slow and uncertain. A check of heavily censored communications received here yesterday and today revealed a delay in transmission of from three to twelve hours.

It has been more than a month since outside points were able to call Madrid by telephone, but correspondents within the capital still are permitted to telephone their dispatches providing the censor is listening.

Charge Mail Opened.

BURGOS, Spain, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Letters and post cards from the United States figured today in charges by Fascist leaders that French postal authorities "blocked and hindered" delivery of mail to insurgent territory, as part of "help given to Spanish communists."

The Fascists asserted the Madrid government transport Galerna, captured on Oct. 15, carried 150 sacks of mail including several thousand letters from foreign countries which should have been forwarded by way of Hendaye, Gibraltar or Lisbon, instead of through Bilbao, Socialist stronghold, "where they would have been opened, giving important facts to our enemies."

Emphasis was given to a post card from Los Angeles as an example of the insurgent charge.

BELGIUM TENSE AS POLICE BEAT FASCIST HEADS

Party Leader, Hundreds of Others Jailed.

BRUSSELS, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Dozens of bruised heads resulting from scuffles between Fascist advocates and police today marked the 22d anniversary of the battle of the Yser in the most tense atmosphere Belgium has known since the world war.

One man was shot in the leg. Several hundred were arrested. Leon Degrelle, sometimes called "the Belgian Hitler," was detained by police but later released, together with two Rexist deputies and Degrelle's protector, Count Xavier Degruenne.

De Grelle's declared intention of leading 250,000 of his Rexist [Fascist] party followers into Brussels to overthrow the government caused the cabinet to take extraordinary precautions unknown heretofore in Belgium.

City Barricaded.

Veterans of the Yser battle assembled for their annual celebration with the city barricaded as if in a state of siege.

King Leopold III. of the Belgians reviewed the parading veterans before the palace while 4,000 gendarmes with rifles over their shoulders and wearing extra cartridge belts patrolled all roads leading into Brussels and the center of the city. Many veterans gave the Fascist salute when they passed the king.

The most critical situation developed at dusk when successive waves of young men crying, "Vive Degrelle" and singing the Belgian national anthem swept down the Boulevard Ansbach into Brouckere square and on into the Boulevard Adolphe Max.

The youths paraded for two hours. Army trucks brought reinforcements of blue-coated gendarmes wearing steel helmets to disperse the mob into side streets while cafés closed their doors.

Begins Harangue at Church.

Degrelle was taken into custody when he tried to address the crowds at the entrance to St. Gudule cathedral as worshipers left after the services there.

In the afternoon some Rexists tried to demonstrate before the court building where they thought Degrelle was held, but police dispersed them. A meeting of Rexist deputies and senators in one of the city's largest hotels similarly was broken up.

Premier Paul van Zeeland and his moderate cabinet frustrated efforts by Degrelle to assemble his followers from all Belgium but those already in the city paraded the streets to manifest their desire to set up an anti-parliamentarian government.

Motor Cars Searched.

All automobiles entering the city were searched and the names of travelers living more than six miles from the city were listed.

Entrance to auto buses was forbidden. No street cars ran in the center of the city while police with clubs and gendarmes kept the crowds moving.

U. S. WRITER IN SPAIN DISAPPEARS UNDER FIRE OF ARMY TANKS

MADRID, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The disappearance of Henry Tilton Gorrell of Washington, D. C., near Ciempozuelos, 17 miles south of Madrid, was reported today by the United States embassy in Madrid to the state department in Washington.

Gorrell, a correspondent for the United Press in Madrid, was reported to have been driving from Valdemoro to Ciempozuelos in an attempt to reach Aranjuez, which the Spanish Fascists were attempting to cut off from the capital. Gorrell's car was suddenly confronted by a number of green Whippet tanks, apparently on patrol, which immediately unleashed a fusillade of machine gun bullets.

Gorrell jumped into a ditch to take shelter from the hail of bullets while his chauffeur turned his car back toward Madrid. One of the tanks heading straight for his refuge turned over in the ditch alongside of Gorrell. Two tanks were firing continuously almost on top of him. One tank was stated to have pursued the chauffeur at a speed of nearly 40 miles an hour, raining bullets on the car. It was reported that a Fascist radio broadcast had announced Gorrell had been taken prisoner. Two other newspaper men were reported missing in the Aranjuez sector. They were James Minifie, Canadian, writer for the New York Herald-Tribune, and Denis Weaver, writer for the London News-Chronicle.

GERMANS FORCED TO READ BOOKS OF NAZI AUTHORS

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, Oct. 25.—The German people are to be compelled with "loving force" to read books of Nazi authors, State Councillor Hans Johst, president of the reich chamber of literature announced today in a celebration in Wiemar in honor of "Book week."

"In this hour in which we proclaim the value of books beyond the borders of the reich, we cannot speak aggressively enough. Book dealers must not use books as a means of private income, but in the service of the third reich. In the future I will eliminate the lukewarm among book dealers and I will not tolerate a dictatorship of the buying public.

"The buying public is our people and our people want to be, and shall be convinced and led; that is an essential principle of our age. Christian art was likewise enforced in its age with loving force and the National Socialist book is the only book that will go to the people. Our state needs a revelation of our spirit. Resistance will be broken with dynamite."

Drops Civil War Revolver and Is Seriously Wounded

Since 1871 William H. Harper, 72 years old, 3821 North Hamlin avenue, has kept an old .38 caliber Colt revolver, which was owned by his father during the civil war. Last night Harper's grandson, James Davison, 15 years old, 2424 North Central Park avenue, visited him. As James was examining the relic it slipped from his hand, struck the floor, and discharged. The bullet struck the boy's leg and severed an artery. At the Rogers Park hospital young Davison was in a serious condition from loss of blood.

3 FRENCH PLANES TO CARRY MADRID REFUGEES OUT

PARIS, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Three French transport planes were made ready tonight to take off from Toulouse for Madrid to evacuate women and children refugees in embassies there.

The machines will leave Toulouse at 7 a. m. tomorrow on their first trip and probably will make two journeys daily until all the regufees are brought out. Each plane is expected to carry more than 15 passengers on each trip, thus removing about 100 persons each day.

Officials of the Air France organization, which owns the planes, said they would continue the flights until war conditions make it impossible to land at Madrid. The Spanish government agreed last week to the evacuation of women and children after negotiations prompted by South American diplomats.

REPORTS REBELS MAP DRIVE TO TAKE BARCELONA

PARIS, Oct. 25.—(AP)—A British source reported tonight Gen. Francisco Franco, commander in chief of the Spanish Fascist armies, plans to start a strong offensive against the government stronghold of Barcelona Nov. 3 or 4 with the use of 112 new battle planes.

[Gen. Franco previously has indicated he would concentrate his attack on autonomous Catalonia, in which Barcelona lies, immediately after the capture of Madrid. President Manuel Azana of Spain set up offices in Barcelona last week.]

The new Fascist air force includes bombers and pursuit planes, the British source reported. In addition reinforcements are being brought in steadily from Spanish Morocco preparatory to the Barcelona attack, it was said.

POLICE JAIL BOY FOR GIVING AWAY G. O. P. CIRCULARS

Hold Him Incommunicado 2 Hours; No Charges.

Herbert Scheinrock, 18 years old, 1907 South Ridgeway avenue, was distributing printed circulars yesterday in a door to door canvass of the 1st precinct of the 22d ward. The circulars outlined the danger to the workingman in the New Deal social security act which starts its monthly deduction from every pay check on Jan. 1.

The young man was doing this work at the request of his father, Nathan Scheinrock, Republican captain of the 1st precinct. In other parts of the ward workers were handing these circulars to householders.

Four Plain Clothes Men Intervene.

Suddenly an automobile stopped in front of 1807 South Hamlin avenue, where Herbert was leaving a handbill. Four burly men in civilian clothes ordered him into the car. Two of them displayed police stars.

"What you got there?" asked one of the detectives. Herbert showed them the handbills. "You're coming with us," said another policeman. The machine started up.

Then occurred a puzzling conversation among the policemen, debating where to take their prisoner. Two favored the detective bureau or the state's attorney's office.

Youth Advises His Captors.

"I thought they were just trying to frighten me," said young Scheinrock later. "So I told them to try the Lawndale station. Our precinct is in that district. Anyway, that's where they took me." [It developed later the policemen were attached to that station.]

One of his captors asked Herbert who his employer was. Young Scheinrock showed them his father's card.

At the station there was more talk. Herbert kept asking whether they were going to book him, and, if so, on what charge.

They Decide on a Charge.

"O, a smart guy?" one policeman remarked. "Go ahead and book him, sergeant. Make the charge violation of the ordinance regulating the distribution of handbills."

Herbert saw the complaint written out. Then he was locked in a cell. He was told he could get out if he put up a $50 cash bond, but he was refused the use of a telephone.

Meanwhile, the elder Scheinrock heard of his son's arrest and hurried to the station. He found the arresting policemen conferring with Lieut. Julian Bernacchi, the day officer in charge. A few minutes later, Ald. Henry Sonnenschein [22d], a Democrat, walked in.

Much Chatter and More Doubt.

Nathan Scheinrock said he tried in vain to learn definitly the nature of the charge against his son.

"After the four policemen who arrested the boy and the lieutenant had a talk with the alderman," said Scheinrock, "Mr. Sonnenschein told them to let the boy go on his own bond. That was two hours after his arrest.

An examination of the station records later revealed that there was no record of the arrest and no complaint in the record book, though the boy was told he would be notified when to appear for trial.

The Official Explanation.

"Here's how it happened," explained Lieut. Bernacchi last night. "Some one called the station and complained of a boy distributing handbills. I sent four detectives to bring him in.

"It looked at first as if young Scheinrock was in the wrong. We didn't care what kind of handbills they were. We were interested only in the violation of law. Later I decided that he was distributing them in a legal manner. Ald. Sonnenschein happened to come in. He agreed with me and we turned the boy out. There was no charge against him."

SPANISH LINER RUNS AGROUND OFF BERMUDA EN ROUTE TO MEXICO

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The Spanish liner Cristobal Colon went aground on east North rock, ten miles off the north shore of Bermuda at 1 a. m. today. It was reported badly damaged.

The 10,833 ton ship, headed for Mexico from Cardiff, Wales, carried no passengers. It is one of the largest Spanish ships afloat.

The vessel was considerably off its course and struck one of the treacherous reefs in the area. It was perched on the rock today with water in at least one hold. Two tugs were dispatched to its aid.

FIND GIRL'S BODY BESIDE TRACKS; SUICIDE FOR LOVE

The body of Miss Helen Bryjak, 22 years old, 9244 Dauphin avenue, a stenographer, was found yesterday morning beside the Illinois Central railroad tracks near 92d street. She had been struck by a train. Police said they were convinced the young woman had committed suicide.

From Miss Bryjak's father, Peter, a foundry worker, Lieut. Albert Anderson of the Burnside station learned that the young woman was despondent over a broken love affair. Police also learned that on several occasions she had told friends she intended to "end it all" on the railroad tracks.

The body was found by Louis Dawson, motorman on a suburban electric train. As he summoned police a crowd of neighborhood residents gathered. Through the crowd pushed Peter Bryjak Jr., 14 years old. "I think that's my sister," he quavered and then ran home. He returned with his brother, Joseph, and his father, who verified the identification.

PACELLI, PAPAL SECRETARY, HERE ON U. S. AIR TRIP

Plane Is Late Because of Bad Weather.

Cardinal Eugenio Pacelli, papal secretary of state, arrived in Chicago yesterday from New York on an airplane tour that will take him to St. Paul, San Francisco, Los Angeles, St. Louis, Cincinnati and back to New York in five days. The vatican official was greeted at the airport by Cardinal Mundelein and members of the Chicago hierarchy and a crowd of several hundred persons.

Dinner at Mundelein's Residence.

The cardinal's specially chartered United Air Lines plane arrived an hour behind schedule because of weather conditions. He and the five members of his party were taken to Cardinal Mundelein's residence on State parkway and for a dinner attended by Bishop Edward F. Hoban of Rockford, Bishop James A. Griffin of Springfield, Bishop Joseph Schlarman of Peoria, Bishop Henry Althoff of Belleville, Bishop Stanislaus Bona of Grand Island, Neb., Auxiliary Bishop W. D. Griffin of La Crosse, Wis., and Auxiliary Bishop William D. O'Brien of Chicago.

Granted Notre Dame Degree.

A stop was made at South Bend, Ind., en route to Chicago and the honorary degree of doctor of letters from the University of Notre Dame was conferred upon Cardinal Pacelli at a special convocation of the faculty. The papal secretary will inspect the seminary of St. Mary's of the Lake at Mundelein this morning and leave from the Glenview airport at 3:40 p. m.

MICHIGAN DRIVER LEARNS WHY HIS CAR IS DRAGGING

A tipsy Michigan motorist drove into the filling station at Clark, La Salle and Eugenie streets last night. "My car's dragging awfully," he complained. "All the tires must be punctured."

Martin Hoekstra and William Kerwer, the attendants, examined the tires and found no punctures. But they found another automobile with its bumpers hooked on the rear bumpers of the Michigan car. The rear car had been dragged all the way from in front of 20 East Delaware place where it had been parked by its owner, Harry Lasch, of that address.

After the automobiles were separated the Michigan driver got away before he could be detained.

KILLS WOMAN LEAVING STREET CAR AND FLEES

Motorist Captured After Wild Chase.

A motorist who killed one woman and slightly injured another as they were alighting from a street car at North avenue and Clark street early today, was captured by a cab driver and police after a wild chase in the near north side in which he rammed one machine and narrowly missed several others. He was Victor Friberg, 52 years old, 1242 North Wells street, a real estate dealer with offices at 738 North La Salle street.

The woman killed was Mrs. Eleanor Brandef, 66 years old, of 843 Belmont avenue. With Mrs. Ellen Gilbertson, 53, of 853 Roscoe street and Mrs. Hilma Johnson, 67, of 4429 Ravenswood avenue, she was returning home from a Swedish anniversary celebration in Wicker Park. They were on a North avenue car and were to transfer at Clark street.

Kills Woman; Speeds Away.

At Clark street Mrs. Brander alighted first, followed by Mrs. Gilbertson. Suddenly Friberg's car shot out from behind the standing trolley, hit Mrs. Brander, ran over her, and brushed Mrs. Gilbertson to one side. Then Friberg turned south in Clark street. Police were told he doused his lights.

Charles E. Johnson, a Yellow cab driver, started in pursuit. Police were notified. The chase led south at a fast clip. In front of 1320 North Clark street Friberg smashed into the parked car of Jack Walker, 449 Belden avenue. He backed out and continued south. He missed two cars at Division street.

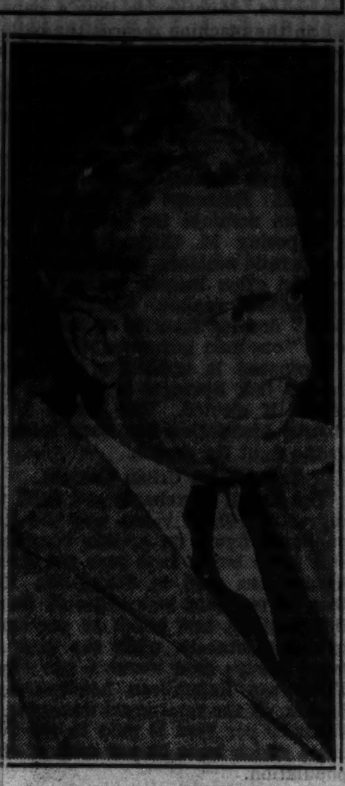
Then he turned west in Maple street, where he almost hit two other cars, and went south in La Salle street. At Oak street Johnson curbed and held him for Policemen Thomas Kelly and Thurman Stearn of the Hudson avenue station. According to police, Friberg is a Republican precinct committeeman in the 42d ward. They said he admitted having had a few beers. He said he did not remember the accident.

Unidentified Man Killed.

An unidentified man about 25 years old, with a dove tattooed on his right arm, was killed early today at Polk and State streets by a car driven by Henry C. Paine, 26, of 2301 South State street, a medical student. Paine said the accident was unavoidable.

Antonas Kavalauskas, 46 years old, 811 West 37th place, a cook, was killed early yesterday when he was struck by an automobile at Halsted and 37th streets.

Seized in Chase



VICTOR FRIBERG.

John Vasilla, 50 years old, 1752 West 61st street, a surface lines watchman, was found dead last night in front of 1922 South Cicero avenue, Cicero, where he was protecting a repair project. His injuries indicated he had been struck by an automobile.

Car Turns Over; Driver Dies.

Paul Kersch, 27 years old, 5249 South Richmond street, was killed yesterday when his automobile ran off the pavement in 92d street near Archer avenue in Palos township. The car turned over several times throwing Kersch's body out through the torn top.

Michael Philbin, 74 years old, 1508 West Hubbard street [Austin avenue], died last night in the County hospital of injuries incurred last Wednesday when he was struck by a hit-and-run auto at Paulina and Ohio streets.

Mrs. Martha Wallijecowski, 39 years old, 1355 Bradley street, died yesterday in the County hospital of injuries incurred Friday when she was struck by an automobile as she was crossing Ogden avenue at Fry street.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday, 801 persons had been killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 608 were killed in Chicago. In the same period, 15,653 were injured in trafic accidents in the city.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Indiana, nine days before election, appears a doubtful state. With the outcome Nov. 3 still in the making, both Republicans and Democrats are redoubling their efforts in an intensive, furious windup.

Republican leaders today hailed the great demonstration given Gov. Alf M Landon here yesterday, the greatest in his coast to coast platform tours, as bringing the Hoosier campaign into its full stride. The outpouring from all quarters of the state, with estimates of the crowds running as high as 200,000, was dwelt on as an all day demonstration without precedent in the city's political history. G O. P. leaders say the psychological effect upon the campaigning is already discernible.

G. O. P. Optimism Rises.

Up to yesterday the feeling at Republican headquarters was that Gov. Landon had a good chance in Indiana. That was as far as the prophets went. Today, however, with the din and bedlam of yesterday still echoing, the conservative G. O. P. forecasters were vigorously saying that the momentum given the Landon movement, if kept up, will suffice to win. They regard yesterday's great political show as having particular effect in the industrial cities, which are rated as the Roosevelt mainstay.

Among Democrats, the reaction today seemed to be one of doubt mixed with apprehension. They express confidence. But where they were saying Indiana is "in the bag" for the New Deal, there seemed to be suspicions in the camp that the bag might have a hole before Nov. 3. General feeling is that the situation is a tight one. The final week will see terrific battling on both sides.

Gain in Rural Areas.

In Indiana, the contest has developed into rural sentiment as against possible trends among the industrial voters.

In the corn-hog belt, where the corn-hog checks fell thickest, farmers have been turning against the New Deal and the AAA theories. They displayed this tendency two years ago in the election of township officers. Since Gov. Landon's speeches at Des Moines and Minneapolis on agricultural policies, a great surge has been reported in the farm regions towards the Landon-Knox ticket.

Under the New Deal, $39,830,867 has been poured into Indiana in corn-hog, wheat, tobacco, sugar benefit, and rental payments. The bulk of the farmers, according to Republican canvasses, with an eye on future payment of the national debt load, have been swinging rapidly to the idea it will be the equivalent of a mortgage on the earning power of the farms.

Swing in City Elections.

Republicans speak of the swing in the election two years ago, when Republicans elected 50 per cent of the township trustees in the state. The G. O. P. likewise gained in the 101 cities. Now 60 cities have Republican mayors.

Of Indiana's population, 56 per cent is contained in the 101 cities and 44 per cent in the 420 towns and rural communities.

As to the vote, about one-half of Indiana's electorate is in the 12 largest counties. About one-third of the vote is in the 12 largest cities. Of the 92 counties, 80 are listed as rural.

Republican estimates, based on canvasses, are that Gov. Landon will roll up a plurality of perhaps 100,000 in the 80 rural counties. In central and southern Indiana, Landon is indicated to be especially strong. Democrats concede it. G. O. P. headquarters says that south of the old national road, the party organization and the response of the voters are better than at any time in the past twenty years.

Woo Industrial Regions.

Polls indicate a considerable accretion of rural Democrats to the Landon ticket. The Democrats are working with platform speakers from outside of the rural regions, but some of the Democratic farm leaders have been privately indicating that rural Indiana is headed towards Landon.

The New Dealers are concentrating upon the industrial counties. The counties where their activities are greatest are Lake [Gary], Allen [Fort Wayne], Marion [Indianapolis], St. Joseph [South Bend], Vanderburgh [Evansville], and Vigo [Terre Haute].

In the coal mining counties, labor appears to be divided between the miners who follow John L. Lewis and those who oppose him.

The Calumet mill region and Indianapolis are regarded as key to the election—they cast about 20 per cent of the vote.

The industrial workers, various polls show, are supporting Roosevelt by large percentages. One Republican state leader said today that the hardest nut for the G. O. P. to crack is the industrial population which now is working in the mills and factories. In the event of a close election, the vote in the Gary region might swing the result. Both sides are working intensively there.

In the last ten days, Republican scouts report, the most effective argument among the workers is the Roosevelt wage tax which is to be deducted from the pay envelopes after Jan. 1 under the social security act.

An unusual amount of doubtful votes is on the poll books of both parties. Republican headquarters said today that their 30 day poll shows nearly 30 per cent of the voters are doubtfuls. G. O. P. leaders hold to the theory that on election day the bulk of the doubtfuls swing against the party in power. The Democratic managers take the opposite view—that many Republicans who intend to vote for Roosevelt give doubtful answers to the poll takers in order not to lose "regularity."

The Republicans say this line of reasoning may as well apply to Jeffersonian Democrats who intend to support Landon.

The Negro vote is one of the problems. Indiana has about 78,000 Negro voters, about 31,000 of them living in Indianapolis and some 15,000 in the Gary region.

Relief Charges Hurled.

During the Ku Klux Klan era the bulk of this vote was lost to the Republicans—about 12,000 of them have not voted since 1924, according to Republican headquarters, and of those who voted, the Democrats got the majority. The Democrats have been busy organizing. Republicans declare a considerable part of this lost Negro vote is heading back, but the matter of relief now steps in. Charges are being hurled from the stump that the New Dealers are bearing down on WPA workers and recipients of relief of various kinds with threats that if they do not vote "right" they will be thrown off the lists.

Republicans charge that men and women on relief are being told that a checkup will be made of their ballots. One myth is that in places where there are voting machines there are two bells which ring and the judges can tell from the sound how a voter has voted. Another is that a paper roll in the machine records the ballot voted by each voter and affords a check.

The administration of Democratic Gov. Paul V. McNutt is under attack by the Republicans. Up to a fortnight ago G. O. P. headquarters centered more upon the state fight than the national. Raymond S. Springer, Republican nominee for governor, who is opposing M. Clifford Townsend, Democratic nominee, has been attacking the gross income tax passed by the McNutt régime. "Emperor McNutt" has his favorite theme, along with "one-man government."

Townsend is upholding the gross income tax; Springer is pledging its repeal if elected. The Retail Merchants' association has been leading in the fight for repeal.

Tax Affects Urban Centers.

The Retail Merchants are held to represent 150,000 votes, and the Republicans figure on getting considerable gains here. Last year the gross income tax paid in $13,600,000. Of this, 46 per cent was collected from the retailers, and about 10 per cent by manufacturers, while the agricultural groups paid about 1 per cent. These are Republican headquarters figures. Of the total gross income tax, about 80 per cent is paid in the 101 cities which have 56 per cent of the population.

The state house is being accused by the Republicans of trying to coerce the teachers into support of Townsend by sending out circulars saying that to repeal the gross income tax would cut each teacher's pay $500 in 1937. This is being denounced as counter to the facts.

Assails Democratic Fund.

A 2 per cent fund, assessed for campaign purposes upon the pay rollers, also is attacked by Springer, who is asking: "Do you favor a levy on the pay roll of state employés who are paid by taxpayers' money in order to raise a political slush fund?"

The 2 per cent is figured to pay in $105,000 a year on the pay rolls. Republicans are somewhat apprehensive about how much the war chest still contains and how much it may perform this final week.

The Democrats are not exactly a happy family. Factions have rent them, as in Illinois between Horner and Kelly-Nash. The feudists are working under surface harmony, supposed to be due to the cajolery of Jim Farley, Democratic national chairman.

Gov. McNutt, Earl Peters, former state chairman; Pleas Greenlee, former patronage secretary to the governor, and Senator Frederick Van Nuys of the old Taggart Democracy have parked their scalping knives in the checkroom and only are surface pals until after election.

THE NOTE BANDIT STRIKES 3D TIME AND OBTAINS $210

A young, well dressed man stepped up to the ticket window of the Sonotone Picture theater, 66 East Van Buren street, last night, drew a revolver, and handed Miss Stephanie Burba, 23 years old, 5640 South Ada street, a note.

"This is a robbery," it read. "Hand over your money." The robber did not say a word. Miss Burba handed him $210, and he walked away.

Police said he is the same man who committed similar robberies recently at Gimbel's restaurant and at Anne's restaurant. In all three robberies he used notes written in printed capitals. He has never spoken during the holdups.

ROOSEVELT OFF TODAY ON FINAL CAMPAIGN TRIP

Ten Speeches in 8 Days on His Program.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Preparing for a strenuous campaign finale, President Roosevelt spent a quiet Sunday at the White House today, resting and touching up his final speeches.

His bid this week for four more years in the White House will end up in talks to audiences in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and New York where a total of 102 electoral votes repose.

Mr. Roosevelt left the White House today for the first time since returning to Washington Friday to motor under a bright October sun to morning services at St. Thomas Episcopal church.

His military aid, Col. Edwin M. Watson, and Mrs. Watson sat in the pew beside him as he listened to a sermon by the Rev. Charles Fiske, retired bishop of the central diocese of New York.

Two "Nonpolitical."

Leading off with two addresses described by the White House as "nonpolitical," the President will cram ten speeches into the eight days remaining before the balloting gets under way.

Tomorrow he will help dedicate a PWA financed chemistry building here at Howard university, Negro institution, then leave by special train Tuesday night for Bayonne, N. J. From there a government boat will carry him to Bedloe's Island in New York harbor for observance of the fiftieth "birthday" of the Statue of Liberty.

Political speeches at Wilkes-Barre and Harrisburg, Pa.; Camden, N. J., and Wilmington, Del., are on the Roosevelt date book for Thursday.

One on Agriculture.

In an address at the state capitol at Harrisburg, White House officials said the President would deal chiefly with agriculture. The other three Thursday talks will be informal and probably extemporaneous.

Returning to the capital Thursday night, he will leave again Friday afternoon, arriving in New York in time for an evening address at the Academy of Music in Brooklyn.

Saturday noon he will talk briefly to Democratic women leaders of the Bronx and that night to an audience in New York's Madison Square Garden.

A final appeal for votes will be made on election eve, a week from tomorrow, in a radio address from the President's home at Hyde Park, N. Y., or from Poughkeepsie, six miles away.

100,000 CATHOLICS OF MONTREAL PROMISE TO RESIST COMMUNISM

MONTREAL, Que., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Accepting the "challenge of communism," 100,000 Roman Catholics here today pledged defense of their faith and declared themselves against religious persecution throughout the world.

Jamming the Craig street armory and filling Champ de Mars the Catholics were warned, "Your hour has come." Denunication of communism and Fascism brought cheers from the crowd.

The only defense against the advancing wave of communism, Msgr. Georges Gauthier, archbishop coadjutor of Montreal said, lies in Catholicism. Organized by the Comite des Ouvres Catholiques, the meeting in a series of resolutions pledged: Fidelity to the church and its chiefs, profound attachment to Pope Pius XI., strong protest against religious persecutions in Russia, Mexico, and Spain, and denunciation of communist propaganda.

POLL OF POLLS: FOR LANDON, 310; ROOSEVELT, 217

Cleveland, O., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Completion of their poll of all polls, an analysis of numerous straw polls throughout the country, shows that Gov. Alf. M. Landon will win the presidential contest with 310 electoral votes, the Cleveland News announced today. President Roosevelt received 217 electoral votes in the consensus and the 4 votes of Idaho were listed as undetermined.

On the basis of their computation, the newspaper gave 24 states to Gov. Landon and 23 to President Roosevelt, the latter carrying the solid south, Missouri, North Dakota, five mountain states, California, and Oregon. Maryland is his only eastern state.

The popular vote, in this analysis, shows Massachusetts for Landon by 429,000, despite a Democratic majority in Boston. New York gives its 47 electoral votes to the Republican leader by 171,000, despite a heavy Democratic majority in New York City.

Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, and Ohio are placed in the Landon column. Illinois shows the greatest majority for Landon of any state, 505,000. Of the western states Landon is given Wyoming, Colorado, and Washington. The entire New England block is also Republican.

Parade of 107 Warships Is Reviewed by Mikado

KOBE, Japan, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Emperor Hirohito reviewed 107 warships participating in naval maneuvers here today. Because of the maneuvers foreign vessels were prevented from landing at Kobe. Several were forced to proceed to Yokohama.

POLICEMAN KILLS HIMSELF WHILE ON HIS FURLOUGH

Policeman George Schultz, 37 years old, a squad operator attached to the central complaint room at the detective bureau, shot and killed himself yesterday with his service revolver in the kitchen of his home at 909 Willow street. He left a note to his mother, with whom he lived, saying, "Please tell all my friends to forget me."

His mother, Mrs. Frieda Schultz, and another son, William, found the body when they returned from a visit to a cemetery. The policeman had remained home, saying he did not feel well. Policeman Schultz went on a two week furlough Oct. 16. His mother could offer no reason for the suicide. Schultz had never married.

Body Found in Alley, Skull Crushed; Police Open Quiz

Hudson avenue police yesterday were investigating the death of Thomas Dawson, 40 years old, 2312 Seminary avenue, who was found earlier in the day with his skull crushed in an alley behind 2011 Lewis street.

POLITICAL EYES ON N. Y. IN FINAL CAMPAIGN DAYS

Landon and Roosevelt to Enter Arena There.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—New York state will be in the spotlight this last week of the presidential election campaign as both President Roosevelt and Gov. Alf M. Landon appear here in a final effort to capture the 47 electoral votes that may decide the contest.

Public excitement is running high as the day of battle draws near. The Republicans are charging Tammany and other Democratic organizations with the registration of tens of thousands of voters who either do not exist or are not qualified to vote.

John R. Crews, Republican leader in Brooklyn, has transmitted to Attorney General John J. Bennett Jr. evidence of wholesale fraud which he characterized as the biggest election scandal in New York history. Republican vigilantes are being organized to combat illegal voting at the polling places Nov. 3.

Electioneering Activities Resound.

The metropolis echoes with the sound of electioneering in numerous forms. All day yesterday Fifth avenue resounded with speeches for Landon projected through amplifiers from the headquarters of the Landon-Knox clubs at Forty-fifth street. The Republican gospel was disseminated also by sound trucks ranging the city.

Fifth avenue, greatest shopping street in the world, was bright with thousands of Landon sunflowers. Down at Union square, center of the activities of union labor and habitat of communists, Socialists, and other radicals, only Roosevelt buttons were to be seen.

The election canvass is drawing to a close without Mr. Roosevelt committing himself unequivocally to alter in any way the New Deal program which he has frequently indicated would be carried out by circumventing the Supreme court decisions in one way or another, if he should be retained in power.

Expenditures Still in Sight.

He has talked reassuringly of a balancing of the budget some time and of no increase in taxes, but at the same time he has indicated that he contemplates no material reduction of expenditures. He has made it clear that he contemplates a balancing of revenues and expenditures at a level between 7 and 8 billion dollars a year, compared with 4 billions before the depression.

This, of course, conforms to the New Deal theory that colossal government expenditures bring about a redistribution of wealth through the imposition of soak the rich taxes and to the New Deal philosophy enunciated by David Cushman Coyle in the dictum that "saving for a rainy day only makes it rain."

As for redistributing wealth, experience testifies that taxes are shifted from producers to consumers to a large extent, so that while wealth is taken from the rich directly it is taken from the poor indirectly in the increased cost of living.

Silent on NRA and AAA.

Likewise, though repeatedly challenged by Gov. Landon and admonished to answer by such supporters as the New York Times, Mr. Roosevelt has avoided stating up to date whether he purposes to revive the NRA, the AAA, the Guffey coal control and other New Deal institutions looking to a collective or regimented economy.

The closest he has come to it is to assert that "no one in the United States believes more firmly than I in the system of private business, private property, and private profit." This declaration has not impressed those who recall Mr. Roosevelt's aspersions on the Supreme court for destroying New Deal institutions it held violative of private property rights.

More and more the issue narrows down to fundamental differences between two schools of thought.

Millions of citizens who have lost faith in the individualism of the capitalist economy or who see in the New Deal labor legislation powerful government aid to employés to wrest better terms from employers or who are content with a guarantee of bare subsistence, whether in a job in government controled industry or on the dole, or who entertain visions of the redistribution of wealth will vote for Mr. Roosevelt, either welcoming the socialized state inherent in the objective of the New Deal or discounting the warnings of the loss of liberty and sacrifice of well being involved therein.

Because of the vague feeling that Mr. Roosevelt, notwithstanding the failure of his panaceas, is the champion and protector of the common man, millions of people will vote Democratic in the belief that they are to benefit from a soaking of the rich, either oblivious to or skeptical of Mr. Roosevelt's own words in his 1932 Pittsburgh speech that taxes visited upon the rich are borne by the common man in the end.

Those Against Socialistic Rule.

On the other hand, millions of citizens who cannot conceive happiness of the individual or enduring stability of the nation under a socialistic regime, with all property owned by the government and the people regimented in occupations by dictation of a central burocracy, will vote for Gov. Landon in order to halt what they have observed to be the trend of the New Deal in this direction, a trend which was checked for the time being by the decisions of the Supreme court invalidating the NRA, the AAA, the Guffey coal control and other measures of the Roosevelt revolution, a trend bound to be resumed if the President receives a mandate to carry forward his program for another four years.

Millions of citizens nurtured on traditional principles of thrift, self-reliance, aspirations for self-betterment, sanctity of property rights as well as human rights and the capitalist doctrin that the profit motive is the natural and ineluctable law of human progress and prosperity, who are shocked and alarmed by the stupendous and wasteful expenditures of the New Deal, who view with misgivings the persecution of successful private enterprise which has discouraged investment therein, who are filled with apprehensions by the persisting volume of unemployment accompanying the inculcation by the New Deal of the doctrin that the government owes every person a living—all these will vote to turn the New Deal out of power.

Millions who, looking beyond the immediate and temporary benefits accruing from purchasing power artificially enhanced by the outpouring of billions of dollars of public funds who, looking beyond, perceive the staggering taxes that must be levied to foot the bill for the New Deal, taxes that will be borne by every man, woman and child for generations either directly by income levies or indirectly by the already mounting levies concealed in the rising cost of living—these, there is impressive reason to believe, will storm the New Deal at the ballot box.

Millions made fearful of the safety of their savings by the continued government deficits, the inflation already produced by deficit financing and the danger of a runaway inflation, always inseparable from protracted spending beyond income and always destructive of individual savings—these millions will vote to turn the country from a course that within their own observation in the last twenty years led to such disaster and misery in European countries, that precipitated the extreme form of socialism called communism in Russia, with private ownership of property abolished, and the modified form of socialism called Fascism in Italy and Naziism in Germany, in which property remains in private hands, though controled by the state, that even now is threatening France with the destruction of democracy and is engulfing Spain in war.

Townsend Backs Gov. Landon in 5 More States, 14 in All

In a statement issued yesterday from his Chicago headquarters Dr. Francis E. Townsend urged members of his Old Age Revolving Pension organization to vote for Gov. Alf M. Landon in five more states where William Lemke, third party candidate for President, will not appear on the ballot.

Yesterday's announcement supplemented a statement two weeks ago in which the California physician threw all his strength behind Gov. Landon in nine other states where Representative Lemke's name will not be on the ballot.

One of the five new states, New York, is admittedly doubtful and Dr. Townsend's action was considered particularly significant because Townsendites in a number of congressional districts are believed to hold the balance of power. The other four new states are Arkansas, Vermont, Louisiana, and Mississippi, where an appreciable shift of votes might occur without affecting the expected outcome.

"Beat Roosevelt," Is Slogan.

Dr. Townsend urged his followers to support Lemke wherever possible, but stressed the need of defeating President Roosevelt.

"We cannot afford to take chances in the present chaotic political sea," he said. "Regardless of Mr. Roosevelt's other New Deal acts and expenditures I urge his defeat if for no other reason than the alleged social security act which his brain trust devised and apparently rushed through a docile house and senate as a publicity sop to the needs of the people.

"The social security act is wrong for three reasons: [1] It places a tax upon the wage earner and collects money which he earns but never sees. [2] Those eligible to receive the pension will find it not enough for a fair standard of living. [3] There is no definite allocation of funds.

Chance to Deplete Fund.

"This allows a hard pressed budget to partake of the money collected by the government for a so-called 'old age reserve account.' This crying infamy and fraud can only be checked by the defeat of Mr. Roosevelt."

In a radio speech yesterday Dr. Townsend said: "If I had not opposed President Roosevelt's 'social security program'—which in my opinion is a fraud and a deception—I never would have been condemned by the New Deal administration.

"Instead, I probably could have had a federal job with a big salary from the federal treasury. I know whereof I speak. The record shows obscure men, without any other than political ability, lifted to high position in Washington by President Roosevelt."

AL SMITH SEES JEFFERSONIANS FOR ALF LANDON

Says Anti-New Dealers to Register Protest.

New York, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Alfred E. Smith, Democratic candidate for President in 1928, returned home tonight from a 2,000 mile campaign trip through the middle west, expressing himself confident that Democrats who are dissatisfied with the New Deal will register an effective protest on election day.

He was cheered by the large audiences which turned out to hear him assail the Roosevelt administration both in Chicago and Pittsburgh where the auditoriums were filled to capacity.

In Pittsburgh last night, where he made his fourth speech against the New Deal since he entered the campaign four weeks ago, he struck at "government in business." He said the remedy for this was the election of Landon. As in his previous speeches in New York and Philadelphia, Smith asserted that it was the New Deal leaders and not he that had "taken a walk" from the Democratic party.

For "Sane" Administration.

In his Chicago speech Thursday night he told his audience he was "satisfied that millions and millions of Jeffersonian Democrats" would cast their votes in such a manner as "will give a sane, orderly, sensible and comprehensive administration under Gov. Landon of Kansas."

He devoted his Chicago speech largely to an attack on what he called centralization of powers in Washington and New Deal spending, declaring that the Roosevelt administration has put the government in "the poorhouse."

Hints at Albany Speech.

In Chicago he intimated he might have something to say in his Albany speech about whether he would vote for Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, who started in politics at his suggestion, or William F. Bleakley, the Republican candidate for governor.

Asked by newspaper men what he intended to do in the gubernatorial campaign, he said: "I won't discuss that here. I'll talk about that in New York."

Smith is scheduled to meet Landon for the first time Wednesday night, when the Kansas governor arrives in New York for his Madison Square Garden speech.

HE VOTED IN 1864 FOR LINCOLN; NOW HE IS LANDON BOOSTER

Nathan J. Landauer, 97 years old, who cast his first presidential vote for Abraham Lincoln in 1864, is going to vote for Gov. Alf M. Landon next week because, in his opinion, Landon's policies are like Lincoln's.

Mr. Landauer lives with his daughter, Mrs. Charles Kohn, at 7130 Jeffery avenue.

"The first time I voted for a President was for Lincoln in 1864," said Mr. Landauer yesterday, "and I have voted for every Republican presidential candidate since then."

Mr. Landauer was born in Germany, and came to the United States in 1855. He operated a men's furnishings business in Indianapolis for many years before moving to Chicago.

ABSENTEE VOTE IN STATE RISES, SETTING MARKS

Bloomington, Ill., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—With every county downstate reaching new records in number of absentee ballots as well as total registrations, Republicans are more enthusiastic every day about the chances of winning Illinois for Landon and Brooks.

According to Clerk C. B. Carlock of McLean county, 209 absentee ballots have been mailed. The highest previous number was ninety-eight.

Absentee voting applications are soaring to a new high in Livingston county. Three hundred sixty-five have applied, breaking the previous high of 322.

One hundred sixty absentee ballots have been returned to County Clerk Claud C. Tull of Logan county.

ROOSEVELT'S SON REPEATS KANSAS SCHOOL CHARGES

He Quotes State Official as Authority.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 25.—(AP)—James Roosevelt, son of the President, said tonight the state of Kansas, of which Alf M. Landon, Republican candidate for President, is governor, "has allowed a system to exist which appears to deny the opportunity for real education to . . . many children."

Roosevelt, previous to a radio appearance in which he made his charge, said he would "absolutely prove" previous utterances regarding the Kansas school system.

Landon, on Friday, said a member of the President's "immediate family," had made "utterly untrue" and "malicious" charges against his state's school system.

Roosevelt quoted as authority for his assertions W. T. Markham, state superintendent for public instruction for the state of Kansas.

Claims 444 Closed.

He said Markham, in a letter to United States Senator George McGill [Dem., Kas.] last Feb. 27, declared: "There were 444 school districts in Kansas that made provisions for sending their pupils to other districts and did not open school at all."

"Legislation in Kansas," he quoted Markham further as telling McGill "has not been favorable to a school program for a number of years. . . . However, it seems almost impossible to interest those in authority in the needs of educational opportunity for boys and girls."

Asserts Teachers Unpaid.

On May 10, 1935, Roosevelt asserted, Markham said in a radio address: "It is a lamentable fact that 458 schools had to be closed the past year, many teachers going without pay. There were 8,557 boys and girls who did not have the privilege of completing a full year. . . ."

Last Tuesday, Roosevelt added, Markham made a public statement saying, ". . . There are 51 rural schools in operation today with no funds whatever at their disposal."

"May I emphasize," Roosevelt declared, "that while it may be true that Kansas stands high in the matter of literacy, a matter for which they should be justly proud, there is a vast difference between the boy and girl who is educated and the boy and girl who escapes illiteracy simply by being able to read and write."

Iowa Citizen, 99, to Cast His First Republican Vote

Ottumwa, Ia., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Dr. J. E. Wilkinson, oldest Ottumwa citizen, who will be 100 years old next June 6, will cast his first Republican vote Nov. 3. He has been a lifelong Democrat and frequent delegate from Iowa to national Democratic conventions. In indorsing Landon Dr. Wilkinson said better business practices and economy must be brought back to government.

COLORED VOTERS HEAR LEWIS AND MAYOR KELLY

Public Jobs Held by Race a Leading Topic.

United States Senator James Hamilton Lewis and Mayor Kelly were the principal speakers at a colored voters' meeting in the Eighth Regiment armory at 35th street and Giles avenue yesterday afternoon.

The armory was well filled. The audience applauded with a will the name of President Roosevelt. Congressman Arthur W. Mitchell, first colored Democrat to sit in congress, told the members of his race that when they voted for "that great humanitarian in 1932 you did the finest job you ever did in your lives."

Jobs a Matter of Concern.

The question of how many colored citizens have been given jobs in government bureaus, in the various county and state offices, was one on which most speakers dwelt. Albert J. Horan, bailif of the Municipal court, was acclaimed when he said he had many of "your group" employed in his office.

Mayor Kelly dwelt mainly on the topic of Roosevelt's campaign.

"When you are about to hire a man at $75,000 a year don't you think you should inquire into the experience and qualifications of the man you select?" asked Mayor Kelly. "What experience and qualifications has Gov. Landon that would even qualify him to be the vice president of any big industrial institution?

"Would you say that because he has dug a few oil wells and balanced a budget in a state that is one-third the size of the city of Chicago that he is qualified to be President? We balanced our budget in Chicago with no trouble."

Lewis and Mitchell Agree.

Senator Lewis observed he had been pleased to coöperate with Congressman Mitchell in legislative and patronage matters. He said he was complimented by the fact that Mitchell always brought him the measures he introduced in the house and Lewis presented them to the senate.

"I am pleased to remember that you gave me your presence in a meeting in this neighborhood in 1930," the senator reminded his audience. "I recall the promises and pledges I made to you then, and I am happy to say they were fulfilled."

250 LABOR MEN INDORSE LANDON FOR PRESIDENCY

Topeka, Kas., Oct. 25.—(AP)—P. W. Burgess, Kansas City, Kas., tonight announced that about 250 members of 24 organized labor crafts in Kansas, at a meeting here today, indorsed Gov. Alf Landon for the presidency.

Burgess, chairman of the resolutions committee at the meeting, said resolutions were adopted criticizing certain national labor leaders for attempting "to deliver organized labor to the Democratic party," and deploring "unjustified" attacks on the labor record of the Republican presidential nominee.

The resolutions, he explained, expressed the attitude of approximately 250 representatives at the meeting, but were not to be taken as official expressions of the various crafts. Burgess himself is a union bricklayer.

The two men arrived in Chicago last night after inspecting hospitals in Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, and Pittsburgh. They will remain here until noon Tuesday, visiting the County, Presbyterian, Billings, St. Luke's, St. Joseph's, and St. Anne's hospitals.

They seek new ideas for a hospital which is being built under their direction in London, exclusively for the care of fractures incurred by seamen.

Doors Open at 7 p. m.

Tickets of admission are not necessary for the rally and seats will not be reserved. The doors of the Auditorium theater will be opened at 7 o'clock and the program is scheduled to begin at 8.

It will be a notable mobilization of the Volunteers. There will be an outpouring of music little short of the great Chicagoland Music festival. Choruses and soloists and instrumentalists will make the seasoned beams of that old auditorium ring.

The rally is the opening gun of Volunteer week.

In these last remaining days there can be no leisure. Keep in touch with your district headquarters. If you can't think of anything else to do call your headquarters and get an assignment. There will be meetings all over the city; perhaps you can lend a hand in one of them. There will be big events. Don't miss them. There can be an endless lot of small events if you help create them.

A Call to Voters!

Be ready for tomorrow night. Please don't have any other engagements. Drop everything. Make the Volunteers your special order of business for the week.

All choral directors and the members of their singing groups participating in the "Pageant of Song for Landon and Knox" in tomorrow night's rally are asked to be back stage in the Auditorium theater at 7:30 o'clock. Directors for the event are Frank Bennett, Cathryn Bennett, Edward Freeman, Carl Craven, Arthur J. Bond, Rai Sturges, George Calder, Philip Burnaugh, R. G. Bergstrom, George Carlson, Emerson Abernethy, and Curtis Jackson. Soloists of the evening will be Mrs. Henry H. Windsor, formerly Louise Hunter, and John Burdette.

Women to Meet at Tea.

Another opening event of Volunteer week will be the tea that the Cook county women's division of the Republican party is to have from 2 to 4 p. m. tomorrow in the La Salle hotel. State, county, and city Republican candidates will be special guests, according to Mrs. Charles Kurtchoff, chairman of the women's unit. Mrs. Melville Mucklestone, immediate past president of the American Legion auxiliary, will be principal speaker. Entertainment will be provided by Elwood Graham and Mrs. Mona K. Jonas, a Volunteer musician.

Down in Sesser, in Franklin county, J. P. Isom, 90 years old, has enrolled as a Volunteer for the duration of the campaign. Mr. Isom is a civil war veteran and is known as "the grand old man" of Sesser.

A Volunteer week house to house canvass in DeWitt county was organized Saturday at an organization meeting in Decatur.

AMERICAN SHIPPER, LINER, DRIFTING OFF IRELAND; SENDS S O S

LONDON, Oct. 26.—[Monday.]—(AP)—The Exchange Telegraph company [British News agency] early this morning stated the United States' Lines vessel, American Shipper, 7,430 tons, was drifting helplessly in heavy seas off the Wicklow coast of Ireland, and had sent out an S O S. Two tugs from Dublin immediately went to the aid of the American vessel. Wicklow is on the east coast of the Irish Free State.

HEADED FOR NEW YORK.

The American Shipper is a passenger liner commanded by Robert J. Sullivan. Built at Hog Island, Pa., in 1921, the ship is 436 feet long. It was last reported in the register of shipping as sailing from Liverpool Friday, Oct. 23, bound for New York.

In 1928 the American Shipper was one of the ships going to the aid of the steamer Vestris which sank off the Virginia coast with a heavy loss of life.

BANQUET NOTES SINAI TEMPLE'S 75TH BIRTHDAY

At a banquet last night in the Palmer house, more than 1,300 members of the congregation of Sinai temple, 4600 South Park way, celebrated the congregation's 75th anniversary.

James G. McDonald of New York, former league of nations commissioner for refugees, a principal speaker, declared that Hitler's attack on German Jews was only the spearhead of the Nazi attack on all minority opinion.

"The Catholic church in Germany," said Mr. McDonald, "is threatened because the Nazis wish to break its hold on Catholic youth and because the church is an international organization and as such threatens the national loyalty demanded by Hitler."

Sinai congregation was founded by Rabbi Bernhard Felsenthal in April, 1861. Dr. Louis L. Mann, who has served as leader of the congregation since 1923, presided at last night's banquet.

$1,000,000 SLUSH FUND FOR USE OF HORNER CHARGED

G. O. P. Slams Shakedown of State Pay Rollers.

The Republican state central committee charged yesterday that Gov. Horner has amassed a slush fund of more than $1,000,000 by a shameless shakedown of the greatest army of pay rollers in the history of Illinois.

Perry B. McCullough, chairman of the committee, described what he termed the ruthless methods used by the Horner administration to raise the "largest campaign fund" in the state's political history.

The Iroquois Illinois league, sponsored by the governor and organized for the sole purpose of raising his campaign funds, bore the brunt of the Republican attack, which also criticized other money raising activities of the administration. State employés, from the lowest paid stenographers, are assessed sums ranging higher than 3 per cent of their salaries, the committee stated. With county, congressional, and federal New Deal income tapping, the committee said, the individual assessment often runs as high as 9 per cent of the employé's pay.

"Vicious System" Assailed.

"This Horner New Deal slush and whoope jackpot is unique in Illinois political history," said McCullough. "The governor and his right hand men at Springfield are personally responsible for this vicious system of assessing all civil service men and women, as well as other state job holders.

"We believe that, in the public interest, the governor should make public all amounts of political contributions, and their sources, which the governor's collection agencies have received during the last two years.

"We believe that in the light of his statement made to the people of the state of Illinois, just four years ago, that he is bound in all political decency to acquaint the taxpayers with the facts. Last night the governor in a speech said he had never broken an election pledge or promise.

1932 Statement Quoted.

"We remind him of the following words he spoke in 1932:

"'I believe that the collection of political assessments from state employés amounts to the misuse of state funds. The money which is collected from salaries of employés comes really from the taxpayers of the state who pay salaries.'"

McCullough's statement listed the officers and directors of the Iroquois Illinois league, all of whom are actively identified with the state administration. F. Lynden Smith, the governor's campaign manager, who is chairman of the league, has a $6,000 a year job as highway department business manager, specially created for him by Gov. Horner.

District collectors for the league are furnished with a salary schedule to know how much to demand from each employé, McCullough said. Divided into twelve salary brackets the assessments range from $2 a month on a salary of $100 to $124, up to $15 for all over $500.

Cite "Voluntary" Donations.

The governor's appointees, continued McCullough, are getting thousands of dollars in "voluntary" contributions from contractors who have done approximately $40,000,000 worth of construction work for the state; and from scores of others who have business with the state.

Denied access to the governor's pay roll, McCullough said, the Republicans had ascertained that assessments made by the league enabled them to provide liberally for political expense accounts. In this connection the league supplied a check for $2,130 to the Fairfax hotel in Philadelphia for the Horner lieutenants at the Democratic convention; and a $1,400 check to the St. Nicholas hotel, Springfield, early last year when Gov. Horner was entertaining liberally in his primary campaign against Dr. H. N. Bundesen.

STATE EMPLOYES UNDER PRESSURE TO SOLICIT VOTES

Pleas in Mail Ask Help to Keep Their Jobs.

Pressure letters were reported yesterday to be flooding the mails with appeals to state employés to their friends and relatives to vote for the reëlection of Gov. Horner. Employés of state institutions say they are forced to write at least five such letters, which are then mailed by executives of the institutions.

A mimeographed copy of a notice sent by Chief Clerk Lawrence E. Irwin of the Illinois Soldiers' and Sailors' Children's school at Normal was exhibited as a sample of the system used by the Horner administration.

Here Is How It's Done.

"Inasmuch as the results of the general election Nov. 3 will bear directly upon your own situation, it is important that you consider yourself as a candidate for reëlection for the job you now hold.

"Although your name will not appear on the ballot, the name of Gov. Horner, your sponsor, will. I feel sure, therefore, that you will be glad to write letters to at least five of your good friends who are registered as Republicans and ask, as a personal favor of each one of them, that they vote for Gov. Horner and thus help to secure your position.

"Please give me your name and the five or more stamped, addressed, and sealed letters to your friends and I will mail them for you promptly."

Prison Aids Feel Pressure.

The same demand was made of all employés of the prisons at Stateville and Joliet. One of the prison employés adds that besides paying $24 into the Horner campaign fund the prison guards have been notified they must pay $5 for five subscriptions of Truth—a campaign paper—to be sent out a campaign propaganda.

The guards were advised to have the pressure letters in the warden's office not later than Oct. 21, and the letters were to be left unsealed so the warden might censor them.

WELL, IF IT ISN'T DANNY STANTON! HE MISSES GAME

Sergt. Roy Van Herrick of the detective bureau recognized a familiar face in the line of customers for the football game at Wrigley field yesterday. It was Danny Stanton, erstwhile south side beer runner, who told Van Herrick he was working for a handbook. He gave his address as 4319 South Green street which is a pig pen in the heart of the stock yards. Stanton was locked up for the night at the detective bureau.

Two Rescued as Gasoline on Yacht Catches Fire

As the engineer and mate worked on the motor of the yacht Theo yesterday in the harbor 300 feet off 8th street, backfire ignited gasoline in the bilge and did damage estimated at $500 to $2,000. A coast guard boat carried out firemen, who extinguished the blaze with chemicals. The craft belongs to William Erickson, chief engineer of the Tilden High school.

WIFE PLUNGES TO DEATH.

Mrs. Elizabeth Sorenson, 67 years old, colored, plunged to her death yesterday from the window of her second floor flat at 24 West 51st street following a quarrel with her husband, Henry.

REP. F. W. M'CLURE, DEMOCRAT, ON AIR FOR BROOKS

Charges Horner Would Trade Off Own Party.

Charges that Gov. Horner is conducting a selfish campaign for reëlection and will "trade off" the whole Democratic party to save himself were made last evening by Frank W. McClure, downstate Democratic leader in the legislature. Mr. McClure, who is a state representative from Abingdon, in the 43d senatorial district, spoke over radio station WBBM, indorsing Wayland Brooks, Republican nominee for governor.

The address was sponsored by the Independent Democratic league of Knox county. McClure declared that throughout Knox county Horner literature is being distributed almost house to house, "but there is a total absence of advertising or literature of any other Democratic candidate."

Horner Pictures Exclusively.

"On Saturday I drove through Abingdon," McClure said. "On nearly every pole or place of vantage was a picture of Horner, and I could not find one single picture tacked up of President Roosevelt or any other of the state Democratic candidates. I drove through Galesburg and Knox county and I found hundreds, yes, thousands of pictures of Horner, but only occasionally a picture of our candidate for President.

"Great billboard pictures of Horner by the hundred and only a handful about postcard size of Roosevelt.

"And that's Horner's triple double-cross. In April he double-crossed the Chicago organization. In September he double-crossed his downstate friends, and in November he triple-crossed them all and is trying to slide through alone.

Sectionalism Stirred Up.

"And it is because of these things, because Horner has failed the Democratic party and the people of Illinois, has shown himself selfish enough to build up strife within its ranks, has been willing even to divide the state and promote sectionalism, that I consider his defeat essential to the good of the Democratic party and the people of this state.

"Give Horner four more years to pile on tax after tax, to add pay roll layer after pay roll layer, and the Democratic party, as we veterans know it, will be destroyed.

"It is for these reasons that I, a lifelong Democrat, and thousands of other Democrats downstate have indorsed the candidacy of Brooks and are suggesting him to all Democrats in Illinois.

Brooks Eminently Qualified.

"Brooks is a man qualified to be governor; he is possessed of those progressive ideals that we Democrats indorse. He is a man who, when he says he will be governor of the whole state, not one section or one part, not one class or one creed, will make that statement as a covenant with the people, not as a mere vote catching phrase.

"Brooks is a man who will not need a sham battle, will not need to malign his friends, will not need to build up straw men, will not need to be a lion in April and a lamb in November to be renominated and reëlected at the end of his first successful four years."

BROOKS ASSAILS HORNER FOR TAX BURDEN ON POOR

Attack Waged at Three Lake County Rallies.

Wayland Brooks, Republican nominee for governor, declared yesterday in three addresses in Lake county that Gov. Horner, his Democratic opponent, has preached a theory of "soaking the rich" but has actually been trying to down the poor by means of the sales tax. Brooks has pledged himself to remove this tax from food and necessities when he is elected.

The Republican candidate spoke at the American Legion hall in Waukegan, the Mother of God school auditorium in North Chicago, and the Highland Park High school. Large crowds heard his speeches and applauded his attacks on Horner and the national administration.

Tax Burden Attacked.

"Horner has placed unprecedented burdens of taxes on the people," Brooks said. "He has made the old age pension law a pauper law. He has taken away old people's self-respect when they apply for the pensions."

Discussing the national government, Brooks declared that many of the "new faces" of the New Deal are not known to the people, yet these new faces seek centralized powers. Divided powers of government are the heritage of the American people and should not be disturbed, he said.

Brooks in a radio speech last evening charged that Horner has allowed politics to enter into the state's conservation policy. He said the conservation department has been used primarily for the purpose of revenue from hunting and fishing license fees, not for the preservation of game and fish.

Criticism of Department.

"Revenue for the sake of revenue has no place in a policy of conservation except as a necessary incident to protection," Brooks said. "The state has made little progress in this fundamental purpose during the Horner administration. I believe there should be an intensive study of the feasibility of administering the affairs of the department of conservation through a commission made up of true sportsmen, lovers of the great outdoors.

"All fees received by the state for hunting or fishing licenses or any other license of a similar character should be earmarked to this department and used exclusively in carrying out a broad and comprehensive plan of conservation. I propose to take the department entirely out of politics and establish it upon a business and service basis.

"During the last four years the greater part of the license fees collected from sportsmen has been used in paying deputies commonly known as rabbit herders, but who are, in fact, principally engaged in politics."

Glenn Hits New Deal.

Otis F. Glenn, Republican candidate for United States senator, also spoke at the Lake county meetings on the theme of divided powers.

"During the last three and a half years," he said, "we have seen the legislative branch of the government abdicate its powers and become entirely subservient to the executive branch. Now, if the powers of the Supreme court should be curbed or become inoperative through New Deal selection of prejudiced judges, then we would have a real dictatorship.

"Now pending before the court are eleven cases involving the constitutionality of remaining New Deal acts. Out of the eleven already reviewed by the court only two were found constitutional. With this record in mind, and all sorts of other radical legislation planned, it is no secret that the New Dealers are anxious and willing to change the complexion and attitude of the court."

Hadley Raps Communism.

Charles W. Hadley, G. O. P. candidate for state attorney general, said yesterday that President Roosevelt keeps in attendance men whose opinions meet with his approval and many of these men are known to have communist tendencies.

"This election," Hadley declared, "is to tell whether we are to give the communists in this country a chance or whether we are to drive out their brutal and alien ideas of government by electing the Republican ticket."

TUGWELL LENDS $661 OF TAXPAYERS' MONEY ON ONE SPOTTED COW

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—The Resettlement administration, headed by Rexford G. Tugwell, lent $661 on one spotted cow and $821.30 on two black mares and three pigs, the Republican national committee asserted in a statement issued today. The loans were cited as a waste of "taxpayers' funds" to win votes for the New Deal.

"On Sept. 21, 1936, a chattel mortgage was filed in the office of the recorder of deeds at Kingston, Caldwell county, Mo.," the statement said. "This record shows that Willard D. Cashatt and Mattie Cashatt of Lathrop received $661 from Mr. Tugwell's organization, and the only security for this large loan was one 4 year old Guernsey cow, yellow and white spotted, weight 1,000 pounds.

"Another chattel mortgage filed in the recorder of deeds' office on June 18, 1936, by Glenn R. Looney and Katherine Looney of Breckinridge, Caldwell county, shows that $821.30 was loaned to the mortgagor by Resettlement, the security being one black mare, 11 years old, weight 1,350 pounds; one black mare, 10 years old, weight 1,350 pounds; one red sow, weight 175 pounds; one spotted Poland sow, weight 150 pounds, and one spotted Poland sow, weight 175 pounds."

ASKS UNION VOTE FOR GLENN AS A FRIEND OF LABOR

Dwight H. Green Backs G. O. P. Candidate.

Citing Otis F. Glenn's record of helpfulness to organized labor in the United States senate, his friend, Dwight H. Green, former United States district attorney, in a radio address yesterday urged union members to return him to that body.

"During his term in the United States senate," declared Green, "Mr. Glenn proved to be a friend of labor; a friend of the small business man; a friend of the veterans of all wars; a friend of the farmer; and a friend of every one who sought to do constructive work.

Foreign Policies Cited.

"He has stood against America's interference in the affairs of foreign peoples, against our entry into the league of nations and against the world court.

"He supported sound and progressive measures in the interest of labor, and supported measures for adequate national defense and for just treatment of the veterans of all our wars."

Green especially stressed the fight of the Republican senatorial nominee for economy in government, declaring that "in the senate he early saw the pressing necessity for drastic reduction in the cost of government—local, state and national—and was a vigorous leader in the fight to relieve the burden of taxes crushing the people of this country."

Recalls Support of Hughes.

Green also paid high tribute to Glenn's courage for leading the fight for approval of the nomination of Charles Evans Hughes to the Supreme court. It was this fight, Green recalled, that won for Glenn the following tribute from Senator Arthur Vandenburg of Michigan:

"One of the greatest speeches in my senate time was Senator Glenn's masterful and invincible defense of the nomination of the great Chief Justice Hughes. I should like to hear that voice again in the upper halls of congress."

TWO DEMOCRATS SAY: 'I WON AUTO INSURANCE CUTS'

Courtney Takes Credit for Luck, Avers Ditchburne.

One of State's Attorney Courtney's major claims in his reëlection campaign—that his office is responsible for decreases in automobile theft insurance rates by reducing the number of these thefts in the county—was contradicted yesterday in a statement issued by Edward J. Hughes, secretary of state, who is also a candidate for reëlection. Both Courtney and Hughes are Democrats.

In his statement Hughes asserts his office has been responsible for reduction of the insurance rates through effective administration of the certificate of title law. This law, which requires a car owner to prove legal ownership before he is given title, went into effect Jan. 1, 1934.

"Capitalizing Happenstance."

Commenting on Hughes' statement, Harry S. Ditchburne, Courtney's Republican opponent for state's attorney, declared that the conflicting claim "materially reduces the chances for the state's attorney to capitalize something that was but a happenstance in his administration."

"The secretary of state's figures," said Ditchburne, "show insurance rates are cut in all counties, including Cook, but the state's attorney cannot claim jurisdiction in the 101 other counties in Illinois where better rates have been obtained."

Other Areas Benefit More.

Hughes' figures show that for one make of car the theft insurance rate in Chicago is $1.65 per $100 of valuation, while in the adjoining Du Page and Lake counties the rate is only 40 cents. For another make of car the Chicago rate is 85 cents, while again the two adjoining counties have a 20 cent rate.

Ditchburne pointed out that car owners in Chicago and Cook county pay higher theft insurance rates than car owners in any other part of the state.

Mr. Ditchburne will speak tonight from 8 to 8:15 o'clock over radio station WCFL.

LANDON TO STOP IN N. Y. AT HOTEL M'KINLEY USED

New York, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The presidential suite in the sprawling red-brick Murray Hill hotel, in the shadow of Grand Central terminal, will be Gov. Alf M. Landon's headquarters during his New York stay next Wednesday and Thursday.

He will occupy the parlor, bedroom and bath on the second floor, which Grover Cleveland and William McKinley reserved when they were Presidents.

John Hipple, who has been clerk at the hotel for 48 years, will hand him the keys just as he used to hand them to Cleveland and McKinley.

An automobile escort will speed the Republican candidate and his party to the hotel from the Pennsylvania station.

A brief reception, dinner with Miss Marion Cahill, the nurse who cared for his infant daughter, Peggy Anne, and a conference with Alfred E. Smith and Republican leaders will fill his first day here.

Thursday morning he is to visit Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt Sr. at her home in Oyster Bay; return to Brooklyn for a luncheon meeting, and then rest for the rally Thursday night in Madison Square Garden.

TUGWELL FOUND MUZZLED IN NEW DEAL 'DOG HOUSE'

Secretly Hidden Away Until After Election.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—The mysterious disappearance of Prof. Rexford Guy Tugwell, the revolutionary brain truster No. 1 of the New Deal, is a topic more widely discussed in Washington today than the probable outcome of the election or the odds on the wedding of the king of England.

Dr. Tugwell had not been seen or heard from for so long a period that he was all but forgotten until this morning when a brief dispatch from New York stating that Mrs. Tugwell and their two daughters had taken a house on the Hudson revived the mystery of his whereabouts. Inquiries disclosed that the lease on his Washington house, at 1731 Hoban road, expired last June 1, but that was the only information his office associates could supply.

"Somewhere in West.

W. W. Alexander, assistant administrator of Dr. Tugwell's Resettlement administration, said he believed his chief was "somewhere in the west on an inspection tour," but he wasn't sure about it. He had no idea when Tugwell would return. The professor remained in the west for a time after President Roosevelt's so-called "nonpolitical" drouth inspection tour late in August, but returned to Washington for a few days about a month ago. Since then nothing has been heard from him.

The Republican national committee today took up the search for Dr. Tugwell's campaign hiding place. The committee suggested that he was the victim of an "involuntary incarceration in the New Deal dog house, equipped with a muzzle and leash."

Silenced for Campaign.

President Roosevelt has been insisting during this campaign that he is not a communist, and does not want the support of communists. The Republicans have been insisting that Mr. Roosevelt repudiate Mr. Tugwell as an evidence of his sincerity in saying he wants no part of communism. This Mr. Roosevelt has not done, although there can be no denial of the fact that Mr. Tugwell has been effectively silenced for the campaign.

Up until last summer Dr. Tugwell practically was ubiquitous. He would deliver a speech in New England one day and the next day he would be heard from on the west coast, or the sands of Florida's beaches. All his speeches were released by the propaganda stafs of his three Washington offices, one in the department of agriculture, where he is undersecretary; two in the resettlement administration, where he is administrator.

Philosophy Brings Exile.

The celebrated speech delivered by Dr. Tugwell at Los Angeles on Oct. 28, 1935, may be taken as a possible reason for his exile during the campaign.

"We have no reason to expect," said Dr. Tugwell, "that the disestablishment of our plutocracy will be pleasant."

In his book, "The Industrial Discipline," Dr. Tugwell depicted the new state that is to evolve under the New Deal, as he sees it.

"This first of a series of changes," he says, "will require the laying of rough, unholy hands on many a sacred precedent . . . business logically will be required to disappear . . . this is not an overstatement for emphasis; it is literally meant."

NAZIS LIST 'ARYAN' LAWYERS ABROAD; ASK A BOYCOTT OF JEWS

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, Oct. 25.—Efforts of Adolf Hitler's Nazi régime to enforce its discriminatory laws against Jews in foreign countries as well has spread from commercial pursuits to the legal profession.

The Juridical Weekly, organ of the Nazi Law association, announces that the foreign department of that organization has established a world register of "Aryan" lawyers abroad who for reasons of "descent, political reliability, and professional and linguistic qualifications are alone fitted to represent German interests abroad."

It warns all Germans against employing Jewish lawyers in other countries. The drive to bar Jews as representatives of German firms abroad has been proceeding for some time.

PUBLIC EDUCATION

No. 1

By CALEB

NO modern people has progressed far in the difficult art of government until it has assured its citizens freedom of person. That means the elimination of slavery, serfdom, and other forms of involuntary servitude.

The next great assurance its citizens must have is security—of person and property.

In our own republican country we have pronounced and established the principle of freedom—of liberty. We have made the lives of citizens reasonably secure. We have likewise secured their property, which is endangered, for the most part, only by that agency intended to make it secure—the government.

Yet, we suffer from severe economic cramps and social arthritis. It is evident that with those two mile-stones of liberty and security behind it, a representative democracy has still before it some additional mile-stones on the road to a minimum of social and economic pain and distress.

By the time a people has advanced enough to attain liberty and security, its society is complex. Violent advances of science and power bring about acute economic, industrial, and social problems. The ultimate great need of a modern society is therefore co-ordination. Co-ordination is impossible without understanding — which requires an enlightened public.

Most major advances come out of the people and their needs because and when the people are ready for them. The more advanced the people, the more they will require and accept co-ordination in the interests of all.

Between the day liberty and security are an accomplished end and the day social co-ordination can effectively treat the body politic for its ills of maladjustment, there must come an era of education.

The stage is being set for that era in our own country. The progress which will be made in public education in the next fifty years will be remarkable. In retrospect, fifty years from now, wise men will see there was order in our apparently chaotic society. It will be evident that under the buffeting and angry waves of each generation's social dissensions and economic distresses, the slow, sure current of evolution works toward human well-being.

Grippe

Now when the germs of Grippe abound, physicians advise keeping the bowels open. Constipation poisons the blood, lowering your resistance to the germs of infectious diseases.

Constipation is dangerous for anybody. Nujol is safe for everybody. It does not affect the stomach and is not absorbed by the body. Medical authorities approve Nujol because it is so safe, so gentle and so natural in its action.

Nujol makes up for a deficiency of natural lubricant in the intestines. It softens the waste matter and thus permits thorough and regular bowel movements without griping.

Just try Nujol regularly for the next month and see if you don't feel better than you ever suspected you could.

Ask your druggist for Nujol and insist on the genuine.

Dictaphone Reveals Talk to Make $2,500 'Sale.'

that they [apparently the business men] are with them in spirit—purchase books. They can buy merchandise. It's a contribution to the—it's a contribution to the campaign, but it isn't the type open to senatorial investigation.

JONES—Gee, I don't want any senatorial investigation.

O'DONNELL—Not anything of the sort. A contribution, as such, to the campaign—they have to make a list—but with the books they just report so many books sold.

JONES—Right smart of them.

O'DONNELL—Because we're selling them all over the country and we have men that don't want any publicity, and that is the method in which we—that's the only reason for this thing being in existence. Any one has got it [the book] if they advertised. The advertisments went in this thing for $2,500 apiece.

Discuss Election Prospects.

The transcript then quotes the men as discussing Roosevelt's reëlection prospects and O'Donnell's identification of himself as a representative of the national committee. It continues:

JONES—How many people have you got that don't want publicity—what kind of a deal is made?

O'DONNELL—Plenty, if you ask me.

JONES—Plenty Not in as bad a situation as I'm in, have you?

O'DONNELL—Yes. Well, there's something like fifty sheets. There's about twenty on a sheet—probably 1,000 so far.

Want Something; Buy Books.

JONES—Contributors who want a little——

O'DONNELL—They buy merchandise. They say: "All right, we like the book. It's a very fine book. The book contains a history of the last four years, and we think it's a very nice thing."

JONES—A nice book.

O'DONNELL—"Yes, it's a nice book and we feel that you should distribute those among the worthy Democrats in spots where it'll do the most good. I'll underwrite so many copies of the book." They write their own check. They're making it in the form of a contribution, but actually they're buying merchandise. They get a receipt. I give you a receipt.

JONES—Uh, you say there's no senatorial investigation, is there?

O'DONNELL—O, no; but the only thing is, these records are kept very confidential. They have to be, because we have been instructed, I mean. There's no one but Mr. Farley and W. Forbes Morgan that know anything about this.

Renews Assurances of Secrecy.

O'Donnell then repeated assurances that the names are kept confidential and told Jones his check should be drawn to the treasurer of the Democratic national committee. O'Donnell interrupted Jones at one point to confirm the oil man's statement that "that's a means of getting money without having it made subject to a congressional investigation." At this stage, Jones, according to the transcript, came to the point concerning his indictment.

JONES—Don't you know what they've done to me, this administration?

O'DONNELL—Yes, well, I—well, you're in a spot. I mean, it's not too bad, it's one of those——

JONES—Well, I'm certainly in a spot. You've got me right there—

O'DONNELL—Yeah, well I—

JONES—Will it do me any good?

O'DONNELL—I think it will do you a lot of good.

JONES—How?

O'DONNELL—I think it will do you a lot of good. I think, as you know, they need money. You can't elect Presidents with confetti.

JONES—I know that.

O'DONNELL—And this crowd here is money-minded. There's no question about it, and anybody that steps to the front the way—the only language they know, see, is 'money.'

JONES—All right.

O'DONNELL—You're a white haired boy.

Wants Farley's Word.

A moment later, in the recorded conversation, Jones said he didn't wish "to be horsed about" but was willing to talk business if he knew "what you are going to do for me."

JONES—Can you tell me, just as conversation, what you can do for me and then I'll have more confidence in the situation. How can you get to me some evidence that this, this hint here that you hand out to me, will crystallize into something material to my advantage? I've got—I need help here. How can you do that? You indicate you can do it.

O'DONNELL—Well, it's impossible just to say you can do certain things. You know that. It's a very difficult thing, but you are doing business with the committee. The committee is the administration.

JONES—Well, Mr. Farley is head of the committee. Will Mr. Farley—can he give me some assurance?

O'DONNELL—He wouldn't dare.

JONES—Why wouldn't he?

"They've Got the Jitters."

O'DONNELL—And especially at this particular time. They've got the jitters. Now I'm telling you frankly.

JONES—They shouldn't have the jitters over my case.

O'DONNELL—You realize what they've been up against. The James Roosevelts—the son Roosevelt coming out—the Smiths and the Elys and the Davises, so on, Colby, Newton Baker, all of these old line Democrats, the American Labor party, who say "The hell with the Democrats. We're for Roosevelt, sure, but we're financing, we're giving our money to the American Labor party." They've got to have New York state—they realize that. There's 47 votes will probably carry this section. All this hooey, one way or another, that's boloney. It's gonna be very close, and they're trying to get New York state. We have to check and double check even the people connected with the committee to be sure that some one can't say: "You've got a thug there, you've got a gangster or something."

Jones Traces Trouble.

Jones then told of his troubles with the government, beginning when he asked President Roosevelt to remove Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes as oil administrator. O'Donnell told him "the best way to work it is to step right around to headquarters the day after election and say, 'Now, boys, what are you gonna do for me?'"

O'Donnell said, according to the transcript, that this procedure of getting money was "figured out by Forbes Morgan."

O'DONNELL—He was secretary of the committee when he figured that out, and he was appointed treasurer at the convention.

O'Donnell then was quoted as telling disconnectedly of an instance in which "somebody who got a hell of a lot of bills" due from the government was helped out through a contribution.

Key Man at Warm Springs.

O'DONNELL—I'm a very good friend of Keith Morgan. Do you know Keith?

JONES—No, I don't know him.

O'DONNELL—He's one of the closest friends of the President in the south. He's running the Warm Springs Foundation; Roosevelt's the president of that. Keith is no relation of Forbes Morgan.

JONES—Would you work through him on my case?

O'DONNELL—I certainly would.

O'DONNELL—Through Keith Morgan.

JONES—Think he can do it?

O'DONNELL—Yes, I know he can. . . . Well, here's what I can tell you, that the day after election I'll put you in the hands who certainly will do something for me.

JONES—What about me?

O'DONNELL—I mean they will—that they will do something about my request, which will be you.

JONES—Well, that's pretty general, isn't it

O'DONNELL—It's general, well, we can't get down to facts and say, well now, here's what'll happen—everything will be whitewashed. All you need to do for that is so much money. That can't be done.

JONES—Alright, out with it.

O'DONNELL—Underwrite a thousand of these books, $2.50 a copy.

JONES—You don't want me to have an ad in there?

Ready to Run an "Errand."

O'DONNELL—Ah, no — God, no. [Laughter]. Now I can say, after that, you are coming around and you're going to ask—if you ask, here's what I can say. If you ask the committee for a favor after election, we'll be glad to run an errand for you. Let me put it that way.

JONES—Now, just between you and me, uh—you'll get somebody in the committee, Morgan, or whoever he is, to do the necessary things with Lamar Hardy down here to get my case nolle prossed—is that what you mean?

O'DONNELL—I'll do my damndest.

O'Donnell than told Jones, according to the transcript, that Farley and W. Forbes Morgan would know he made a contribution, and said the books could be sent to public libraries. Jones then asked if the President knew how the book was being merchandised, and O'Donnell answered: "You bet your life he does, and he approved it."

JONES—Does he know that it's a sort of blind for contributions?

Have to Laugh at Cummings.

The transcript then indicated that the two men were examining one of the books and noting the names and pictures of New Dealers and contractors who had government work. A picture of Attorney General Homer Cummings caused merriment when Jones said: "Why, he's the one that's prosecuting me."

The conversation concluded as follows:

JONES—You think you can do something for me, huh?

O'DONNELL—I'll do my damndest—whatever I can. I think I can.

JONES—You think you can. You think you can to the point where you can solicit me to pay $2,500 of my money in the hope your thoughts are right.

O'DONNELL—That's right.

JONES—I'll think it over and you call me tomorrow.

O'DONNELL—Surely will. What time?

JONES—O, 11:30, 12 o'clock.

O'DONNELL—Confidential?

JONES—Entirely confidential. Okey doke, thanks very much for calling.

BULLETIN.

Aboard Landon Special En Route to Philadelphia, Oct. 25.—(AP)—A doctor traveled with Gov. Alf M. Landon tonight as the Republican presidential candidate, still suffering from a head cold, took his campaign to the Atlantic seaboard.

Dr. L. B. Spake of Kansas City, Kas., was summoned to accompany Landon and keep his throat in the best possible condition for the final week of campaigning.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

On Board Landon Special to Baltimore, Md., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—On leaving Indianapolis today for his final week of campaigning Gov. Alf M. Landon expressed appreciation for the endorsement of his candidacy by a group of prominent professors of the University of Chicago.

On receiving the statement of the university men he said:

"It is with a sense of deep gratification that I have received the statement of endorsement signed by fourteen professors of the University of Chicago.

Praises Their Work.

"All of us have known for many years of the outstanding work of a number of these men. They have made some of the greatest contributions of our generation to modern civilization. I was particularly interested to note the endorsement of Dr. Dick. I have greatly admired the work he has been doing to save the children of America from the ravages of scarlet fever. It is likewise pleasing to note that Prof. McLaughlin, one of the leading authorities on the American constitution is exerting his influence in this most vital issue of the campaign."

Rests on His Train.

Gov. Landon attended church at Broadway Methodist church in Indianapolis this morning and rested in his room on his train the rest of the day. His cold has improved. He was due to reach Cincinnati this evening but asked that there be no political demonstration there. Ohio Republicans who wanted conferences with him on his train were told that he had been ordered to rest.

The Landon special will arrive in Baltimore at 10:45 in the morning where the candidate will make an address at the Mount Royal station. He will then move on to Philadelphia for a speech in convention hall tomorrow evening.

ROOSEVELT TAX CLAIMS UPSET BY TREASURY DATA

Prove 'Hidden' Levy Is Misrepresented.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—The Republican national committee today cited figures of the treasury department as proof of its assertion that President Roosevelt misrepresented the facts regarding "hidden" taxes in his recent speech at Worcester, Mass.

In citing the treasury figures, the Republican committee also recalled that Mr. Roosevelt's figures on the national income given in his Pittsburgh speech were a billion and a half dollars at variance with the department of commerce reports.

"At Worcester, Mr. Roosevelt said: 'In 1933, when we came into office, 58 cents out of every dollar of federal revenue came from hidden taxes,'" the committee statement said.

Show 17 Cents Difference.

"Careful search of treasury figures reveals that, in the opinion of Secretary Henry A. Morgenthau's bright young men, who compile the reports as made public, in 1932 only 41 cents came from hidden taxes. This would seem to be something of an error.

"Mr. Roosevelt continued in his Worcester speech, 'leaving out of account the liquor tax—for liquor was illegal in 1933—we have reduced these indirect taxes to 38 cents of our every dollar.'

"Mr. Roosevelt's official department reports show, on analysis, that at the present moment 51 cents out of every dollar collected by the federal government comes from hidden taxes. If, in this instance, Mr. Roosevelt is right, then the liquor 'hidden tax' is 13 cents for every dollar of revenue the government collects.

Liquor Tax Always Belittled.

"This is interesting, because Mr. Roosevelt, in his smooth twisting of government figures to paint a bright picture of what he has accomplished, never before has given any credit to the liquor taxes, now pouring into the federal treasury at the rate of $720,000,000 a year.

"So one is led to wonder if Mr. Roosevelt would still think the federal credit was sound if he did not have this tremendous revenue which was lacking during the fourteen years between passage of the 18th amendment back in the Woodrow Wilson administration and his inauguration.

"At Buffalo, Gov. Alf M. Landon charged that 2 cents of the price of a loaf of bread was taxes. He charged that hidden taxes—federal, state, and local—amount to about 20 cents out of every dollar we spend. In the case of the federal government alone, he said, they amount to over $5 a month for every family.

PATROLMEN'S CLUB TO MEET.

The Chicago Patrolmen's Social, Athletic and Efficiency club of the police department will meet this evening in the auditorium of the Medical and Dental Arts building, 185 North Wabash avenue.

HISTORY REPEATS SELF IN WAR ON EASTERN TIME

Summer Daylight Saving Similarly Assailed.

BY LLOYD WENDT.

Chicago's fight to retain the benefits of eastern standard time, culminating in a referendum on Nov. 3, is almost exactly a repetition of the battle to save the summer daylight time law in 1925 and 1926. The same groups and leaders are favoring eastern time that supported summer daylight time in 1929; the same interests and leaders oppose it.

Chicago adopted summer daylight time locally after experience with it during the world war, when the nation temporarily adopted fast time to speed up war time production and to save electric power. The Chicago time law was approved in referendum after a brief experience with the change.

Opposed by Faction of Workers.

The officials of the Chicago Federation of Labor, led by John Fitzpatrick, opposed summer daylight time. In a city council hearing on the matter, Fitzpatrick declared: "The Chicago federation is against the time ordinance. If it is passed, our members will not recognize it."

Virtually the same thing was said concerning the adoption of eastern standard time last fall.

Last spring, however, eastern time foes declared they wished a referendum on time, although the same groups have twice tried to upset referendums in which the people voted for summer daylight time. Consistent with their prior stand, opponents of eastern and summer daylight time last winter sought to deprive Chicago of a referendum on eastern standard time by promoting in the state legislature a bill making such time illegal in Illinois. The same thing was tried with respect to summer daylight time in 1923 and 1929. In all instances the moves failed.

The Cronson-Nelson Maneuvers.

In 1925, after summer daylight time had once been approved in a referendum by a majority of 61,000, foes of fast time still refused to abide by the will of the people. On April 25, 1925, the day before a new daylight saving law was to go into effect, seven aldermen called a special session of the city council to repeal the law. Among the seven was Oscar F. Nelson, then alderman of the 46th ward, now judge of the Superior court, who led the fight against the eastern time law in 1935 and 1936.

At the 1925 special session Ald. Nelson introduced an ordinance to repeal the daylight saving law. Ald. Berthold A. Cronson [4th], who in 1935 sponsored the present eastern time law, saved the summer daylight ordinance by moving to table the Nelson repealer. The motion carried.

"The citizens by overwhelming majority have approved daylight saving time," Cronson said at the meeting. "The city council has no right to take the privilege away from the people."

Aid in War on Crime.

Statistics were presented in the session to show that daylight time reduces crime.

"Criminals work in darkness as a rule," Chief Collins of the police department told the council. "Increase the waking hours of daylight and there is less crime. Crime is at its lowest ebb at daybreak, to which, under daylight time, the extra hour of darkness is switched."

Fast time foes, however, were not impressed by such argument. In January, 1926, Ald. Nelson again offered to the city council a motion that the summer daylight savings law be repealed. Ald. Cronson again caused the tabling of the motion, but offered a substitute recommendation that a second referendum be held on fast time the following November.

During this council session Mr. Fitzpatrick again spoke. He did not mention the popular referendum on time, but said that his own followers were against the time law.

Carried by 160,000 Votes.

In the second referendum daylight time was again approved, this time by a majority of 160,000.

The second referendum on time apparently was not convincing, either. In 1929 for a second time a bill was presented to the legislature which would prevent Chicago from using summer daylight time. Again the measure was defeated.

Following the third and latest attempt in the state legislature to prevent Chicago from fixing its own time, even after a referendum, the bitterest foes of eastern time are apparently convinced that it will be futile to seek votes for central time in the present referendum. The fire is being concentrated on eastern time alone this year.

Chicagoans who wish to retain year around daylight saving and to stop time tinkering twice a year, can do so by voting "yes" on question 1, "no" on questions 2 and 3 in the referendum on Nov. 3.

BARE BOLD PLOT TO STEAL VOTES OF N. Y. ON NOV. 3

New Deal Change in Polls Hours Seen as Key.

New York, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Suspicious developments in a dozen quarters over the last few days are pointing, in the view of unbiased political observers, to the possibility of a well hatched "plot" to steal the New York state election bodily on Nov. 3 and throw the state's all important 47 electoral votes to President Roosevelt and his New Deal running mate, John N. Garner.

Whispered rumors of such a plot have been going the rounds of political circles ever since it began to appear from nation-wide straw vote polls, surveys and political summaries that the outcome of the whole election and its determining effect on the fate of American democracy might depend in the final analysis on the New York vote.

The suspicion grew into a well-settled and widespread belief when investigators of the Honest Ballot association in New York City this week began to unearth evidence of wholesale fraudulent vote registrations here and in other cities of the state, and it progressed into a conviction amounting to a certainty in well-informed quarters when the state legislature met at Albany at the call of the state's "New Deal" governor, Herbert H. Lehman, last Tuesday and hurriedly passed a law adding three extra hours to the voting period on election day.

Fraud Proof Grows.

Charges of large scale registration frauds were intensified tonight when John R. Crews, Republican leader of Kings county, sent to the office of Attorney General John J. Bennett Jr., reports from his district leaders that unprecedentedly extensive false registration has been discovered.

"It may even prove the worst scandal of the kind ever experienced in this city," said Mr. Crews. "The District leaders say they never have seen anything like it. Some landlords have told me personally that people they never met have registered from their houses."

The Brooklyn organization Friday had asked the attorney general to issue 1,000 certificates for use of Republican investigators.

A. David Benjamin, chairman of the law committee, who on Friday alleged there were 150,000 illegal registrants in Kings county, said yesterday that Democratic leaders had forced the registration of thousands of unqualified voters.

"Thousands of noncitizens who receive government aid were told by Democratic leaders they must register to retain their relief status," he said. "They have registered without proof of naturalization. On the insistence of Democratic inspectors, there was a wholesale waiving of literacy certificates."

First "Extension" Known.

The "extension" of the voting time—the first in the memory of the oldest voter hereabouts—is looming as a vastly more important factor of the scheme than at first appeared. Under the provisions of the law, drafted at the instance of Gov. Lehman with the aid and coöperation of close advisers of the "little New Deal" board of strategy, the New York polls will not close till 9 o'clock at night—instead of 6 o'clock as they always have done. Heavy increased registration was publicly given as the necessary reason for the extension.

Now: The polls in Pennsylvania, where thirty-six electoral votes—the second largest block in the electoral college—are at stake, close at 7 o'clock. Those in nearby New Jersey, with sixteen electoral votes, close at 8 p. m., and those of Connecticut, with eight votes, shut down as early as 6 o'clock.

Thanks to the voting machine and other improved election machinery, the results in all these highly debatable election battlegrounds ought to be pretty definitely known, it is pointed out, by the time New York begins counting its vote.

Logic of Plan Shown.

What more natural, then, than that New York, the President's home state, highly loyal from the time he first ran to a triumphant victory as its governor, should be ready to "stand by" in readiness for any emergency that a party upset elsewhere may bring forth?

Observers acquainted with the New York breed of New Deal politician profess to see no grounds for surprise at all in the implication bound up in the question. It does not take a statistical chart to prove that the New York electorate is no stranger to a "stolen" election.

Scarcely an election goes by, indeed, without the constituted authorities being compelled by outraged public opinion to cram a few jail cells with underlings caught in the act of ballot box stuffing and kindred polling place crimes. Even the last election, where the Democrats were conceded a virtual "walkover" was no exception.

This year the poll frauds tend to give promise of outdoing the enormities of an unbroken string dating back to the days of the notorious Boss Tweed.

In Manhattan the urgency of the situation culminated in the overnight formation of an organization called the Vigilantes, which, under the chairmanship of Charles Francis Coe, immediately was developed into an interstate group with branches in Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and other states where the issue of the contest is highly in doubt.

Will Watch New Dealers.

Coe has undertaken to marshal literally tens of thousands of investigators and poll watchers who will devote most of their time between now and the close of the polls on election night to circumventing any New Deal schemes. Already Coe's workers have reported evidence of law violations on a tremendous scale in Philadelphia, Boston, Providence and Scranton, in addition to New York.

A striking—but obviously an appropriate—factor concerning the frauds so far uncovered is that they have been almost without exception in districts accustomed to turning in big Democratic majorities.

Here in New York the frauds centered largely in the Bronx, led by the veteran Roosevelt wheelhorse, Edward J. Flynn, secretary of state under Gov. Lehman—in Harlem, Manhattan, and the densely populous Brownsville section of Brooklyn.

Time Too Short.

Republican workers are active, of course, endeavoring to weed out a proportion of the fake "voters," but with only little more than a week left between now and election day, and with the wide range of territory to be covered, party leaders agree that the task will be far from accomplished when the polls open for voting on Tuesday morning of next week.

Meanwhile "Big Jim" Farley, the Democratic jobmaster general, is assuring his frightened field marshals in other fields where the fight waxes uncertainly that New York is "in the bag" and another four years for the New Deal army of officeholders "as good as a certainty."

It's all over, Farley says, but the counting.

ELECT CASEY, IS PLEA OF G. E. Q. JOHNSON AS LAWYERS' SPOKESMAN

George E. Q. Johnson, former United States attorney in Chicago, issued a statement yesterday on behalf of 1,235 Chicago lawyers who are campaigning for election of Judge Edward B. Casey of the Municipal court, Republican nominee for chief justice of that court. Mr. Johnson said that the lawyers will press their campaign this week to restore the Municipal court to its former standing as the "model American court" by the defeat of Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby, Democratic nominee for reëlection.

"And these other attorneys, who are members of Judge Casey's campaign committee, would like to see the court returned to the position of prominence it once occupied under the late Chief Justice Harry Olson," Johnson said. "We believe that Judge Casey is the man who can accomplish this.

"He has been overwhelmingly endorsed by members of the Chicago Bar association, because the lawyers who practice daily in the Municipal court know that he will bring about many intelligent improvements."

ANALYSES SHOW DOWNSTATE IN BAG FOR BROOKS

Dominant in North and on a Par in Egypt.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Wayland Brooks will sweep northern Illinois, carry the central part of the state by a comfortable margin and will break at least even down in Egypt.

This is a summary of the result of the second week of a survey of the outlook for the election next week made by regular correspondents of THE TRIBUNE at political listening posts throughout the state.

They were told to give especial attention in this week's reports on the status of the governorship fight between Brooks, the Republican bent, Henry Horner. Almost all of them said that Brooks, in addition nominee, and the Democratic incumto having a decided lead, is growing stronger. Few gave Gov. Horner a chance of winning their counties unless they are of the "always Democratic" variety.

Horner Falling Behind Ticket.

Several of the reports said that Brooks is running ahead of his ticket and an even greater number said that Horner is falling far behind President Roosevelt in spite of his effort to use the state employés and the campaign funds in his hands for his own benefit alone.

While the Republicans are united throughout the state behind Landon, Brooks, Glenn and the entire state ticket, the survey shows the Democrats split in several directions. First of all, the wounds of the primary have not healed. Many of the anti-Horner Democrats are still anti-Horner.

The independent vote that swung to him because of his primary fight against Chicago "Bossism" has left him because he is back with the Nash-Kelly organization again and because the organization nominated all the other candidates on the state ticket, nearly all the important offices going to Chicago men.

Tax Muddle Costs Votes.

Horner's increase in the sales tax coupled with his demand for a revival of real estate taxation for relief purposes has hurt him immensely. So has his handling of old age pension matters. According to the reports his state board refused to allow the counties sufficient investigators of applications and then he scattered 400 temporary state employés into the counties doing political work.

For the first time also, the reputation of the administration for freedom from graft and corruption has been attacked with exposés such as the series upon the activities of F. Lynden Smith, his hand picked campaign manager, and the state purchasing department's demand for campaign contributions from coal producers.

From an organization standpoint, however, the Democratic strength has been most seriously split by the governor's management of his own campaign as a one man affair. His newspaper advertising, his many billboards, his printed material and his speeches deal with Henry Horner alone with no reference to his running mates. Recently some signs have been changed to read "Roosevelt and Horner" but still there is no plea for the entire state ticket.

Use of Funds Stirs Wrath.

Even more specifically, the Democratic leaders complain that the slush fund raised by 2 per cent monthly assessments is controled by the Horner clique and is spent for the Horner candidacy alone.

Letter after letter says that the Republicans are doing teamwork for the entire ticket. As an example of what is going on in the Democratic camp, the reports mention complaints that Horner employés are unfriendly toward State Treasurer John Stelle, now running for lieutenant-governor, and State Auditor Edward J. Barrett, running for reëlection. They made public during the primary some of the Horner padded pay rolls. Apparently they haven't been forgiven.

The Reports by Districts.

Examples of some of the reports from northern and central Illinois where the big counties are run as follows:

SPRINGFIELD—The Republican revival in downstate Illinois is showing results of a substantial character.

DANVILLE—There is a perceptible swing toward the Republican candidates, especially in the governorship contest.

STERLING—The Democrats are making a desperate fight but they are not getting anywhere.

QUINCY—Brooks is gaining in popularity.

CHAMPAIGN—There is no question that Champaign county will go Republican for governor as well as for the head of the ticket.

BLOOMINGTON—Brooks is gaining every day.

WATSEKA—Leaders in the Republican organization express the opinion that Brooks will run considerably ahead of Landon in Iroquois county.

GALESBURG—Wayland Brooks appears to be gaining in strength in Knox county.

DECATUR—One east side Democratic committeeman said: "I'll get two to one for Roosevelt in my precinct but Horner isn't so strong."

LA SALLE—There has been a swing to Brooks of many heretofore for Horner.

PONTIAC—Democratic leaders admit their party is the under dog in Livingston county.

ROCKFORD—Brooks will win Winnebago and nearby counties by a much greater margin than that given the Republicans in 1932.

FREEPORT—Rejuvenation of the Republican organization in Stephenson county resulted in the most intensive campaign waged here in many years.

ELGIN—Brooks will carry Kane county easily. An 8,000 majority is the probable minimum and it may be considerably higher.

DE KALB—Brooks will carry De Kalb county by about 3 to 2. The tide shows a great swing to Landon and Knox during the past two weeks.

ROCK ISLAND—Rock Island county will go to Landon and Brooks by a slight majority. Many intend to vote for Roosevelt and Brooks. It is quite probable Hrner will run behind Roosevelt.

There is a higher ratio of Democratic counties in southern Illinois but the reports from that section also are favorable to Brooks and the state ticket. Extracts from some of them follow:

MATTOON—Brooks is a heavy favorite to carry Coles county. Some leaders are predicting he will run ahead of Landon.

CHARLESTON—There are certain indications Brooks will run away ahead of Horner.

DU QUOIN—It is conceded Brooks will run ahead of his ticket in Perry county.

HARRISBURG—Observers believe Landon will carry Saline county by 1,000 and Brooks by 1,500.

MARION—Brooks is considered a slight favorite in Williamson county.

MURPHYSBORO—Confidential straw vote indicated Brooks would lead the ticket.

CARLINVILLE—Brooks has a good chance of carrying Macoupin county.

In East St. Louis, Republican gains are conceded by conservative Democrats, and, according to authoritative observers, Brooks has a slight edge over Horner.

HERALD REPUBLICAN CONTROL IN ASSEMBLY ON BASIS OF SURVEY

After conducting a statewide survey of the campaigns for seats in the Illinois general assembly, Republican leaders are confident the election on Nov. 3 will mark the end of the present Democratic control of the state legislature.

Only eight more seats than the Republicans now have in the house are needed to reach the goal of 77 members, a constitutional majority. The prospects of winning at least these eight is excellent, according to the G. O. P. joint legislative campaign committee.

A harder task confronts the Republicans in their efforts to regain a majority of 26 in the senate. The membership of the upper chamber consists now of 15 Republicans and 36 Democrats.

Twenty-five districts, the even numbered ones, are to elect senators, and out of this number five now are held by Republicans and the other 20 by Democrats.

"We definitly expect the reëlection of the five Republican senators whose terms are expiring," the campaign committee states. "Eighteen of the remaining twenty districts are downstate. We believe the Republicans will carry eleven of them.

"There are 175 candidates for the house in the 28 districts in which there are contests. A survey shows 79 or 81 Republicans will be elected."

SEEKS TO BLOCK SPREAD OF DATA ON SECURITY TAX

Pennsylvania Governor Asks U. S. Action.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Apparently fearful that the workers of Pennsylvania will veer away from the New Deal if they are informed as to the exact workings of the social security act, Gov. George H. Earle has appealed to the federal department of justice to take action against employers who are putting notices of the security tax deduction, beginning Jan. 1, into the pay envelopes of their employés.

The Pennsylvania governor, who, with Senator Joseph F. Guffey, heads the Democratic political machine in charge of the New Deal campaign, charged that the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' association was distributing pay envelope inclosures containing "half truths and deliberate falsehoods about the social security act." The activities of the manufacturers, Earle asserted, amount to a "conspiracy to prevent the effective workings of a statute of the United States."

Receive Another Setback.

The New Deal campaign in Pennsylvania, which has been slowing down in the last few days as workers began to hear of the 1 per cent pay deduction which employers will begin to make on Jan. 1 to pay the old age pension tax, received another setback yesterday when S. Davis Wilson, Republican mayor of Philadelphia, issued a statement after a chat with President Roosevelt proclaiming his neutrality in the national election. The New Dealers had hoped that the Philadelphia mayor, who was a Democrat before he jumped into the Republican camp, would jump back into the Democratic ranks again with an indorsement of the President for reëlection.

The President, who made one of his major campaign speeches in Pittsburgh several days ago, will return to Pennsylvania next Wednesday for a final drive for votes. He decided to speak in that state again shortly after returning from a two day stumping tour of southern New England, including Massachusetts, Connecticut, and Rhode Island.

More Relief Cash Allotted.

To all these battle ground states, except Rhode Island, the President today allotted relief funds for the repair of bridges in areas damaged by last spring's floods. He allocated a total of $810,927.

Gov. Earle wrote a second letter to the social security board complaining about the activities of the Pennsylvania manufacturers.

In his letter to Attorney General Homer S. Cummings, the governor said:

"I will be very grateful if the department will ascertain if this action [referring to the insertion of inclosures in pay envelopes] does not constitute a violation of the federal laws, and if you find that such laws have been violated I will appreciate it if the department of justice will take whatever action you may deem advisable."

Gov. Earle sent to the department of justice copies of placards which he said had been posted in factories in his state. He charged that the placards attempted to make it appear the federal government was imposing a tax on wages without explaining that the tax was to help build an old-age pension reserve.

"Instead of telling the truth," the governor said, "the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' association—dastardly in my opinion—is conspiring to mislead the workers of Pennsylvania and give them a wholly false impression of the law."

Although Gov. Earle was the first to ask the department of justice to intervene, Democratic leaders in other parts of the country have reported to the national Democratic committee that they are alarmed over the resentment of labor toward the social security tax, of which they have been made aware by notices in their pay envelopes.

The department of justice was unable to say whether any action would be taken on Gov. Earle's appeal for federal aid in preventing Pennsylvania employers from informing their workers of the security tax deductions.

White House attachés were informed yesterday that left wing WPA members, denied an opportunity to present petitions to the President, would follow him to Camden and lay siege on him when he speaks there next Wednesday.

A scuffle with police occurred before a committee of the WPA workers were permitted to hand a petition to Marvin H. McIntyre, one of the White House secretaries.

THE KELLEYS GET TOGETHER AGAIN AND ALL IS WELL

The search for the seven Kelley children who became separated from their parents Saturday in the heavy trafic at 46th street and Wabash avenue ended yesterday when the children, together with Steve Cosstick, 21 years old, a friend touring with the family, trouped into the Austin police station.

The children, Amber, 16 years old; Zena, 15; Almira, 12; Robert, 9; Jennie, 4, and Gerald and George, 1 year old twins, were riding with Cosstick in his automobile when they became separated from Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kelley and two other children, who were riding in a truck and trailer. The family are on their way from De Ruyter, N. Y., to their new home in Eugene, Ore.

After the happy reunion in the police station while the Kelleys checked their brood, Cosstick explained he and the children, having no money because Mr. Kelley carried the party's funds, slept in the car overnight. Later the Kelleys continued their way to Oregon.

THE TRIBUNE'S PLATFORM FOR 1936

Turn the Rascals Out.

—"a wise and frugal government, which shall restrain men from injuring one another, which shall leave them otherwise free to regulate their own pursuits of industry and improvement, and shall not take from the mouths of labor the bread it has earned."—First inaugural address of Thomas Jefferson.

MR. ROOSEVELT'S POPULAR FRONT.

Mr. Roosevelt has recognized the fact that he has what the communists now call the Popular Front support. He denies that he seeks it. He says that he repudiates it. He raises a question of veracity in which THE TRIBUNE is involved because it has submitted a great deal of the evidence.

Mr. Roosevelt recently sent a mouthpiece to Chicago to say that THE TRIBUNE had slandered the President of the United States and had insinuated what it knew to be false about communist support.

THE TRIBUNE has not insinuated anything. Its statements have been precise. It has offered proof. It was the first newspaper in the United States to procure and print some of the most telling documents showing that the communists and Mr. Roosevlt's supporters have made common cause for him.

Although Mr. Roosevelt has repudiated communist support, he has never repudiated Rexford Tugwell, Henry Wallace, Stephen Raushenbush, Mordecai Ezekiel, or others who helped him design and plan the planned society.

Although Harry Hopkins is the big political money spender and James Farley the great political manipulator under Mr. Roosevelt, the most important men in his administration in the reshaping of American government are Wallace and Tugwell. Wallace has said that the United States would modify any Marxian ideas which logic or development might require it to adopt. Mr. Wallace does not reject or repudiate Marxism, but thinks America would make its own peculiar uses of the methods forced upon Russia.

Robert N. Golding in his articles in THE TRIBUNE paralleled the ideas of the Russian communists and those of the American New Dealers to show that the two are of essentially the same character. Mr. Tugwell's writings are rich in ideas adopted from Lenin and, among other comments, he says:

"Russia has silenced forever the notion that economic affairs are governed by adamant natural laws. She has demonstrated that men have it in their power to set up the state they want and to make it obedient to their wishes."

"We must act and we cannot act without planning."

"Complete economic planning is possible only when there is public ownership and control of the means of production."

Mr. Tugwell's plan, which is Mr. Roosevelt's plan, which is Russia's plan, is the eventual control of production, agricultural and industrial, by the allocation of capital and quotas of production under government dictatorship. He says so and the first steps to the forbidden era were taken in NRA, in AAA, in the amendments to the federal trade commission act, in the Securities and Exchange commission, in the 1936 corporation tax law, and in the TVA. All these were, or were intended to be, the preliminaries to an extension of government controls which would give the United States a planned society no different from that attempted in Russia. It couldn't be different because, seeking the same ends, it must use the same means.

The Russians recognized Mr. Roosevelt before he recognized them. The two acts were and are complementary. Very shortly after Mr. Roosevelt's inauguration he broke down the precedent followed by his predecessors and gave the soviets a great gain in world prestige by receiving them diplomatically. He also gave them an advantageous trade treaty and sent them as ambassador Mr. Bullitt, whom he knew they would find congenial.

In return for this and in recognition of what Mr. Roosevelt's supporters are doing for the cause of collectivism, socialism, communism, or whatever you may care to call it, the Russian political committee controled by Stalin ordered the party in America to work hand in hand with the supporters of Mr. Roosevelt.

The new form of political organization is known as the Popular Front. In Spain it is headed by President Azana. Russia is risking a general European war to give military aid to the Popular Front Spanish government which it supports. In France Premier Blum of the Popular Front has the communists among his followers and he has told his party, if it may be so called, that only by coalition can his government be maintained, and that without communist support he must dissolve parliament and go into another election.

In the United States Earl Browder, the communist candidate for President, says the party must support such movements as the Farmer-Labor party in Minnesota and supporters of Mr. Roosevelt elsewhere in order that this new party may gain the upper hand and be one of the major parties four years from now.

Mr. Roosevelt asked the Democratic candidates for governor and United States senate in Minnesota to withdraw their names in order to make a Popular Front with the Farmer-Labor party. The Democratic candidates did so, yielding to Mr. Roosevelt's personal wish. In conferences which brought this about Senator La Follette of Wisconsin participated, and in Wisconsin Mr. Roosevelt is in coalition with the La Follette radicals. In Nebraska Mr. Roosevelt supports the radical Republican Norris. In New York he has on his electoral ticket David Dubinsky, who is raising funds for the imperiled Popular Front in Spain.

No one could look at the facts and deny that this Russian-French-Spanish Popular Front for a different order of government is being organized in the United States, that Mr. Roosevelt recognizes it and seeks to go along with it, and that he is recognized by the various elements, including the communists, who make up a Popular Front movement, as their most hopeful leader.

THE TRIBUNE was the first newspaper in the United States to produce proof that the Russian political committee had adopted the Roosevelt candidacy as the expedient by which the Popular Front could be organized and supported. Donald Day from Riga sent to Chicago the soviet journals in which the common aims of the Rooseveltians and the communists were frankly discussed. One quotation from Browder is conclusive: "We have many common aims and opinions, to defeat at all costs the reactionary Republican party."

The comintern, or political committee, also took credit to itself for splitting the ranks of the American Federation of Labor, which it has always regarded as hostile to collectivism, and it gave its support to John L. Lewis, Sidney Hillman, and Dubinsky, who are supporting Mr. Roosevelt.

"Thanks to these developments," says the Kommunistieceski International, "communism is penetrating more deeply into the United States and is beginning to play a stronger and deeper rôle in the entire political life of the country."

From Tugwell to Stalin the case is documented and the strategy Mr. Roosevelt employs in dealing with the Popular Front elements is sufficient proof.

H. G. Wells, having talked with Mr. Roosevelt, said of him: "He is being the most effective transmitting instrument possible for the coming of the new world order. He is eminently reasonable and fundamentally implacable. . . . He is continuously revolutionary in the new way without ever provoking a stark revolutionary crisis."

Mr. Wells later went to Russia and interviewed Stalin, telling him he should coöperate more directly with Mr. Roosevelt. Stalin looked beyond Mr. Roosevelt as, having known Kerensky, he would naturally do, to the Popular Front, and that is what the dictator adopted. It is also what Mr. Roosevelt adopted.

Now Mr. Roosevelt is being asked to say what he intends to do with the democratic institutions of the United States if he is reëlected. He merely repudiates the support of the communists, who refuse to be repudiated.

FOR AN AMERICAN LEGISLATURE.

In ordinary conditions the conscientious voter may subordinate national partisan considerations in his choice of state senator and representative. The duties and responsibilities of these legislators directly concern the state and do not in the main, if at all, involve national affairs.

The present campaign is one exception. It is an exception because under the New Deal the federal power and influence have invaded our state government to impose the will of the central government upon policy and administration. The governor has taken orders from Washington and the majority of the assembly has supported him in this course.

The reëlection of Gov. Horner and a so-called Democratic legislature will insure the continuation of this imposition. Citizens of Illinois, regardless of party, who do not favor this development, who have resented it and realize what it implies in the demoralization and eventual destruction of their rights of self-government, will end the state régime responsible for it in this once sovereign commonwealth. They can do so only by the election of a Republican governor and legislature.

This is not partisanism. It is loyalty to the American form of government. Many Democrats have resented the subserviency of their party leadership in the last four years to the control of Washington, for it has been a flagrant desertion of traditional Democratic party principles. Their party control has ignored these principles and real Democrats have no choice if they would preserve Democratic principles but to help end the régime that has betrayed them. This can only be accomplished by the election of a Republican governor and legislature.

The same reason applies to the independent or nonpartisan voter if he does not wish to aid the Roosevelt attack upon the American form of government. The Legislative Voters league, a conscientious nonpartisan agency, whose recommendations THE TRIBUNE has indorsed with few exceptions for many years, has put out its usual report on individual candidates. THE TRIBUNE believes that there is a higher test in this campaign and a greater issue, the preservation of the American form of government. So far as individual merit, the conduct of state affairs, and the solution of state problems are concerned, the claims of the Republican ticket as a whole, we assert, are stronger than those of the Democratic ticket. But beyond and above these considerations is that of loyalty to the constitutional form of American government, disparaged and undermined by the Roosevelt régime and its supporters in Illinois. The duty is clear, therefore, and it is paramount for all loyal Americans, Democrats, Republicans, or nonpartisans, to vote the Republican ticket in this election, the only American ticket.

Editorial of the Day

VERBOTEN.

[Tulsa (Okla.) Tribune.]

It can't happen here? Who said so? It has happened here.

For the first time in the history of the United States government newspapers are forbidden the right to publish facts regarding expenditures from the public treasury. The men in control of the government today say that it is none of the people's business where their money is being spent.

Thousands of men and women are carried on WPA nonrelief administrative and supervisory pay rolls, at salaries ranging from $100 to $500 a month, for purely political services. The New Deal bosses are determined that taxpayers and recipients of WPA doles shall not learn the names of those favorites nor the amounts they are being paid.

A page in American history was turned Monday when New Deal Works Progress administration notified the Tulsa Tribune that its reporters would not be allowed to view the WPA administrative or political pay rolls. But it is not a new page that spreads before us. It is the page that tells the story of our forefathers' rebellion in 1776 against a greedy, wasteful, autocratic monarch who denied the people the right to regulate taxation and public spending.

Our New Deal government today is writing history of the sort that has been written in more recent years in Russia, Italy, and Germany.

Heil, Franklin! Heil, Harry! Heil, WPA straw bosses!

And any facts about the United States government that these, our rulers, do not wish the people to know are absolutely verboten.

MOUNTAIN MIRAGE.

Six a. m. in the Bluebird café on Main street in a Kentucky mountain town. Outside, the darkness of winter and whipping snow; inside, hideous walls, but warmth and the heavy scent of coffee. The door swung open. Through it, in Jack London fashion, with the heavy frost swirling about his leggings and all the way up to the tassel of the coonskin cap that graced his skull, came a full-grown hillbilly. I had seen his picture before, I think, in a faded history book that dealt with Indian fighting. He strode up to the counter and I had visions of mountainous piles of flapjacks, grits and ham 'n' eggs being washed down his gullet with a mighty cup of corn likker. But as I mused thus I heard my hero say clearly: "Give me one of them ice cold cokes, if you got one." He drank it and marched away into the dawn. Ah me, the stultifying effects of civilization! JULEPS BY AN EXPERT.

I wish I could persuade Dad to leave this old Carolina farm, come to Chicago, and mix you one of his mint juleps. One afternoon I watched him mix up a few. He assembled a dozen iced tea glasses and into each poured about an inch of lukewarm water for dissolving a tablespoon of sugar. Then in each glass he carefully placed a tiny sprig of mint after bruising same with a gentleness I always had thought my old man lacked. "Too much pressure or too much hardness," he said, "would make a bitter taste. You bruise only the leaf, not the stalk." . . . Next he went to the ice chest and came out with a chunk of ice wrapped in a towel, and pulverized it with a hammer. Only ice so treated, he insisted, would make the glasses perspire properly. He filled each glass within a half inch of the top with this ice; then drew off from a charred keg enough old corn whisky to fill the glasses to the top of the ice. On top he placed a spring of mint per glass, after wiping the rim with it. . . . Just a little powdered sugar was sprinkled on the edge of each glass. Then all the glasses were covered with a towel that had been dipped in cold water and squeezed to the correct moistness. This was to frost the glasses. When the towel was removed there stood twelve splendid creations. The frosting steamed, the sugar crystals glistened, striving to outdo the elegance of the mint sprigs riding on the ice. . . . I drank four that afternoon. In the evening under the moon I sat on the porch and wondered how all the poor people in the world were getting on. Juleps make you that way. Southern Gentleman.

KEEP ON THE ACID SIDE.

A FEW days ago we had something to say about stones which sometimes form in the kidneys and the bladder in perfectly normal individuals. It was noted that any interference with the usual outflow of urine would predispose to the formation of calculi. In other words, salts [calcium, phosphorus, etc.] will settle out more readily if a puddle of urine is permitted to accumulate in the kidneys or in the bladder.

It is much like the layer of lime that may form on the bottom of a teakettle. If the water evaporates minerals are thrown down [precipitated] which otherwise would remain in solution. We can illustrate this easily by dissolving a teaspoonful of common salt in a glass of water. The fluid is perfectly clear. Allow the tumbler to stand for several days. The water will vaporize slowly and salt crystals will appear along the sides and at the bottom of the glass. The same situation applies to urine which may hold in solution more solid matter than normal—too much for the liquid to retain.

Sometimes what we term the "reaction" is a matter of great importance. For example, a liquid that is slightly acid may be able to dissolve large quantities of chemicals which it could not hold were it slightly alkaline. This is the case with the urine. Whenever it becomes alkaline, precipitation of its mineral content is far more likely. For this reason nature has decreed that the urinary output of man shall be slightly acid. A poorly balanced diet can change it to the alkaline side.

A fairly common cause of alkaline urine may be the pernicious habit of taking alkalis when the spirit moves. No one should use large quantities of bicarbonate of soda on his own initiative. If it is prescribed by a physician there is probably a reason. Meats help to keep the urine acid and one moderate helping each day will be sufficient in most cases.

A group of workers in a clinic in Cleveland report that through the use of a high vitamin and acid mineral diet, which they have employed routinely, they have been able to prevent the development of stones following operative procedures. Furthermore, that a considerable number of individuals who previously produced repeated crops of these concretions have been entirely free for the past two years. This calls to mind the recent suggestion that the deposit of minerals takes place whenever there is a deficiency of vitamin A in the diet.

Overactivity of the parathyroid glands will lead to an excess output of their secretion and hence to the extraction of lime from the bones and a resulting increase in calcium in the blood. This can be detected, inasmuch as the calcium and the phosphorus thrown off in the urine will reach a high level. Such a condition is usually associated with a tumor of the parathyroids, and this activity is apparent in the following case:

A woman, aged 51, gave a history for several years of passing small, dark brown stones intermittently. X-ray examinations disclosed that calcium had been abstracted from the bones—which were thinner than normal—and deposited in the kidneys. The amount of this element in the blood was 50 per cent higher than the standard level. The cause in this case was found to be a tumor of one of the parathyroid glands, which was removed successfully with complete recovery.

Summing up the whole matter in the light of present knowledge—if we would avoid stony urinary deposits the diet should be rich in vitamin A. During enforced rest in bed the position of the body should be changed frequently, if possible, and the flow of urine increased through the drinking of large quantities of water. This will prevent stasis and it is not probable that precipitation of stones will occur from a dilute urine.

The reaction of the urine should be kept acid by means of the ketogenic diet or foods that contain acid minerals. As a rule, the ordinary mixed diet is definitly acid forming and the kidneys respond by excreting an acid urine.

A DREAMY BOY.

B. L. P. writes: My 10 year old son, who is in sixth grade, has always been a problem in school. The teachers call him a dreamer. They do not accuse him of being dull, but he never finishes his work, sitting and looking around most of the time. He is large for his age, wearing size 14 clothes. Could you give me some advice?

REPLY.

Some children who are growing rapidly are shy and dreamy. There may be an excess of some glandular secretion and a decrease in another. Ask your physician to watch the lad. Encourage him to exercise out of doors and make certain that his diet is well balanced; that it contains milk, eggs, fruits, green vegetables, and meat once daily. Insist upon 9 to 10 hours of sleep. The busy child is the well adjusted one. Sometimes if an overgrown child is thrown with others of his stature his mental attitude is improved.

NEURITIS.

J. E. S. writes: How does neuritis affect a person?

REPLY.

Neuritis means inflammation of a nerve or nerves, which may be localized in one part of the body. The symptoms depend on which nerve is involved. If it is a sensory nerve there will be a disturbance of sensation. At first the inflammation causes slight irritability, then pain, and finally—in severe cases—there is a loss of feeling in the area.

A disturbance of the action of the muscles will result if a motor nerve is affected. This condition may be characterized by twitching, weakness, and even paralysis of the muscles to which that particular nerve carries messages.

When a mixed nerve is inflamed the symptoms of neuritis are usually a mixture of pain, tenderness, loss of skin sensitivity, weakness or paralysis of the muscles.

PREMATURELY GRAY.

E. B. writes: I am only 17 years old and already my hair is turning gray. Is this due to some scalp disorder that can be remedied? Is it true that if one gray hair is pulled out two will come in its place?

REPLY.

Premature gray hair is a matter of heredity and there is not much that can be done about it. Keeping the general health up to par and gentle massage of the scalp may help to retard the color changes. There is no truth in the tale about two hairs coming in place of the one plucked, gray or otherwise. In some cases pigment absorption depends upon ill health of some sort. Do you have the normal amount of hydrochloric acid in the stomach?

THE WAGE TAX.

Des Moines, Ia., Oct. 22.—Since the speeches of President Roosevelt and Gov. Landon cover such a variety of subjects, each of us, no matter what his vocation, is permitted at least one opportunity to measure for himself the apparent sincerity of each of the candidates.

One such opportunity was provided me last night when I listened to the President's New England speech.

I cannot form an opinion when agriculture is discussed, for I am ignorant of it. I cannot dispute the President's claim that relief costs have been reduced, for although local relief reports in every town I've visited showed that relief costs are 50 per cent higher than they were four years ago, I cannot take time to verify the figures.

But when the social security act is discussed my ears perk up, for here at last is a chance to judge a candidate by his remarks concerning an act that my profession has compelled me almost to memorize!

Therefore when the President said last night that the funds collected under the social security act "are being held for the sole benefit of the worker" I knew that he did not speak the truth. I know that the money that will be docked from employés beginning Jan. 1, 1937, goes into the general funds of the treasury department where, as Secretary Morgenthau has said, "they may be used for WPA projects, to construct battleships," or for any other purpose determined upon by the government.

Any one doubting this may satisfy himself of the truth of my statement simply by sending 10 cents in stamps to the government printing office, Washington, D. C., and asking for a copy of the social security act.

There is no necessity to depend upon the newspapers, the radio, the movies, or any other source, for the law is there in black and white, printed by the government and available to every one.

L. A. HANSON.

BERSERK.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—Your front page editorial today says that Mr. Roosevelt has "made fifty speeches, but hasn't spoken a word in defense" of the new social security law funding provisions.

THE TRIBUNE is a liar. I heard him say quite a few words on this subject from Worcester, Mass.

Furthermore, you state that this is a "wage tax." THE TRIBUNE is a liar. It is one-half of an insurance premium [the other half to be paid by the employer] for the worker's old age benefit.

What is the matter with your editors? Is your rotten cause so weak that you are afraid to tell the truth when discussing the issues?

The fact of the matter is, you know you are beaten by a landslide and you have just gone berserk. C. M. T.

RELIEF

A.—No official figures. Estimates are from 3,000,000 to 3,500,000.

Q.—Is political coercion used among men on relief?

A.—March 14, 1936, Charles McDonald, Democratic leader in Philadelphia, sent letter to Democratic committeemen instructing them to "contact all houses in your division and get the names of all men on relief, also all those holding WPA jobs. Urge them to register Democrat on March 25, or else lose position."

WASHINGTON SAID IT ALL.

Prairie View, Ill., Oct. 23.—I quote from the farewell address of Washington when he declined to be considered for a third term in the presidency:

"The alternate domination of one faction over another, sharpened by the spirit of revenge, natural to party dissension, which in different ages and countries has perpetrated the most horrid enormities, is itself a frightful despotism. But this leads at length to a more formal and permanent despotism. The disorders and miseries which result gradually incline the minds of men to seek security and repose in the absolute power of an individual, and sooner or later the chief of some prevailing faction, more able or more fortunate than his competitors, turns this disposition to the purposes of his own elevation on the ruins of public liberty."

Did the prophetic vision of the first President, way back in the "horse and buggy days," penetrate to this hour, 140 years later, when another President is plainly pursuing a course to make that thing "happen here"? Tentatively it has already happened here. If the policies and purposes of this administration are indorsed at the polls, it will prove one of two things. Either that the American people are "seeking security and repose in the absolute power of an individual" or that a great body of them has been dragooned and driven to the polls under the lash of dire need to create the false impression of indorsement. Our only hope for the survival of democracy lies in the latter assumption.

Again I quote from that immortal address concerning false issues and factional agitation:

"It agitates the community with ill-founded jealousies and false alarms; kindles the animosity of one part against another; foments, occasionally, riot and insurrection. It opens the doors of foreign influence and corruption, which find a facilitated access to the government itself through the channels of party passions. Thus the policy and will of one country are subjected to the policy and will of another."

Did Washington foresee our "good neighbor" relations with bolshevism and the reign of Tugwell behind the scenery at the nation's capital? Did he envisage a President at Syracuse, N. Y., denouncing communism, tongue in cheek, while at the same hour his emissary was consummating a dirty deal for the votes of communists in Minnesota, for which deal he profusely thanked the dealers? Or New Dealers, shall I say?

JAMES MITCHELL GRANTHAM.

ANOTHER PLEDGE.

Naperville, Ill., Oct. 22.—When your paper criticizes the present administration for its failure to fulfill its platform promises I cannot let this challenge go unchallenged. One of their pledges, for example, was to prohibit our return to the old saloon. They did. Now we have taverns. All of which, in my humble opinion, is about as different as Roosevelt's red régime is from Stalin's satanical scourge. It isn't.

W. F. BRIEN.

THE BUDGET.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—Some people are worrying about how Gov. Landon is going to balance the budget without raising taxes.

He will make a good start by just cutting out the millions paid to big sugar corporations for doing nothing, to big hog raisers of California, to big banks holding farm property, etc. Where they needed a bushel of wheat they got Passamaquoddy or a useless ship canal in Florida.

The traditional "drunken sailor" is a gold hoarding miser compared to Roosevelt's gang of "liberals" trying to see who can make the most dollars tell you and me good-by. The sailor spent his own money. E. W. C.

THE PICTURE POLL.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—A New Dealer, which means no Democrat, writes in your Voice of the People that in some residential neighborhoods there are five Roosevelt pictures to one of Landon's. I am perfectly willing to take his word for it, but he should also count the places that have no candidate pictures and he will find the count to be fifty to one. I venture to say, without exaggeration, that 75 per cent of the occupants of the no picture homes will vote the Republican ticket on Nov. 3.

REAL ESTATE TITLE.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A, B, C, D, and E, all residents of Illinois, are brothers and sisters. Their parents are dead. E, a bachelor, died in May, 1931, leaving no will. A, B, C, and D are his heirs and his estate is a piece of clear Illinois real estate. D, a widow, died in December, 1932, leaving no children.

A, B, and C are her heirs, and [1] her estate is a piece of clear Illinois real estate. The estates of D and E have not been probated. A wants to buy the shares of B and C in the clear Illinois real estate left by D, and is willing to assume all debts left by D.

2. Can A buy the shares of B and C in the estate of D safely before estate of D is probated and then proceed herself to probate the estate of D?

Inasmuch as D was an heir of E, and the estate of E has not been probated, [3] can the estate of D be probated without probating the estate of E? N. M.

1. We assume that you mean that her estate is a piece of Illinois real estate plus her share in E's estate.

2. We see no objection to his entering into such a contract, but the real estate title would be poor for ordinary buying and selling purposes. In such a case we advise him to employ an attorney before entering into such a transaction.

3. This would be conclusive, but the usual course in order to produce a merchantable title to the real estate would be to probate both estates.

KING TO MARRY WALLY IN SPRING, GOSSIP IN LONDON

[Copyright: 1936: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

LONDON, Oct. 25.—The buzzing in Mayfair over the Simpson case became a loud hum today when it was reported more insistently than ever that King Edward VIII. of England plans to marry Mrs. Wallis Simpson, his American friend, and is preparing York house on his Sandringham estate for her.

The wedding will not take place until after the coronation next spring, it was reported. Mrs. Simpson, whose divorce from her husband, Ernest Simpson, is expected to be granted in Ipswich assizes tomorrow or Tuesday, must wait six months before the decree becomes final.

The former Baltimore belle recently visited York house and expressed delight at its old world lines. It is the cottage where King George and Queen Mary lived while Dowager Queen Alexandra was alive.

Say He is Deeply in Love.

Friends of the king said he is deeply and sincerely in love with Mrs. Simpson and it was marriage with her that he had in mind a few months ago when he advised the house of commons to make provision in the civil list for his consort.

As a result of that request, Mrs. Simpson would have an annual grant of about 40,000 pounds [about $200,000] a year if she married the king.

Whether she could rule with him as queen, however, is a question which has not finally been decided. His friends, however, seem to be of the opinion that a way might be found to elevate the American woman to the throne if Edward marries her.

The king intends to live at Sandringham a good deal and at present is overseeing repairs there. He has ordered a modern power system installed and has sold a small part of the estate to tenants.

Dislikes Windsor Castle.

The bachelor monarch always disliked Windsor castle as a royal residence, even as a boy, and its days as his official country residence are numbered. After it is used next year for coronation festivities it probably will be set aside as a home for aged veterans and the king will move his banner to Sandringham.

That is why Mayfair—which already has dubbed Mrs. Simpson "Britain's Mme. Pompadour"—exhibited such interest in the preparations at York house.

The report that Mrs. Simpson planned to go abroad immediately after her divorce is granted was countered today with another that special space had been reserved for her and her friends in the distinguished visitors' gallery for the opening of parliament by the king Nov. 3.

GUARD BEACH HOUSE

BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

FELIXSTONE, England, Oct. 25.—Uniformed police officers today were guarding the "Beach House," a home rented here by Mrs. Wallis [Wally] Simpson, intimate friend of King Edward VIII. of England. This and information obtained from merchants supported the belief that she is still in seclusion there while awaiting the trial of her divorce suit against her husband, Ernest, in Ipswich.

Police barred inquirers and photographers. A constable said he would use force if necessary to prevent the house or grounds from being photographed.

Policemen remained at a nearby corner and took occasional trips around the block. They never halted before the house, but when THE TRIBUNE correspondent attempted to walk down the drive a "bobby" on a bicycle overtook and halted him. Barring the way, the policeman said: "What is your business, please?"

Constable Has His Orders.

"I am looking for Mrs. Ernest Simpson. Does she live here?"

Shaking his head the ruddy cheeked constable said: "I cannot tell you anything about that. You cannot go down there. I know what you are. You are a reporter."

"Do you know she does not live there?"

"I don't know anything. I have got my orders."

Despite protests that he must be permitted to make inquiries the visitor was escorted out of the drive.

"I have my orders to let no one down there," said the constable.

KING EDWARD GOES TO CHURCH; STIRS COMMENT OF BRITISH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 25.—King Edward VIII. of England surprised worshipers in St. George's chapel at Windsor castle tonight by slipping into the little church alone and taking his place on the sovereign's throne in the stalls of the Knights of the Garter to attend evensong services.

The king drove his car from his residence at Fort Belvedere on the edge of Windsor forest and had tea at the deanery of Windsor castle. Just before the services began, he entered the chapel, remaining throughout the services, which were conducted by Dr. A. V. Baillie, dean of Windsor. Afterward King Edward drove his car to Fort Belvedere.

Edward's appearance at church caused much satisfaction in English ecclesiastic circles and it was the subject of comment in the British press and news services. Criticism had been expressed by many churchmen that King Edward has been a less regular churchgoer than his father. More frequent attendance was urged on him by high church dignitaries, it was reported. Defenders of the king's failure to go to church argued that he is modern in his ideas and his absence from services was merely in conformance with the ordinary tendency of modern youth.

CALLAHAN TURNS ON NEW DEAL; TO VOTE FOR LANDON

Wisconsin Leader Asks True Democrats' Aid.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—John M. Callahan, former Democratic national committeeman for Wisconsin and leader of the Jeffersonian Democrats of this state, today announced his support of Gov. Alf M. Landon and asked fellow Democrats to join him in voting for the Republican candidate for President.

The Democratic party, Mr. Callahan said, lives in name only in the present and "the preachings and teachings of those usurping its label are prostituting its principles. We must go forward and prevent, if possible, the destruction of our form of government."

Once a Senatorial Candidate.

Mr. Callahan was nominated for the United States senate by the Democratic party in Wisconsin in the primary election of 1934. At that election he received 223,438 votes. In the delegate election in April of this year his name was offered against the slate chosen by the state Democratic committee and he received approximately 180,000 votes.

Somewhere between the 223,438 votes received two years ago and the 180,000 polled for him this spring lies the actual number of true Jeffersonian Democrats in Wisconsin, who view the New Deal as he does and whose votes will be cast against its candidate for President, Mr. Callahan believes.

First Utterance of Campaign.

The statement today is Mr. Callahan's first public utterance during the present campaign.

"President Roosevelt revealed early in his administration he was not to be relied upon," Mr. Callahan's statement said. "He could be reached by appealing to his vanity. He has surrounded himself with, and finds himself enmeshed in, associations and environments not conducive to Democratic principles. He becomes so embroiled he cannot retract. He is in so deep he cannot turn back.

"I ask you, my fellow Democrats, to join with me on Nov. 3 and vote for Gov. Alf M. Landon for President of the United States."

FRENCH PREMIER PREDICTS LAW TO PUNISH DEFAMERS

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Oct. 25.—Socialist Premier Leon Blum in an address at Narbonne today announced new legislative plans and lashed out against defamers of the Popular Front program and pessimists who are predicting an economic and financial collapse.

Parliament will be called soon, said the premier. The date will be announced Tuesday after a cabinet conference and it is expected parliament will assemble Tuesday, Nov. 3.

The early weeks of the session will be devoted to passage of the 1937 budget.

Calls Budget Bold and Wise.

"This budget, which nobody knows about, but of which every one talks," Blum said, "will be honest, in order, and at once bold and wise."

He said that in view of the "unusual situation" which the government faces and the heavy supplementary expenditures it must meet, that the budget will have the "characteristics of transition and precariousness."

"You will see, however," he said, "that it solves the difficult situation without opening a huge deficitary chasm. Without losing its character of prudent reserve and transition, it will undertake courageously the work of the fiscal relief inscribed in the Popular Front program.

"There will be a law on the press," Blum said, referring to the controversy which is already raging about the budget, particularly in newspapers of the right.

Defense Against Defamation.

"On the one hand it will furnish to private individuals a means of defending themselves efficaciously against defamation," he continued. "On the other hand it will furnish the authorities with the means of controling expenditures and verifying the resources of enterprises whose aim is to act on public opinion and from which the public has a right to demand proofs of their material independence and intellectual probity."

The new law, according to Blum, will not condemn any one who tells the truth. According to the present law of France punishment could follow truthful accusation whereas the proposed legislation would only punish lies.

The premier spoke bitterly of persons who disseminate calamitous reports about economic collapse and another devaluation of the franc. The present parity of the franc, he said, should permit a lowering of interest rates, a rise in prices of stocks and rentes, a more active circulation of capital, a stimulation of consumption, and a not too rapid rise in prices.

FILL TWO JAILS WITH RELIGIOUS GROUP MEMBERS

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 25.—(AP)—The Peoria county and city jails tonight held 107 members of Jehovah's Witnesses, a religious organization, who were held today for investigation after they attempted to broadcast from sound trucks in front of city churches during service hours this morning.

When the group was disbanded they divided into crews and visited Peoria homes, police said, distributing literature denouncing Sherif Marcus G. Olson, who they charged had arrested one of their members several days ago.

Police lodged the group in the jails, they said, when they refused to abandon their calls from door to door. Both jails were crammed to capacity.

Sherif Olson said the members claimed to be associated with the Watch Tower Bible and Tract society, of which they said Jehovah's Witnesses was a division.

FIVE ARE KILLED WHEN AIRPLANE CRASHES IN VA.

2 More Burn to Death in Texas Mishap.

Marion, Va., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Five died here late today of injuries received when an airplane crashed just after taking off from Marion for Bluefield, W. Va.

The dead:

Charles M. Hendry, 40, of Marion.

R. B. Tidewell, 30, Bluefield.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Chappell, both 35, of Welch, W. Va.

Smyth county officials said Mitchell and his party, after spending the day here with Hendry, took off for Bluefield with the intention of having dinner there.

Flying Too Low.

"He was flying low over the golf course," Dr. W. H. McCarty told Coroner E. A. Holmes and Commonwealth's Attorney Ralph Lincoln, "so low that I tried to yell that he would not make a high hill just ahead."

Dr. McCarty and other witnesses said that the pilot apparently thought he could safely fly over the hill and almost had reached it when he "gave the plane the gun and it nosed almost straight upward."

Two Burn to Death.

Bryan's Mill, Tex., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Two army flyers, tentatively identified as Capt. Charles Howard and Corporal Edward Gibson of Langley field, Va., were burned to death here today when their twin motored bomber crashed during a heavy rain.

Maj. B. S. Thompson, commandant of Hensley field, army airport at Dallas, said he was certain Capt. Howard was pilot of the plane. A key ring and papers found on the body of the other man were the basis for Gibson's identification. The ring bore the notation: "E. N. Gibson, 8th A. S., Scott field, Ill."

Find Missing Flyer Dead.

ETERNAL PEACE IS IMPOSSIBLE, MUSSOLINI SAYS

IMOLA, Italy, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Premier Benito Mussolini, cheered by 70,000 listeners, expressed his hope today for "long periods of peace"—but not for "eternal peace, which is absurd and impossible."

His admonition of yesterday at Bologna that Italy's "olive branch grows out of an immense forest of 8,000,000 bayonets," Il Duce declared, "must be heard by all the world."

"The Italian people, which gave its blood for the empire, is ready for any other trial when the crucial hour approaches," the Fascist chief shouted.

"In order to make peace—just as to make love—it is necessary that there be two," he added.

Mussolini recalled that in his Aug. 30 address at the conclusion of Italy's annual military maneuvers he "warned the Italian people and other peoples that Italy desires peace, but that it also is necessary to be strong."

Hunter Loads Gun; Friend Wounded as It Goes Off

While loading a shotgun yesterday during a hunting trip fifteen miles north of McHenry in McHenry county, Frank Sauzer, 26 years old, 1941 Sheffield avenue, accidentally shot his friend, William Waldhier, 45 years old, 4641 Sheridan road, in the left ankle. Physicians at the St. Therese hospital, Waukegan, said they may have to amputate the foot.

YOUNG ASSASSIN MURDERS AID OF CHINA'S DICTATOR

Governor Shot After Visit at U. S. Consulate.

HANKOW, China, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Gen. Yang Yung-tai, governor of Hupeh province and one of Dictator Chiang Kai-shek's strongest supporters, was assassinated tonight by a Chinese youth. Police identified the arrested assassin as Chen Hsien, 20 years old, a civilian.

Gen. Yang was shot while he was returning home from the United States consulate where he had been a dinner guest. Six shots were fired and two took effect. The general was rushed to the hospital and died there within a few minutes.

Yang was a close associate of Chiang Kai-shek and for some time was his personal secretary. He was appointed civil governor of Canton in 1920 and earlier was associated with President Sun Yat Sen. He was appointed governor of Hupeh province in December when Gen. Chang Chung became foreign minister for the Nanking government.

Chinese Flee as Japs Drill.

TIENTSIN, China, Oct. 26.—[Monday.]—(AP)—Thousands of Chinese residents in villages near here, where extensive Japanese military maneuvers began today, are evacuating their homes in fear of untoward incidents.

The Japanese arranged with the residents of the villages to billet 1,000 soldiers and requested that at least one member of each Chinese family remain, promising that no eventualities would occur.

Five Jap Soldiers Slain.

TOKIO, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Dispatches from Manchukuo today said one Japanese major, one lieutenant and three privates were killed in a fierce four hour battle with bandits. Ten of the bandits were killed.

Officer Blamed for Train Wreck.

HONGKONG, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Chinese reports received tonight blamed a military officer for the train wreck in which at least 60 persons, including 53 soldiers, were killed. Four runaway coaches on the newly opened Canton-Hankow railway dashed down a steep hill and collided with a train climbing the grade Oct. 22, said dispatches from Tengchatang, Hunan province. The reports said the army officer ordered the train to ascend the grade contrary to the decision of the engineer. The train's movement jarred loose the four sidetracked cars laden with troops.

SON, 41, AWAITS QUIZ IN SLAYING OF RICH MOTHER

Huntington, W. Va., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Charles Buffington Baldwin, 41 year old member of a prominent Huntington family, sat in a jail cell today awaiting a hearing on a charge of slaying his wealthy mother, Mrs. Juliette B. Enslow.

Police went late last night to the mansion where Baldwin and his mother lived and arrested him just one week after she was found beaten and strangled at her bedside.

Baldwin, who was a captain in the army air corps in the world war, made no statement regarding the charge against him. Detective Lieutenant Leslie J. Swann and Detective Ray Hagley said the arrest was based on "new evidence." Hagley asserted stains were found on a pair of pajamas in the Enslow home and on a can opener. They are to be analyzed in an effort to determine whether they were blood from Mrs. Enslow.

A housekeeper found Mrs. Enslow's body, and police at first pursued a theory she had been killed by a burglar. Her two diamond rings were missing. Coroner's physicians reported she had been wounded four times on the head with a "sharp instrument."

Baldwin was the son of Charles Baldwin Sr., Mrs. Enslow's first husband, who died more than twenty years ago. His mother, who was 63, daughter of the city's first mayor, later was married to Frank Enslow, prominent attorney, now dead.

Tailored by Night

Mainbocher makes gowns of Oriental splendor on suave tunic lines. Schiaparelli startled the world with her woolen evening coats revered in gleaming sequins. Alix takes upholstery brocades and makes great coats of them. Molyneux is doing a whole midseason collection of tailored evening clothes. The secret behind all this tailored movement, of course, is that sumptuous fabrics and rich textures look twice as opulent when they're treated simply. Field's Grand Salon, believing in the simple lovely line, presents a glamorous collection in this new tailored mood—for the opera—the theater—for formal and informal dining.

BOTANIST GROWS ORCHIDS TO END SKY HIGH PRICES

N. U. Professor Promises Inexpensive Variety.

Prof. Margery C. Carlson of Northwestern university's botany department announced yesterday she has succeeded in growing a variety of orchid which will make the queen of the flower kingdom as plentiful and inexpensive as sweet peas. Her experiment with a species of the orchid family known as the "Grass Pink" or Calopogon pulchellus, began nearly three years ago.

From its wild environment in the swampy soil of the lower Lake Michigan area, Prof. Carlson gathered seeds of the grass pink orchid. The seeds are so minute that they appear as fine as dust. Then began a laborious series of experiments in her research laboratory in Fisk hall on the Evanston campus. After a year of mixing neutralizing substances with the soil, the seeds began to develop in sterile flasks.

Helps Seeds Sprout.

Germination was accomplished by placing a culture of food, consisting of mineral salts, sugar, and agar, in the flasks or "incubators." After the seeds sprouted they were transferred to larger flasks and finally transplanted to a greenhouse. Although the plants have not yet developed enough to bloom, Prof. Carlson has discovered the secret of growing the grass pink orchid.

"This means we will be able to reproduce this wild variety of orchid in gardens," Prof. Carlson said. She explained that the grass pink is rapidly becoming extinct and the only way to save it is to tell the domestic gardener how it can be raised. The species is closely related to the aristocratic orchid which grows only in tropical climates.

Bulbs to Be Available.

"The wild orchid is very rare in nature because the seeds are so tiny and the young plants are too tender to withstand the attack of civilization's impurities," Prof. Carlson said. For the gardener who does not wish to grow the grass pink from seed, bulbs will be available in a few years.

With this experiment a success, she has turned her attention to development of another species of wild orchid, the "Lady Slipper," or moccasin. This variety is becoming so rare that many states have passed statutes protecting it from the public.

25 MILLIONS OF GREEN'S ESTATE MOVED TO BANK

Massachusetts Acts to Collect Tax.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—A fortune of 25 million dollars in cut diamonds, jewelry, cash, and coin and stamp collections of the late Col. E. H. R. Green was transported today in eight armored cars, under the armed escort of sixteen private guards and seven state police from his estate in South Dartmouth to the First National Bank of Boston.

There the treasure will be stored in vaults until legal actions may be taken to obtain income and inheritance taxes for the state of Massachusetts.

Ordered by Court.

Transportation of this huge fortune was the result of an order by Probate Judge Mayhew R. Hitch that none of the assets of Green, who died at Lake Placid June 8, was to be removed from Massachusetts pending a court decision on a petition of Henry F. Long, tax commissioner, that Green was a legal resident of this state and income and inheritance taxes were due from the estate.

The trip was made without incident. The fortune, which consisted of the famous coin collection, valued at 5 millions; the stamp collection, valued at 3½ millions; a large amount of cash and securities, and a quantity of uncut diamonds, has been under constant guard at the Green home since his death.

Two Claim Estate.

Following the death of Green, son of Hetty Green, known once as the world's richest woman, his widow, Mrs. Mable Green petitioned in Texas for his 80 million dollar estate on the grounds that there was no will.

Mrs. Mathew A. Wilks of New York, Green's sister, contested Mrs. Green's action by producing a will in New York, dated 1908, giving her the entire estate.

TWO REVELERS GO JOYRIDING IN GREYHOUND BUS

Two men in a convivial mood ambled out of a tavern at 1001 Diversey parkway early yesterday. Parked near by was an empty Greyhound passenger bus and the two got into it and drove off.

A few minutes later Richard Bushbaum, 4437 North Malden avenue, a driver for the National Tours, Inc., told Sergt. John Gilfeather of the Sheffield avenue police that his bus was missing. Policemen Charles McCabe and Emil Boettcher were assigned to find it and in a short time they saw the bus on Diversey boulevard. They followed it until it drew up in front of 1019 Diversey boulevard.

Out climbed the two occupants, a bit unsteadily. They give their names as Charles E. Malloy, 42 years old, and David Kane, 35 years old, both of 1042 Diversey parkway. Police took the two men to the station, where they promptly went to sleep.

Preliminary observance of Navy day, which will be celebrated tomorrow as the anniversary of the founding of the American navy in 1775 and of the birth of Theodore Roosevelt in 1858, began yesterday at the Naval armory at the foot of Randolph street. Today's principal observance will be a luncheon of the Junior Association of Commerce at the Morrison hotel attended by members of the Chicago Association of Commerce, the Cook County council of the American Legion, the Army and Navy club, the Naval Reserve Officers' club, and the Naval Academy Graduates' association. Rear Admiral John Downes will speak.

A public review of the Sixth battalion of the naval reserves will be held tonight in the Naval armory followed by the presentation of navy motion pictures.

The largest Navy day event will be held tomorrow at Great Lakes Naval station. The grounds will be opened to the public at 10 a. m. A dress parade and sham battle with naval planes participating will be held in the afternoon.

LABOR SESSIONS SPUR NIGHT RIDER MURDER TRIALS

Tampa Officials Act on Eve of Convention.

Tampa, Fla., Oct. 25.—(AP)—While preparations went forward for the approaching convention of the American Federation of Labor here, authorities announced today they would move tomorrow to prosecute a band of alleged nightriders charged with murder as a result of a triple flogging last November.

The convention, which starts Nov. 16, and the flogging case were tied together by federation officials who threatened to move the assembly to another city unless the prosecutions were pushed.

Following this development and the organization by Norman Thomas, Socialist presidential candidate, of a "committee for the defense of civil liberties in Tampa," indictments charging kidnaping and second degree murder were obtained against ten men, seven of them city policemen at the time.

Seized Without Warants.

They were accused of raiding a private home without warants where a group of men were organizing a coalition third party for the purpose, they said, of "cleaning up city politics."

Three of those seized—Joseph E. Shoemaker, Eugene F. Poulnot, and Sam Rogers—were taken to the police station, docketed for questioning as to communistic activities, and ordered released.

As they left the police station, in the heart of the city, on a busy Saturday night, they were bundled into automobiles and transferred to a motorcade which awaited them on the outskirts of town. Thence they were taken out into the country where they were stripped, beaten severely, daubed with tar and feathers, and ordered to leave town.

Freed Pending Appeal.

In April, the seven policemen, who then had been suspended and later were discharged, were placed on trial for the Poulnot kidnaping. The police chief, R. G. Tittsworth, named as an accessory, and a special officer, Robert Chappell, were freed on a directed verdict. A jury convicted the remaining five—Sergt. C. A. "Smitty" Brown Jr., John P. Bridges, Sam Crosby, F. W. Switzer, and C. W. Carlisle—and they were sentenced to four years in prison. They are out on bail now pending appeal.

Rex Farrior, Hillsborough county state attorney, who was assigned as prosecutor by the governor, said he will seek to have a date set tomorrow to try the murder charge. Indicted on that charge were the seven tried for the Poulnot kidnaping and three Orlando men—Arlie Gilliam, Ed Spivey, and James Dean.

ARTHUR NEEDLES, N. & W. RAILWAY PRESIDENT, DIES

Started Career in 1882 as a Rodman.

Roanoke, Va., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Arthur Chase Needles, president of the Norfolk and Western Railway company and one of the oldest and most widely known railroad executives in the United States, died at his home here today.

Needles, who would have reached the retirement age of 70 next Jan. 10, had been ill for several days. Death was due to heart disease resulting from bronchial asthma.

Rodman in 1882.

Beginning his career as a rodman in the "romantic days of railroading" in 1882, Needles' rise to the presidency of the Norfolk and Western in his 53 years of active service was a romance of American business.

With him railroading was a hobby as well as a business. Even after he became president in 1924 it was his habit to telephone dispatchers on the line when he arose at 6 a. m. to determine if operations had gone all right during the night.

He was born at Baltimore and educated at Swarthmore college in Pennsylvania. He began his career with the Washington, Ohio and Western railroad in 1882. He was then 16 and a rodman in the engineering department.

President in 1924.

July 1, 1933, he rounded out 50 years of active service with the Norfolk and Western after serving as president since 1924. There were few positions in the entire scale of railroading that he did not hold at one time or another.

In addition to being president of the Norfolk and Western he was president of the Pocahontas Coal and Coke company and a director of many corporations.

He married Bessie P. Williams of Baltimore in 1899. She died in 1923. His second wife was Hortense Edith Clarke of New York, whom he married in 1928.

NAVY PLANES TO SCOUT PACIFIC ISLAND BASES

HONOLULU, T. H., Oct. 25.—(AP)—A powerful American naval air force assembled today for secret operations designed to bring several little known islands south and west of Hawaii into the national defense system.

Under orders to move at dawn tomorrow, four aircraft squadrons, a flagship, and four naval tenders, will carry 100 officers and 1,000 men into the area of far flung, uninhabited islands that came into significance recently as potential air bases. Rear Admiral Ernest J. King indicated the expedition would concentrate at French Frigate Shoals, described as "a highly adaptive base point," 575 miles west of here.

The general area south of here includes Howland, Baker, and Jarvis Islands over which the United States department of commerce recently assumed jurisdiction. The department sent small contingents of Hawaiians to each as "observers." Another important pin point of land is John Island, 750 miles south of Honolulu. Kingman's Reef and Palmyra Island, 1,000 miles south of here, also have been mentioned in projected extension of the American aerial frontier in the Pacific.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Feed Lots Graveled.

October 25, 1936.

Beef cattle have been given "solid footing" in the feed lots at THE TRIBUNE'S Yorkville Experimental farm. Workers have just completed covering the two main feed yards with a thick layer of gravel to prevent the steers from sinking to their hocks in mud around the feed bunks during the rainy seasons in the fall and spring. The gravel, which is the kind commonly used in concrete mixtures, was hauled from a pit on the farm.

The job of tamping down the gravel has been assigned to the 60 three year old steers on feed in yard No. 1 near the manager's home. This yard, 96 feet long and 80 feet wide, has been covered with a layer of gravel averaging about 14 inches deep.

In addition the cattle shed "floor," 80 feet long and 36 feet wide, has been covered with gravel two and a half feet deep. Yard No. 2 has been covered with at least a foot of gravel. Driveways leading from the front gates to the barns have been graveled during the last week.

Steers Still on Pasture.

All of the 227 steers, bought to utilize the 1936 crops at the Yorkville farm, still are running in the pastures, except the 60 big steers now on feed in yard No. 1.

Last week one of the mechanical corn pickers was taken to the field and used in harvesting ears that are being fed to the 60 steers. The ears are first crushed and then scattered over silage fed in bunks. The cattle are being started on a daily allowance of approximately eight pounds of crushed corn per steer. The steers are given all the silage they will readily clean up. They run to racks kept filled with alfalfa hay.

Corn chopped up and blown into the silos when they were refilled recently is now being fed to the steers. No more corn will be blown into the silos this fall; the ensilage cutter has been put away for the winter.

Twenty-five of the farm's two year old steers are on pasture north of Fox river. The other 47 two year olds have access to two Woodland pastures south of the river. Both bunches, totaling 72 head, are being given all the silage they will eat. They are consuming small amounts compared with the silage eaten by the 60 steers in the dry lot.

Grass Better Than Clover.

The bluegrass and native grass pastures are of exceptionally fine quality this fall. From several years of experience Clarence Thurow, farm manager, has concluded that steers which are being started on feed at this time of the year do better on grass than on clover.

The 95 short yearling steers are now running in an 80 acre field of fall sown rye. They also have access to a timothy and clover meadow. The rye is about four or five inches tall, furnishing an abundance of grazing. These steers are allowed to run to a stack of oat straw.

"With green rye, clover, timothy, and oat straw to feed on, this is the happiest bunch of steers on the farm," said Mr. Thurow. "These calves would turn up their noses if we would offer them any other kind of feed. The small amount of straw nibbled from the stock by the steers after they have had their fill of the lush green plants in the rye field and meadow serves to keep the animals in excellent condition."

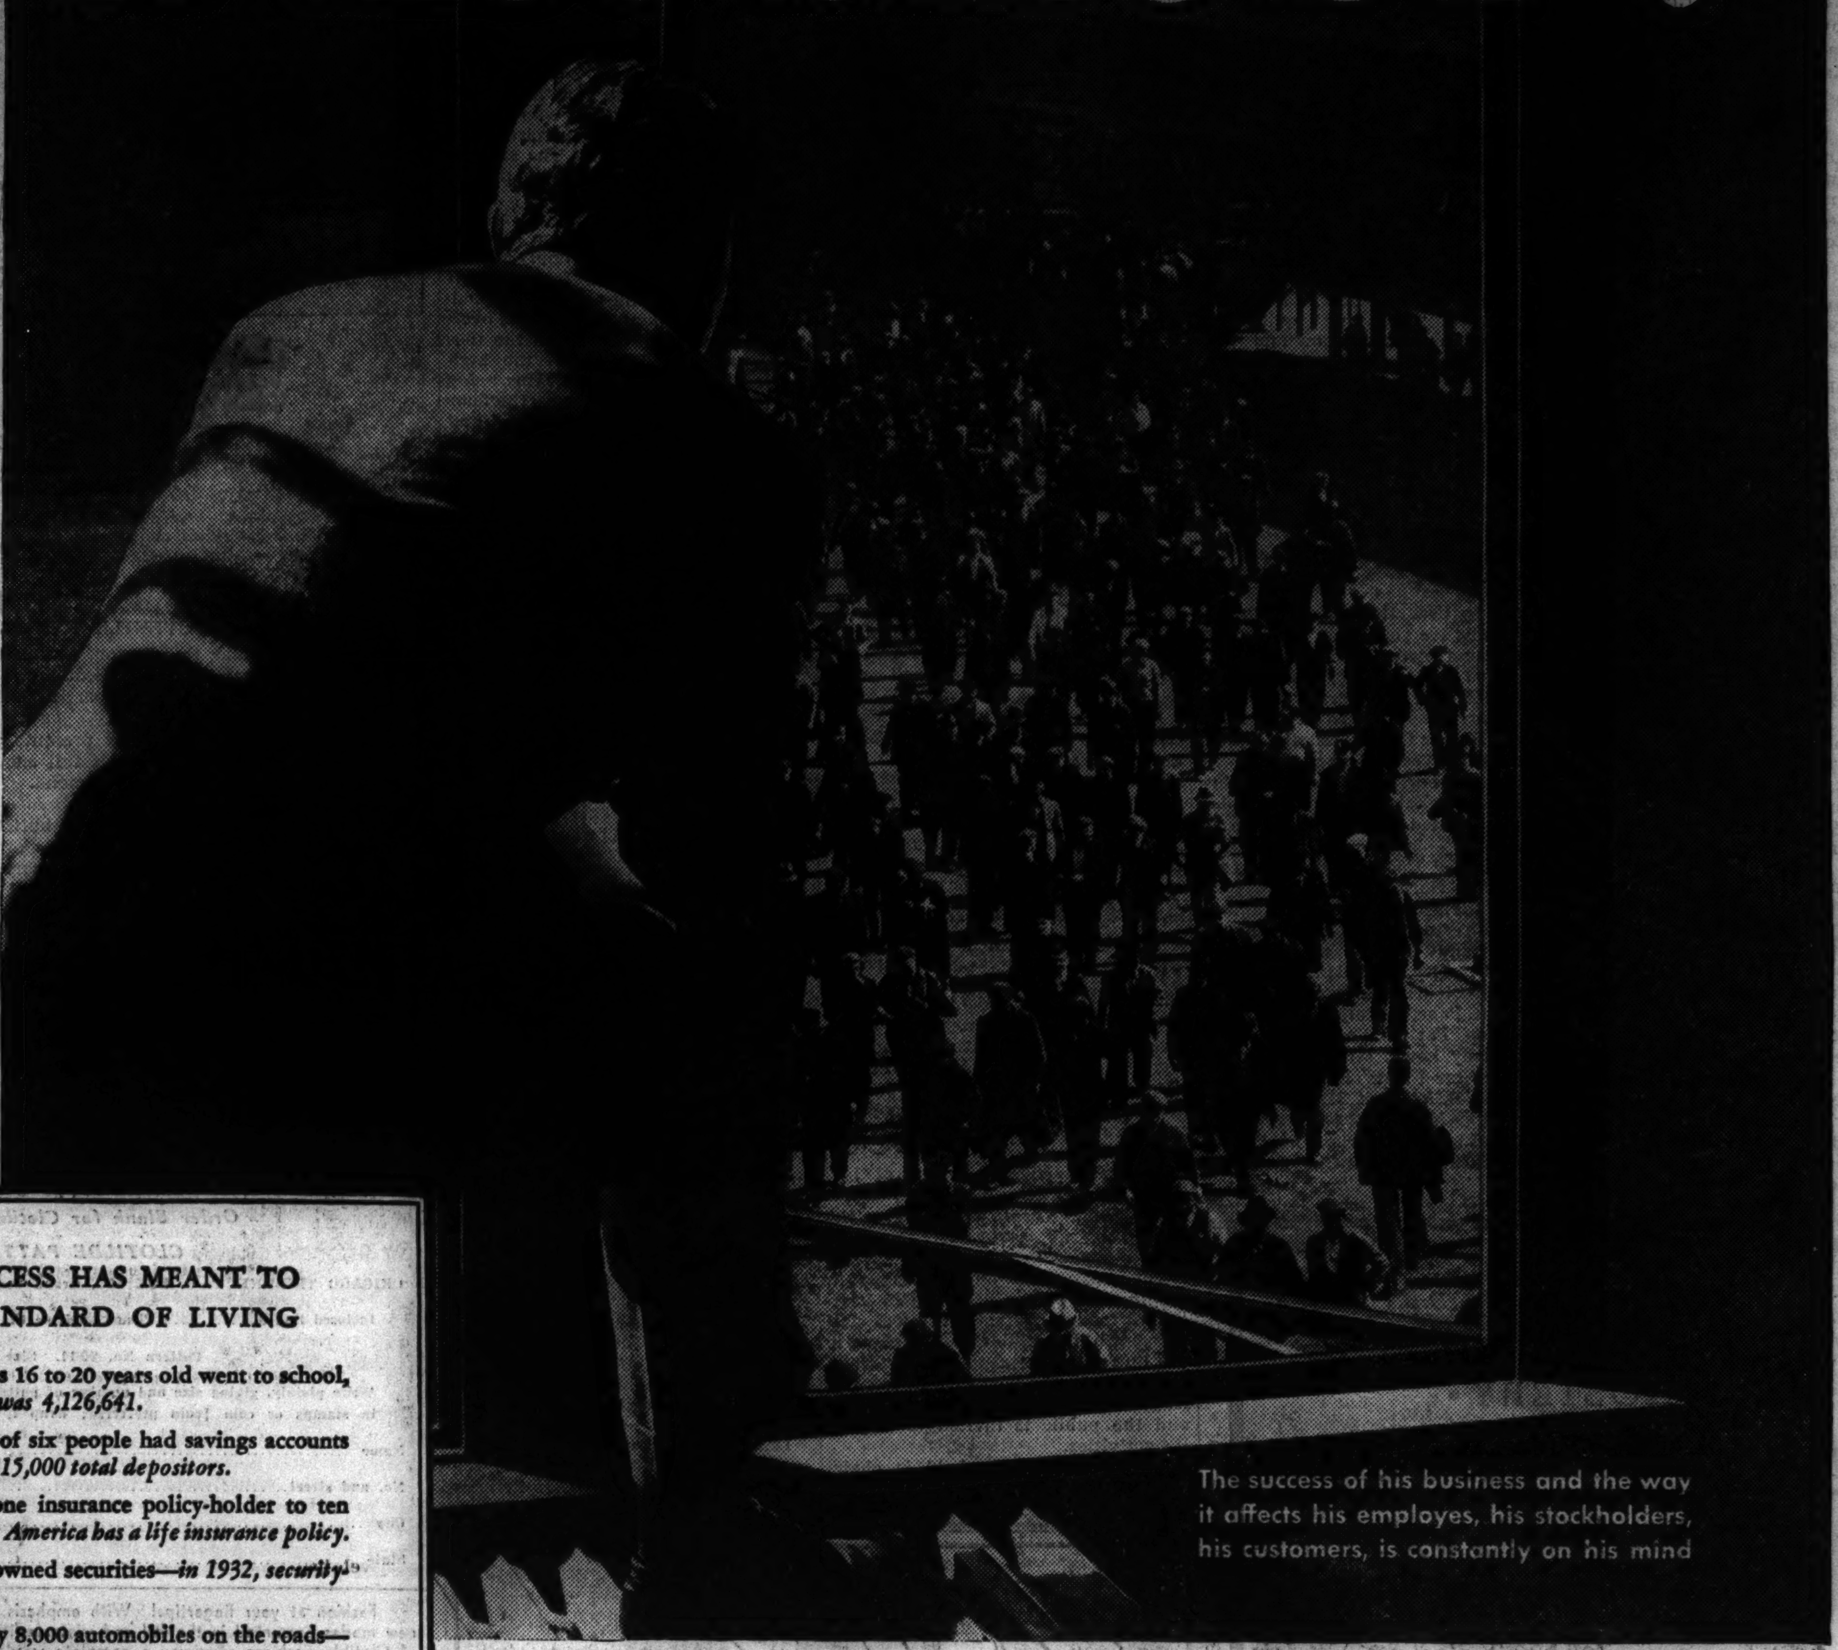
Business Success— is also a "MUST"!



The success of his business and the way it affects his employes, his stockholders, his customers, is constantly on his mind

You can't blink the fact—his success is a "must" for your sake, as well as his own.

Why? Because only a business that takes in more than it pays out can hope to keep going and meet payrolls.

And only a going business can support the flock of other businesses that depend on it for orders to keep their men and machines going.

Finally, only a successful business has the surplus money it takes to work out improvements in products and values which insure future jobs.

The extent to which American private enterprise did dip into reserves during 1930-34—totals by latest estimate some $26,600,000,000.

In other words, industry voluntarily contributed more than twice what the Government spent for "priming the pump"—not to mention the fact that business earned its money, whereas Government money comes from borrowing and taxes.

So also does the illuminating fact that 40,000,000 stockholders and their dependents have a stake in and directly benefit from ownership in American business.

All of these people—all the millions of gainfully employed—all Americans including yourself, no matter where you live, what your work or how you do it—have not merely a casual but an acute meal-time interest in seeing business in this country go ahead!

WHAT BUSINESS SUCCESS HAS MEANT TO THE AMERICAN STANDARD OF LIVING

In 1920, only one out of four persons 16 to 20 years old went to school, total 2,459,000—in 1935 the total was 4,126,641.

Twenty-five years ago only one out of six people had savings accounts—today, it's one out of three, or 41,315,000 total depositors.

Only 35 years ago there was but one insurance policy-holder to ten people—today, every other person in America has a life insurance policy.

Thirty-five years ago, there were only 8,000 automobiles on the roads—today, more than 20,000,000 American families own cars.

There were only 1000 radios in 1920—in 1935, the number of families with radios was 22,869,000.

At the beginning of the century only one person out of 75 had a telephone—in 1936, there is one telephone to every six people.

In 1913, there was one bathtub to 10 people in American towns and cities—fifteen years later there was one to every five people.

Thus have people enjoyed an increasing abundance of things in America, a business nation.

Could government control of industry bring higher wages or better living conditions?

Does communism influence the policies of labor unions?

"Old Ironsides," Charlie Farrell, Dick Arlen, George Bancroft, Wallace Beery; directed by James Cruse.

"Sea Beast," John Barrymore and Dolores Costello; directed by Millard Webb.

"Volga Boatman," Bill Boyd, Elinor Fair; directed by C. B. De Mille.

Individual players nominated for glory in movies of 1926 were John Gilbert, "Big Parade," "La Boheme"; Rudolph Valentino, "The Eagle" and "Son of the Sheik"; Clara Bow, "Man Trap" and "Dancing Mothers"; John Barrymore, "Sea Beast" and "Don Juan"; Adolphe Menjou, "The Grand Duchess and the Waiter"; Lois Moran, "Stella Dallas" and "Padlocked"; May Allison, "Greater Glory" and "Men of Steel"; Gloria Swanson, "Stage Struck" and "Fine Manners"; Emil Jannings, "Variety"; Ramon Novarro, "Ben Hur"; Belle Bennett, "Stella Dallas"; H. B. Warner, "Silence."

Of the stars of 1926 only Menjou and McLaglen remain stars. John Barrymore is in British Columbia trying to restore his health and resume movie work. Novarro divides his time between directing movies in Latin countries and making singing concert tours. Gloria Swanson is waiting—and has been waiting for some time—for a new movie rôle. H. B. Warner appears occasionally.

Gilbert, Valentino, and Belle Bennett are dead. Clara Bow and Lois Moran married, left movies, and recently experienced motherhood. Miss Moran is the wife of Col. Clarence Young of the trans-Pacific clipper plane division of Pan-American Airways. May Allison retired. Emil Jannings returned to Germany and few of the movies he has made there have reached this country.

All the central characters in "The Big Parade" have died. Francis X. Bushman, Carl Myers, and May MacAvoy of "Ben Hur" quit films. Kathleen Key appears now and then, in minor rôles. George Bancroft of "Old Ironsides" dropped out for two years during litigation with his first wife, but is beginning feature work again. Lya da Putti of "Variety" died. Elinor Fair, star in "Volga Boatman," was saved from eviction last month when her two former husbands, Bill Boyd and Tommy Daniels, made up a pool of cash. She has been doing bits.

Looking over the "Big Shots" of 1931—only five years ago, some silent, some sound pictures, are found. The ten voted the year's best in the national poll and the stars were:

"Cimarron," Richard Dix, Irene Dunne, Buster Collier, Estelle Taylor; directed by Wesley Ruggles.

"Skippy," Jackie Cooper, Jackie Searl, Bobby Coogan, Mitzie Green; directed by Norman Taurog.

Other players considered outstanding in 1931 were Will Rogers, "Lightnin'" "A Connecticut Yankee"; Warner Baxter, "Daddy Long Legs," "Cisco Kid"; Edmund Lowe, "Cisco Kid," "Trans-Atlantic"; Constance Bennett, "Easiest Way"; Joan Crawford, "Dance," "Within the Law"; Charlotte Greenwood, "Parlor, Bedroom and Bath"; Barbara Stanwyck, "Illicit," "Night Nurse"; Lawrence Tibbett, "Cuban Love Song," 'The Southerner."

Of these luminaries of 1931 Marie Dressler, Will Rogers, and Director Hill died; Helen Hayes, Charlotte Greenwood, and Estelle Taylor quit movies for the stage; Marjorie Rambeau and Virginia Cherrill married and retired, and Buster Collier became a writer.

Tibbett alternates in opera and movies and is a star in each. O'Brien has become a bigger star in 1936 than in 1931.

Start Observance of Hearing Week in Chicago Today

The widespread extent of defective hearing will be emphasized this week in programs of a constructive educational character as a part of National Hearing week. Chicago's observance will be sponsored by the Chicago League for the Hard of Hearing, which will open at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon a daily series of lip reading demonstrations on the first floor at 80-84 East Randolph street.

The work done by the league in helping the person of defective hearing to make normal adjustment will be shown in exhibits accompanying the lip reading demonstrations. Open house will also be held at the league's offices at 64 East Lake street and the public is invited to inspect its activities.

Stretching Is Simple Means of Exercising

Done Daily, It Tones Body and Slenderizes.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

About six weeks ago a humorous friend asked if any exercise could be recommended for her that wouldn't be too hard on her "weary frame and bones," as she put it. Not fat, she was fairly bulgy in spots, complaining chiefly logginess, only she called it downright laziness. I presented her with the stretching exercises.

I met her again the other evening. Nobody could have told me the woman would have shown such improvement in so short a time. She actually had pep and a gay vitality that increased her natural charms greatly, for she is one of those darlings for whom everybody roots at mention of her name.

She stepped up so much more lithely, for one thing, and her figure even had been planed down with surprising neatness. Of course, she did the stretching work with the intention of surprising and was more than just a once daily performer.

I present her case for the benefit of so many other women who honestly do not feel up to exercise as it is ordinarily presented. The stretching exercises simply do not tire or strain.

You don't even have to go through any fancy movements. Simply stretch and stretch until you feel yourself drawn up and taller. Do it standing, walking around, with hands overhead, if you can. Get up on the toes and simply stretch up to the high heavens with upraised arms. My friend, however, got down on the floor three times a day and stretched and stretched from tip to toe a couple of dozen times each session.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Grandma knew a thing or two, even if her dressing table did boast no more than a brush [she used it, too] and comb, a mirror, and perhaps a tiny vial of the perfume grandpa brought back from his trip to New York. One of her old standbys was oatmeal. It softened and refined, and made her skin velvety and smooth. And with all our new-fangled ways of doing things, and new things to do them with, it's still hard to beat this original recipe for a facial.

There is a new oatmeal base product on the market that has several uses as a beauty aid. First of all, it's a fine water softener. A moderate handful in the wash basin makes the suds float merrily on top as you wash your hands.

And it makes a grand and very simple facial, much less messy than the one grandma used, but every whit as effective. You simply make a thin paste by adding a few drops of warm water to the powder and smooth it over the skin. When it dries, rinse it off with warm water, finish with cold water—and the face emerging from the towel is cleaner and softer than you'd believe possible after only one such treatment.

This product has a somewhat heavy fragrance which defies our powers of description. It comes in a generous can, is not expensive, and you'll find it in at least one Chicago shop.

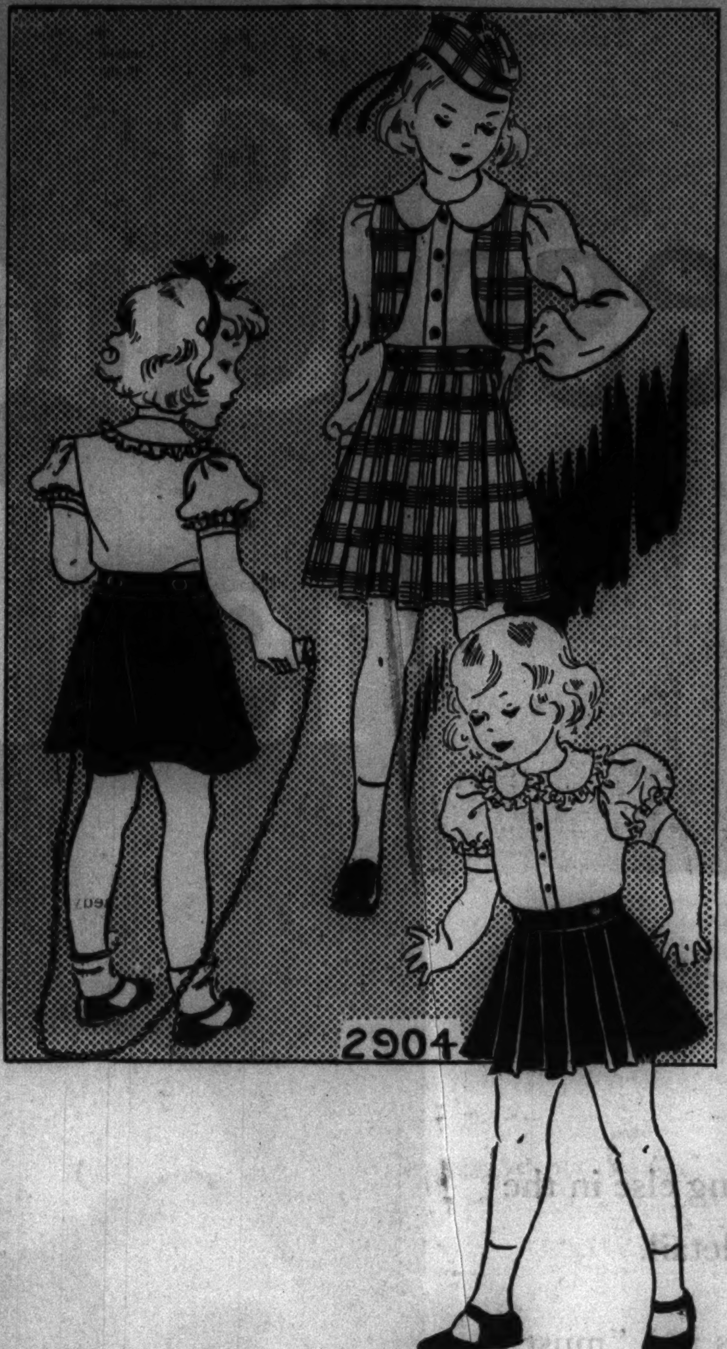
Designed for Gay Plaids



JUVENILE SCHOOL TOGS.

Plaids are popular this season, especially those deriving their inspiration from the colorful clans of Scotland. Smart women everywhere are appearing in gay plaids, yet what particular fashion could be more becoming to little girls?

The pattern illustrated today presents plaid in the Scotch manner of styling. The little plaited skirt is full enough to resemble kilts, and the little hat is as Scotch as Loch Lomond. [By the way, this one pattern includes the little bonnet.]

The swing skirt with box plaits is buttoned to the plain woolen blouse which has a front closing. The sleeves of the shirtwaist are full at the shoulders and may be either long or short. The collar is the Peter Pan type, and may be either plain or enhanced by dainty lace edging.

The bolero is of the same plaid woolen as the skirt, and is cut away so as not to conceal the dainty little blouse.

Velveteen, in a shade to match the buttons and to harmonize with the colors in the plaid, is used to trim the hat. The original ensemble made from this pattern features navy blue and red plaid for the skirt jacket, and hat, with plain navy for the blouse. Any gay color scheme is suitable to this model and to the tastes of juveniles.

If you wish, the skirt may be of plain woolen or velveteen, in case little daughter does not care for plaids.

Style No. 2904 is designed for sizes 4, 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. Size 8 requires 1⅛ yards of 39 inch material for hat, bolero and skirt, and ⅝ yard of 35 inch lining for the bolero. The separate waist requires 1¼ yards of 39 inch material.

Love of Beauty, Order Born in Some Children

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Such a love of beauty and order is born into some children that it expresses itself in a revulsion of feeling against any ugliness and disorder that may be thrust upon them. Or some aesthetic spark may have been struck, early in life, which has burst into a low flame that flares up when that child has grown old enough to live a life of its own, and create its own material environment.

Ordinarily, though, good taste and a love of beauty are developed in a child by her early surroundings. If your child is used to beauty, to a home furnished in good taste, the chances are that she will crave those things when she grows old enough to make her own choices.

It does not take much money to get charming results in interior decoration. Lovely materials may be bought inexpensively. If you're a good shopper, you can get "good buys" in the best shops. I've bought imported chintzes as low as 39c and 19c a yard—odd lengths that were being closed out. And paint works magic in both coloring and restoring surfaces to furniture. Patience, ingenuity, and hard work can do wonders.

Now to finish the subject discussed yesterday: Suggestions for decorating children's rooms.

Girls, the usual run of them, are more interested than boys in this matter. Encourage your daughters to take some part in the decorating and furnishing of their bedrooms, in the choice of colors and in the making, as well as the selection of accessories.

You will find that boys are strong for "plainness," that they usually don't care for antiques just because they're antiques, that they dislike the Victorian period, that Colonial or early American furnishings please them, and that they have a decided predilection for modern pieces.

Youth Usually Prefers Love to Security

Marriage for Romance Holds Struggle, Also Joy.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Cecilia tells of a persistent suitor for whom, at present, she has no particular affection. The man urges her to marry him, promising her that love will come after they are wed.

"Should I take a chance on marrying without love? Or, should I wait for some one else? The man is a most reliable person, with a good position and plenty of experience with the world. He is years older than I am. I am just past 20, without much experience with the opposite sex."

If you were 10 years older we might suggest that you take a chance on love unfolding with marriage to a good and kind mate. But 20 is pretty young to gamble on the promise. We have known women who married without feeling the great passion for the man they married, but to feel later that they were lucky in the choice made. We think of two women of our immediate acquaintance who frankly confess not to having been deeply in love with their mates before marriage. But these men turned out to be uncommonly fine husbands and both women thank their lucky stars that fate ruled them into the position they now enjoy.

Twenty, however, is such an immature age. The man in your particular case, Cecilia, might be a perfect darling and still you might regret later that you had not given yourself a bit more of a fling.

Besides, Cecilia, if the man is years older, of course he can give you more than a boy more nearly your own age. The younger man, however, is tomorrow's successful man and it is much nicer to be married to a youth of your own era.

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

THE SINGLE RAISE.

The presence of a plus value or a five card length in another suit, or a four card length in the suit containing the one and one-half honor tricks, brings the hand up to standard required for a raise.

♠65 ♥AQ7 ♦J1043 ♣8542 Raise

♠65 ♥AQ7 ♦97643 ♣854 Raise

♠65 ♥KQJ7 ♦9764 ♣854 Raise

[b] One plus honor trick when the strength is divided among three suits and the hand as a whole contains four or more honor cards.

♠K103 ♥J854 ♦J6 ♣Q1072

♠Q75 ♥Q964 ♦Q43 ♣Q94

Change one of the suits to J 10 4, and the actual total falls below one honor trick yet, due to the increased value of the honors opposite a strong hand, the raise should be given.

[c] One-plus honor trick in two suits, provided the hand contains a five card suit headed by the queen or any higher card.

North	East	South	West
1 club	Pass	1 heart	Pass
3 hearts	Pass	4 spades	Pass
5 no trump	Pass	7 hts. [final contract]

The one club opening, one heart response, and three heart raise all are automatic. The four spade asking bid, however, starts to work a machine of such precision that errors are virtually out of the question. North finds the golden opportunity to disclose his precise ace holding and spade distribution at one fell swoop. Five no trump, as an answer to an asking bid, shows second [or first] round control of the asked suit and three aces, exactly what North held. After that response South virtually could count thirteen tricks. North's advertised diamond and club aces would control the opening lead in either suit and the club ace would provide discarding facility for South's losing diamond. North must have at least four hearts for his jump raise and, therefore, whether his second round control was a singleton or the king, the losers in South's suit almost certainly could be ruffed out. There was precisely one type of hand that North might hold that would jeopardize a grand slam, such a hand as ♠Kxx ♥Axxx ♦AJ10x ♣Ax

But even with this [certainly not so likely as a hand containing any one of these spade combinations: K x, KQ, KQx, or a singleton] the contract still might be made on a finesse. Certainly a grand slam became an odds-on choice the moment North responded to four spades with five no trump.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Hocky Season Near; Devotees Planning Parties

James B. Forgans Arrange Two Events for Debs.

BY JUDITH CASS.

TO NUMEROUS Chicagoans the winter months mean hocky, just as the summer means tennis, and autumn football. For these enthusiasts Thursday, Nov. 5, already is circled in red on their calendars, figuratively speaking at least, since the hocky season opens that night with a match between Blackhawks and the New York Americans. From then until the middle of March most Sunday evenings and almost as many Thursdays will be reserved for exciting sessions at the Stadium.

There is particular enthusiasm for the game among the younger generation of fans, and even before the season has opened a number of parties have been planned. The James B. Forgans already have arranged one for Dec. 20, when they will entertain for Miss Marian Farwell, the Albert Day Farwells' debutante daughter, who will be at home then from Sarah Lawrence college for the Christmas holidays. The Forgans will take their young guests to the Casino for dinner before the game. They are planning a similar party for Miss Ellen Adair Orr and Miss Judy Butler in January.

John Paul Wellings Reserve Dates for Parties.

The John Paul Wellings have reserved Nov. 29 and Jan. 1 for parties. Their daughters, Miss Harriet and Miss Mary Paul, will be at home for vacations then from Vassar. The Donald R. McLennans are taking 24 guests to the opening match Nov. 5. The Huntington B. Henrys and their debutante daughter, Miss Annie May, are among the most interested followers of the game, and their box is certain to be filled with young people for about every match during the season. The Alfred C. Castles also have a box for the season, and no doubt will be entertaining for their debutante daughters, Miss Josephine and Miss Caroline Castle, when they return from Vassar for the holidays.

Other season boxholders are the George A. Richardsons, Mr. and Mrs. Potter Palmer III., the Fred A. Poors, Miss Margaret Conover, the A. Watson Armours, James Norris and the junior James Norrises, the Thorne Donnelleys, the T. Philip Swifts, the Frederic Burnhams, Nathan B. Swift, the Solomon A. Smiths, the Robert A. Gardners, the Lester Armours, the George F. Henneberrys, the Charles Y. Freemans, John Wentworth, Frank H. Armstrong II., Robert F. Carr, and the William M. Spencers.

An engagement of interest being announced today is that of Mrs. Harriet May Warren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. May, to Carll Sinclair Downs of Chicago, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Downs of Winchester, Mass. Mrs. Warren and Mr. Downs will be married next Saturday afternoon in the apartment of her parents in the Ambassador East. It will be a very quiet ceremony, attended by only the family, including the bride's 8 and 6 year old sons, Robert and John May Warren. Mr. and Mrs. Downs will be at home in the Marshall Field Garden apartments after a brief wedding trip.

Junior League Displays Table Settings Tomorrow.

Twenty-three of the Junior league's talented and artistic members are occupied today setting tables with exciting and thrilling new linens, china and silverware, and the results of their efforts will be displayed tomorrow in Tatman's on North Michigan avenue. Miss Veronese Beatty is in charge of the display, which is her initial program as the new chairman of the league's arts and interests committee.

Tomorrow the league is inviting its friends to come and see the tables, and to vote for the one they like the best. Prizes will be awarded to the artists who have set the most popular table.

Miss Beatty's new sister-in-law, Mrs. Ross J. Beautty Jr., the former Janet Ayer, and Mrs. Joseph E. Nolan are arranging one of the tables. Mrs. Beatty is settling in her own apartment on the near north side so, of course, table decorations as well as more general home decoration are of prime importance to her now.

Mrs. Ambrose C. Cramer is doing a table by herself, but the other ten tables will have the careful attention of two young women each. They are, in pairs, Mrs. William M. Collins Jr. and her sister, Mrs. Solomon B. Smith; Miss Frances Weary and Mrs. Frank S. Sims; Miss Helen Bell and Mrs. W. English Walling II.; Mrs. George Senseney and Mrs. Philip Maher; Mrs. Ernest Alfred Hamill II. and Miss Emeline Bush, who will be a bride this winter; Mrs. Theron Chapman and Miss Honor Merrell; Mrs. Louis E. Hart Jr. and Mrs. Louis C. Sudler; Mrs. Roger D. Shaw and her sister-in-law, Mrs. John I. Shaw; Mrs. Charles R. Lindsay III. and Mrs. Nathaniel Owings, and Mrs. Charles H. G. Kimball, president of "Eee-Nah"—Correction—Stein—Jury—Wife.

THE usual argument over whether she pronounces it "Eye-nah" or "Eee-nah" comes to the fore with the arrival of the blonde and lovely Ina Claire in town yesterday to open, with Osgood Perkins, tonight in "End of Summer" at the Erlanger. Miss Claire answers the question herself for you. "My mother called me 'Eye-nah.' On the continent and in England every one called me 'Eee-nah.' I like Eee-nah better, as it is less harsh."

"How ardently hurry comes too late.

"If he can when he can as he can nine.

"Donald and Donald is all in one time.

THE current political concentration even affected the jury, nightly made up of Chicagoans, in "The Night of January 16," at the Selwyn the other night. The twelve good men and true arrived at a quick decision after filing out, and the rest of the time off-stage they spent taking a straw vote for President.

DIMITRI ONOFREI, the San Carlo Opera company tenor, walked into the Auditorium theater lobby carrying an opera costume coat over his arm. Asked why he was taking it home, he answered: "Tonight Bianca Saroya is the prima donna, but tomorrow she is Mrs. Onofrei and then she is going to mend it."

'Samson' Sung and Acted Well by San Carlans

Difficulties of Time and Space Overcome.

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The San Carlo Opera company, approaching the end of its fall season at the Auditorium, devoted last evening to a mounting of one of the more difficult items of the standard répertoire, Saint-Saëns' spirited and brightly colored "Samson and Delilah."

Not in its music, though that is tricky enough, does the main difficulty of "Samson" lie. The problem of presenting a tale three thousand years removed in time and twice that figure in miles is far more ticklish than the mere matter of smoothing out a passage whose accents come on the off beat.

Principals, chorus and ballet must content themselves with motions and gestures of a universal, non-typical character. The slightest suggestion of the present, of 1936, in an attitude or even a glance might set you wondering how one of these Philistine maidens would look in a gray tweed swagger coat. And where such speculation begins, all versimilitude ends.

Mindful of the thousand opportunities for unscheduled comedy in an opera of this sort, the San Carlo people gave serious thought to the problems involved, and succeeded in turning in a nice performance. All of the maneuvers were well rehersed, the row between Samson and Abimelech was convincing. There was beauty of a genuine sort even in that most dangerous of scenes, where the temple girls issue into the square to suggest to Samson in the subtle nuances of the dance that there are other delights in life as real in their way as the joys of fasting and study to which he is addicted.

The biblical opera had as principals Ina Bourskaya and Aroldo Lindi. The three most important of the secondary rôles went to Mostyn Thomas, Stefan Kozakevich and Harold Kravitt.

A performance of "La Bohême" tonight will end the company's present stand. The Puccini work has been chosen by Northwestern university for the first of the downtown sessions of its history and enjoyment of music course. There are seats available also for the general public.

Harriet Eells has had considerable experience in the spoken drama. When the comely young singer gave a Studebaker theater recital yesterday afternoon she demonstrated the value to an artist of the assurance and poise which such stage training can give.

That business of lounging at ease against the piano and singing lyric songs as if she meant them, is a most refreshing procedure. Genuine intimacy between musician and audience results from this praiseworthy informality. The vividness and depth of her interpretations are increased by a lack of all sense of stiffness.

A bouquet to Miss Eells for her pleasant, unassuming voice. She does not try to display it for its own sake, but fits its timbre skilfully to the particular emotional state with which she is at the moment concerned. Another bouquet for aggressive and intelligent program making. There was a Moussorgsky group in English, with generous helpings of German lieder from the best work of both 19th and 20th century craftsmen.

Dorothy Manor's recital at the Goodman [a debut, by the way] suffered to some extent from the young soprano's nervousness. If only she would relax, allow herself to be carried away by the song, and forget that there is an audience out front!

Good Morning!

So often have Miss Boland and Mr. Ruggles been co-starred as Mr. and Mrs. that their fans have grown to think of them as really married. So far as that's concerned, both players have laughingly admitted that sometimes they feel as if they were. But—separations come to even the most successful of teams, and now here's Mary not only minus her Charles, but in a new sort of rôle—a sort of Tugboat Annie affair that doesn't suit her. [Producers just won't be content to let well enough alone, will they?]

For twenty-five years the Mary Grady of this opus has run a chowder shop on the San Francisco waterfront. She is known as "the angel of the waterfront" because of her helping hand proclivities, and her place is the most popular and prosperous in the vicinity.

For a long, weary time the Widow Grady has awaited the return of a prodigal son who had deserted her in early boyhood. . . . During a celebration in honor of her twenty-fifth year on the waterfront she learns that the missing Denny has supposedly reappeared and is in jail, charged with banditry and assault to kill. If the victim dies, as seems likely, the latter charge will turn into one for murder. . . .

IS the lad really Denny?

If not—who IS?

And then what?

I shall let the picture answer these questions for you.

Miss Boland does conscientious work—to no avail. Widows Grady are not her meat. Julie Haydon is a posey piece as the adopted daughter. Donald Woods plays Denny nicely. . . . But the players I liked best were Wallace Ford as Steve, and two not mentioned in the cast—Helen Flint as a lady of easy morals and the old fellow who plays a ship's captain.

The picture has too many closeups of players badly made up, and is in most other respects nothing to brag of.

Emanuel Mandel's Widow Observes Her 88th Birthday Quietly

Mrs. Babette Mandel, widow of Emanuel Mandel, one of the three founders of Mandel Brothers' department store, whose life has been closely connected with the greatest period of Chicago's growth, observed her 88th birthday yesterday in her home at 130 Roger Williams avenue, Highland Park. At her own request Mrs. Mandel spent the day quietly with a few members of her immediate family.

As a child of 4 Mrs. Mandel came to Chicago with her parents, the Emmanuel Franks, and ten other children from Germany, after a stormy thirty day crossing of the Atlantic ocean in a sailing vessel. Six months before the great fire of 1871 she married Mr. Mandel.

Still active and alert Mrs. Mandel maintains a keen interest in world events as well as her many philanthropies. She is a niece of the late Michael Reese, who endowed the hospital of that name. Mrs. Mandel established the Babette and Emanuel Mandel free clinic there.

Mrs. Mandel lives with her only surviving child, Edwin F., president of the department store. She has three grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Sweaters Get Attention of Fashion World

Young Folk Will Like New Jersey Blouses.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Good fashion finds for the younger shoppers. Stunning jersey blouses to wear with odd skirts or as a contrast under all the popular separate jackets. Short sleeves or long sleeves, interesting necklines, lots of pockets on the chest and hiplines, and every color you can ask for, with old gold leading in popularity.

All the glittering metallics are hung about for the party going aggregation. And these, too, come with short sleeves, with draped and tucked long sleeves, with short, flippant little peplums, or long swinging affairs.

Fancy sweaters are distantly related to the utilitarian twin outfits of the last two seasons. Imports, giddy things blazing with cut-out hearts, with Alpine flowers and oak leaves; sleeveless felt vests likewise adorned with sentimental trifles of hearts and flowers, but a grand find after months of being practical. Tyrolean sweaters all are short, perk little things of the most vivid colors and the trimmings are even brighter than the domestic product.

More color ideas are provided by the vastly diverting belts of felt to go with black or other dark toned wool or silk dresses. They are moderately priced, have the same skittish looking pasted-on effect trimmings, even to hearts and funny looking flowers, and the color contrasts are beyond description.

We don't want to be too far ahead of the parade, but all the best ski outfits are being unpacked in the best sports shops, for skiing this winter will top all the recreations, judging by the previews of clothes.

We saw one ski sweater that ought to keep the chilliest soul in cozy comfort. It is of fire truck red, minus any sleeves, snug and trim around the neckline and zippered up each side seam, the better to hug you warmly, so they say.

No reason at all why it couldn't be worn to a football game or any other outdoor event, with or without the excuse of snow. Other ski clothes are well worth the early shopper's attention for at least one expedition.

The Black Automatic

By William Byron Mowery

SYNOPSIS.

Inspector Noel Irving of the Canadian mounted dynamites the hideout of Frank Rocco, master criminal, not knowing two women were with him. Noel is discharged, disgraced, while Rocco becomes a glorified legend. Noel receives a midnight call in Winnipeg from a young stranger who calls himself Jimmy and asks Noel to be his partner in a secret enterprise and to help him outwit an unknown gang who are pursuing him. While they are talking Jimmy is shot dead. Noel sets out to clear his name and avenge Jimmy's murder. In Fort McMurray, where Noel flies in a monoplane which was Jimmy's, he introduces himself as Lanier, a prospector. He learns Jimmy's headquarters were at Manitou. Noel meets Harla De Long, a research worker for the Indian bureau and Jimmy's sister. Noel reluctantly flies her to Manitou. Harla recognizes the plane as Jimmy's and grows suspicious of Noel. Noel fears that Harla would be endangered if he told her the truth. On the trip to Manitou they are attacked by a mysterious plane and forced to land in the swampy wilderness. They are picked up by a river steamer bound for Manitou. On board is Raphael Flood, whose advances Harla resents, and whom Noel suspects to be the gang's leader. In Manitou, expecting an attack in the night from Flood, Noel rigs up a dummy in his bed and waits outside. Instead of Flood he sees Harla go into his cabin with a gun. She takes aim at the cot but is unable to fire. Noel is forced to tell her the truth. Tah-Gomaugh brings word of an outbreak of smallpox in a remote Indian village. Noel and Harla fly there with aid.

INSTALMENT XXXI.

WHITE MEN'S MAGIC.

As Noel stared around at the queer stone houses, the cooking pits, the ritual "sun stones," the crude pottery and primitive artifacts of this primitive band, an eerie sensation, weird, almost frightening, crept over him. The whole scene around him seemed unreal—touched with the strangeness of magic. He felt he was standing in an old stone town of a stone age folk; that in coming from that airplane up the black stone path to this abode of a hunting and fishing people he had walked out of the modern present, walked back across history and human progress into an ancient mound builder village, exactly as Harla once had said.

The Dinokui men and women left the kozgee and dwellings and came near, and Tah-Gomaugh called to them, repeating some guttural phrase over and over. With no sign either of friendliness or hostility, they kept coming closer and closer till they were standing in a circle around Noel and Harla.

Tall and muscular, with coarse black hair and red copper skin, they looked to Noel not unlike modern Crees or Assiniboines of pure stock. The men, bare from the waist up, wore caribou lether trousers and pointed moccasins and carried daggers of black obsidian at their belts. The women were clad in shirt and trousers of some whitish skin; their quilled moccasins were dyed a pretty vermilion, and all of them wore hammer-wrought ornaments of raw virgin silver.

After starting sharply at Noel and listening to Tah-Gomaugh's explanations, one of the men, apparently a tyee or chief, raised his hand and gave a little harangue to the rest of the group.

"What did he say, Tah-Gomaugh?" Noel asked, trying to shake off the eerie dreamlike feeling which lay upon him like a spell.

"He say you welcome. He say you come as friend. How know? He say no man take his squaw 'long on war trail."

Though the tyee's premise was somewhat askew, Noel was vastly relieved at his conclusion.

"Tell them," he bade Tah-Gomaugh, "that we have medicine for their sickness. Tell those who are still well that we are going to vaccinate them so that——"

Harla spoke up: "They'll never understand that, Noel. Medicine and vaccine mean nothing to them." She instructed Tah-Gomaugh: "Tell them that we have little boxes full of powerful magic. Tell them that the sorcerers of the white man have fashioned a hollow needle filled with friendly familiars and that the needle's burning point will let those familiars into their blood. Tell them they should come out of their houses; that the evil familiars of their sickness are withered by the lord sun."

She turned to Noel. "That's the way you've got to talk to get across. Everything that you do here, make a ritual of it. And don't break into any of their superstitions. If we appear to be forcing alien ideas on them, they'll likely blame the very next death on us and drive us away."

In the Dinokui tongue, sounding mostly like clicks and grunts, Tah-Gomaugh began speaking to them as Harla had instructed. Watching their reactions, Noel speedily saw that her approach to them was the dead right approach. They understood this talk about magic and familiars. Crowding closer they listened with bated breath, and their faces, weary and haggard, lit up with a new hope with a childlike faith that their visitors' magic would deliver them.

Even before Tah-Gomaugh finished speaking, one of the younger women, carrying in her arms a little tot of three, evidently her first born, stepped out of the group and came up to Harla, touched Harla's arm and pointed at the child and said something in low imploring voice. Noel knew that she was begging Harla to save the tot. Though the woman was so sick that she could scarcely stand, she asked nothing for herself, no help or magic—only a healing touch for her child.

For twelve hours on end, without rest and with only a few bites to eat, Noel plowed through one task after another down at his part of the village.

After much persuasion he induced the men to leave the dark chill kozgee; and under the pines behind it he set up an open air camp, making pallets of pine boughs and bighorn robes. With elaborate ritual he vaccinated all those who had not yet taken sick. He talked Tah-Gomaugh's older brother and another man into stooping to "squaw work," and had them prepare caribou broth and other proper food at one of the cooking pits.

By evening he had straightened up the lower camp well enough that some one else could take it in charge, and he decided to whip back to Manitou when Strap went. With Flood so scared, so certain to take some drastic step, these hours were critical.

Near seven o'clock Thomkins came down with word that Harla wished to see him. Thinking that she might be laying some plan to get back to Manitou herself, he knocked off work and walked up to the stone cross where Strap was cooking supper for himself and Thomkins and Brannigan.

"She's over yon," Strap informed, jerking a thumb toward the canoe landing. "Tea for two, you lucky devil. Us plain bozos don't rate. Scram or I'll throw some soup on you."

Wondering what Strap meant, Noel walked across to the river bank and found Harla waiting there. At the edge of a pine clump she had spread a supper for herself and him on the carpet of needles. She had prepared the meal herself and had gone to considerable trouble to make it nice, laying a blanket for tablecloth and even gathering a cluster of arctic poppies.

If he could possibly have done it, Noel would have excused himself and got away from there. All day he had studiously avoided Harla on the principle of "out of sight, out of mind." And now, this supper with her, a half hour ordeal—and short of wounding her unthinkably, he would have to go through with it.

They sat down and Harla poured tea for him. He knew that this would be their last meal together and he forced himself to be friendly, in the old way. She seemed pathetically eager to make atonement for the last fortnight. Again and again he caught her looking at him oddly across the poppy bouquet as though she sensed his change toward her and was badly cut up by it.

"Why I wanted to see you alone, Noel," she said, seeking excuse for the privacy of this supper for two, "I found out something awf'ly important this afternoon. It's about this contagion—how it ever struck this isolated band. Besides those mountain barriers, this basin and a big block of surrounding territory is the Dinokui preserve. It's rigidly barred against whites and metis and alien Indians. The Indian bureau had it made defendu by an order in council."

"What! Defendu?" Noel echoed, astonished.

BY MARY MEADE.

If the scientists who are busying themselves deodorizing onions and limburger cheese would turn their efforts upon sauerkraut for a time, sauerkraut packers would have to double their output, because the housewife has only one objection to this nutritious food. It has an odor.

And so spareribs and sauerkraut must be served only on evenings when nothing special has been planned and no company is expected. Although, to be sure, this almost always is the evening the clergyman or the president of the school board chooses to call.

My advice in such a case is, be nonchalant. Tell the clergyman or the board president about the delicious sauerkraut you had for supper, and that you serve it often to the children because it contains vitamins A, B, and C, and the minerals calcium, phosphorus and iron [it does!] and is consequently good for them. And when you see that glitter in the minister's or the board president's eye, invite him to pull his chair up to the table and have a dish of sauerkraut.

Then have another plateful yourself, if you haven't already eaten too much. The ice thus will be completely broken and you and your guest will become chummy over the sauerkraut. And if he doesn't forget to ask for that subscription to the foreign mission society or the school library, you will forget that you had any objection to giving it.

Cool weather is sauerkraut time. Eat it raw or cooked. Drink cocktails made with sauerkraut juice and a little lemon juice, or with equal parts of sauerkraut juice and tomato juice, seasoned with a little salt and paprika. Cook it with spareribs frankfurters, brisket of beef, or pork sausage. Stuff Spanish onions with a meat-crum-sauerkraut filling and bake them. You'll like either of these recipes, especially the first one, which is quite unusual.

Sauerkraut Roast.

2 cups sauerkraut
1 cup ground peanuts
1 chopped onion
1 cup grated American cheese
1 cup bread or cracker crums
1 tablespoon salad oil or other fat
Salt, pepper, sage

Combine all ingredients and moisten with water or tomato juice. Shape into a loaf and bake for 30 minutes in a moderate [350 degrees] oven. Serve with tomato sauce.

Sauerkraut Stuffed Onions.

6 onions
1 cup sauerkraut
⅓ cup soft bread crums
⅓ cup minced leftover meat
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon paprika

Peel the onions, and scoop out from the top a portion of the center. Parboil the onion cases for 5 minutes, then remove from water and turn them upside down to drain. Mix the scooped out portions, which have been minced, with the other ingredients and fill the onion shells heaping full. Sprinkle crushed crums over the top. Place the stuffed onions in a covered baking dish with a little water in it, and bake them in a 350 degree oven until tender. Remove the cover for the last 5 minutes to permit browning.

Double Windmill.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Double Windmill" is one of those old Pennsylvania Dutch patterns which enjoyed popularity not only among the early settlers, but among present day quilt makers. It first was pieced in Philadelphia, as early as 1800, in two shades of blue, white, and red. The blocks are set together with alternate blocks of white, and the entire quilt is finished with a half inch binding for a border. With each block measuring 10 inches square, the over-all dimensions of the coverlet are 90 by 90 inches.

Hocky Season Near; Devotees Planning Parties

James B. Forgans Arrange Two Events for Debs.

Eugenie Hoyne de Bronkart Weds at Home in East.

From New York comes the news that the marriage of Miss Eugenie Hoyne de Bronkart, daughter of Eugene de Bronkart of Rye, formerly of Chicago, to James Gerard Greims of Washington was performed Saturday at the home of her father. The ceremony was read by the Rev. Carl B. Bare, pastor of the Rye Presbyterian church.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attended by her sister, Miss Elinor H. de Bronkart, and her cousin, Miss Martha Ann Rogers of Omaha, Neb. Arthur Talcott of Keswick, Va., was best man.

Mr. Greims and his bride will spend the winter in Florida and Bermuda, after which they will reside in Ridgefield, Conn.

The bride was introduced to society this season. Her mother, the late Mrs. Elinor Van Gelder Davies de Bronkart, was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Davies of New York. Mrs. Greims is a granddaughter of the late Gustave Cudell de Bronkart, one time Belgian minister to the United States, and of Mrs. Eugenie Hoyne de Bronkart of Chicago. Her great-grandfather, the late Thomas Hoyne, who was one of the early settlers of Chicago, became mayor of this city.

Woman's A. C. Juniors to Have Swimming Party.

The handsome swimming pool at the Woman's Athletic club does not see half enough use by adult members, according to the club's junior committee, so on the evening of Nov. 19 Mrs. H. Foster Straw, chairman, and the committee will give a swimming and dinner party, the first of the season. These sports parties proved popular last year.

At the luncheon following Clifton M. Utley's second current events lecture tomorrow morning at the club Mrs. Charles Ward Seabury will be hostess at the directors' table. Mrs Alfred C. Tyler, president, Mr. and Mrs. Utley, Mrs. Albert H. Wetten, Mrs. Earl Reeve, Mrs. T. Lloyd Kelly and Mrs. Burnham Fisk will be seated with Mrs. Seabury. Dorothea Brande, author of "Wake Up and Live," is to speak at the club on Thursday morning, Nov. 5.

Mr. and Mrs. Wentworth G. Field, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert F. Perkins, Mrs. Frederic W. Upham, Mr. and Mrs. Percy B. Eckhart, Dr. and Mrs. Walter Dill Scott, and Durand Smith are among those who will attend the San Carlo Opera company's performance of "La Boheme" tonight in the Auditorium theater, and Olin Downes' lecture preceding the opera. This is the second of the series of concerts and lectures on "The History and Enjoyment of Music" sponsored by the University college of Northwestern university.

Mrs. Waldo Logan is giving a dinner tomorrow night at her home preceding the opening of "Call Me Ziggy" at the Playwrights theater, 1120 North Dearborn street. Mrs. Logan, Ruthelma Stevens before her marriage, has taken the leading rôle in several of the Playwrights' productions and is a member of the executive committee of the organization.

What could be more appropriate than that the housewarming Miss Anna Fitziu, and Miss Edna Kellogg will have in their new apartment at 1244 Stone street should be an opera box committee tea? Both Miss Fitziu and Miss Kellogg have devoted their spare time this fall to the interests of the Chicago City opera committee. The tea at which they will be hostesses Wednesday will be the final meeting of the committee. The Friends of Opera will reorganize at this meeting.

Alumnae Busy with "Smith in Chicago" Plans.

Smith college alumnæ are busy these days with plans for their "Smith in Chicago" to be held at the Blackstone hotel on Nov. 6 and 7, for they expect several hundred alumnæ from all parts of the country to attend the fourth regional meeting of the Smith College Alumnæ association.

Sightseeing will be a part of the program. Under the guidance of Miss Nettia A. Baumann and 50 other Chicago alumnæ, the guests will be taken to all the interesting places in and near the city.

The conference will open on Friday the 6th with a breakfast at 11:30 o'clock; that afternoon at 3 o'clock Mrs. Joseph L. Valentine will be hostess at a reception in the Oriental galleries of the Art institute, and at 4 o'clock there will be a tea at the College club. At 5 o'clock Mrs. Kersey Coates Reed will be hostess at a tea at the John G. Shedd aquarium.

Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow will preside at a dinner for alumnæ and their guests at 8 o'clock Friday evening, and the next day there will be a luncheon at International house at the University of Chicago. Saturday afternoon Mrs. Herbert E. Bradley will give a tea in the African room of her Hyde Park boulevard home for the visitors.

The North Shore Smith club is sponsoring a performance of the Kedroff quartet on Monday, Nov. 9, at 8:20 o'clock at Orchestra hall. Miss Ruth Page and Bentley Stone will dance.

Two Infant Welfare Groups Hold Sale Today.

The Kenwood and North Side branches of the Infant Welfare society are holding a joint rummage sale at 227 North Michigan avenue today and tomorrow. Mrs. Eugene Talbot Jr. and Mrs. Lee J. Strauss are co-chairmen of the rummage sale. Mrs. Robert W. Hyman, president of the North Side group, and Mrs. Herbert Mayer, president of the Kenwood center, are among those assisting at the sale.

Miss Eleanor McNally will leave for New York shortly after Nov. 1 to be present for the round of prenuptial parties for her brother, Andrew McNally III., and his fiancée, Miss Margaret Clark-MacMillan. Miss McNally is to be one of Miss Clark-MacMillan's bridesmaids on Nov. 20. The wedding will be a small one at the Ritz hotel, followed by a larger reception.

The annual ball given by the Hinsdale Junior branch of the Infant Welfare society will be held on Nov. 28 at the Palmer house.

Stopping at the Drake is Mrs. Maude Caldecott-Reynolds of Johannesburg, South Africa, who is spending a few weeks here en route from San Francisco to Europe. Mrs. Caldecott-Reynolds is interested primarily in work that is being done for the blind, and while she is here she will visit the Chicago Lighthouse for the Blind. The visitor is sailing for England on the Queen Mary Dec. 2, but she will return to Chicago next year before she goes to the west coast to sail for home via the orient.

Douglas Fairbanks Joins in Producing Gary Cooper Movie

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Shortly before he and his wife, the former Lady Ashley, caught a plane for New York, Douglas Fairbanks today issued an announcement that he will join forces with Producer Sam Goldwyn to present Gary Cooper as their joint movie star in future. At the time Cooper is to appear for Goldwyn and Fairbanks, he is the subject of a five million dollar suit, brought by Paramount studio against Goldwyn, on assertions that Goldwyn "raided" Cooper off the Paramount starring lists.

The story Cooper will appear in is "Adventures of Marco Polo," upon which Fairbanks and his scenario and gag staf have been working for some years.

Irons, to George Palma will take place at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening, the same day that Dr. and Mrs. Irons will celebrate their silver wedding anniversary. News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Devotees of symphonic music are likely to find this a memorable radio season. The nation's four outstanding symphony orchestras—New York Philharmonic, Chicago, Philadelphia, and Boston symphony—all will be on the networks regularly beginning early in November. Meanwhile the General Motors symphony and Ford symphony orchestras already have launched their distinguished Sunday evening concert series on NBC and CBS, respectively.

The Chicago symphony orchestra's popular concerts are to run over W-G-N and Mutual exclusively starting at 8:15 p. m. Saturday, Nov. 14. Dr. Frederick Stock will be the regular director and Hans Lange, new associate conductor, is to be presented occasionally.

The great Philharmonic orchestra will have several new conductors this season. John Barbirolli is to be the first of these and he will be on the stand when the orchestra's Sunday afternoon series is resumed on CBS at 3 p. m., Nov. 8. The full two hour concerts will be broadcast.

The Boston Symphony will open its fifth consecutive radio season at 8:45 p. m., Thursday, Nov. 19, over the NBC blue network. Twenty-one concerts are to be heard in this series.

The Philadelphia orchestra's concerts are to be sponsored by a group of the nation's biggest banks on Friday evenings beginning Nov. 13. These concerts will be carried by the Columbia network and will originate in Philadelphia. The director of this series has not yet been announced. Eugene Ormandy, who is soon to take over the Philadelphia orchestra's baton, has had much experience in radio concert work both while he was at Minneapolis and prior to that as musical director of the old NBC Musical Moments series.

The Sunday concerts sponsored by the two large motor concerns have taken on added importance this year with the introduction of new and intelligent policies.

The Sunday programs from Detroit are significant because of engagement of a distinguished group of guest conductors, as well as outstanding soloists. Fritz Reiner served first for several weeks and now Alexander Smallens is in charge. This policy works out better than where a guest conductor appears for one time only. It gives the leaders time to work out a program covering several weeks with some unity and design to it.

The NBC Sunday series from Carnegie hall also has an interesting innovation this fall. Instead of the policy followed in other years of bringing guest conductors to New York, they are moving the microphone to guest orchestras now and then.

Here at Carson's

—the week gets off to a dramatic start with six major events! New fashions for women and misses strike the festive note that characterizes the smartest of this year's afternoon frocks. Coats choose the most highly favored fur of the season, Persian lamb. A hat designed especially for women displays a gracious sense of flattery. A featured group of daytime dresses and lounging robes does something strikingly new in Oriental prints. Fabrics present three outstandingly favored frocks of the season! All this is typical of the quick, modern pace Carson's keeps.

AFTER MOLYNEUX!

Black Crepe Frocks with Persian Metal Accents

Misses' Better Frocks, Fourth Floor.

with Metallic Sash, $35

A WIDE sash of metal cloth in Persian design and colorings trims this charming frock, which opens its skirt to show a panel of the metal cloth beneath. The metallic accent is carried to the piping on the high neck and short sleeves. Black only. Sizes 10 to 18.

Misses' Better Frocks, Fourth Floor.

"Firsts" in Fabrics

Broadcloth— THE OUTSTANDING SUCCESS— $3.50 yd.

Botany Flannel— IN SIXTEEN COLORS— $2.50 yd.

Satin— FINE ALL-SILK QUALITY— $1.50 yd.

BECAUSE these three fabrics featured are all in first place, we have assembled them in three collections, complete in color range, and present them just at the right time. As to price—the quality in each instance makes that notably moderate.

Broadcloth—$3.50

FIRST—because it made its debut very quietly a few weeks ago, but in a very short time has reached a lofty peak in popularity. Fall colors and plenty of black—a good deep black. $3.50 yd.

Flannel—$2.50 yard

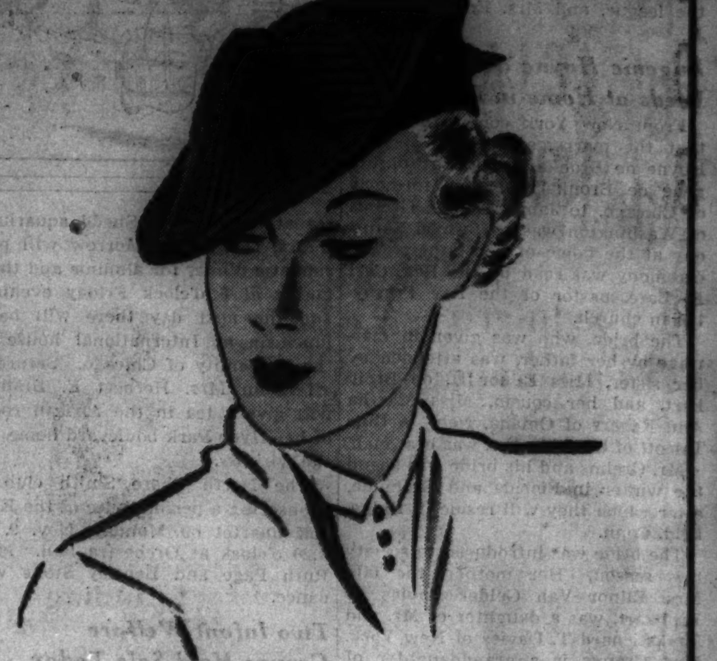
FIRST—because a flash of bright color beneath your coat is so imperative this season. Here you have your choice of sixteen of the newest and most wanted shades in a soft, rich-looking fabric. $2.50 yd.

Satin—$1.50 yard

FIRST—because it is sleekly flattering. And the glowing, rich quality of this all-silk satin makes any color you may choose (this group includes practically every evening or daytime color) fairly gleam. $1.50 yd.

AND IN A SPECIAL GROUP—BROCADED VELVETS—THEY HAVE JUST ARRIVED—IN TIME FOR THE FORMAL SEASON—$2.50 YARD

Fabrics, Second Floor.



FLATTERING!

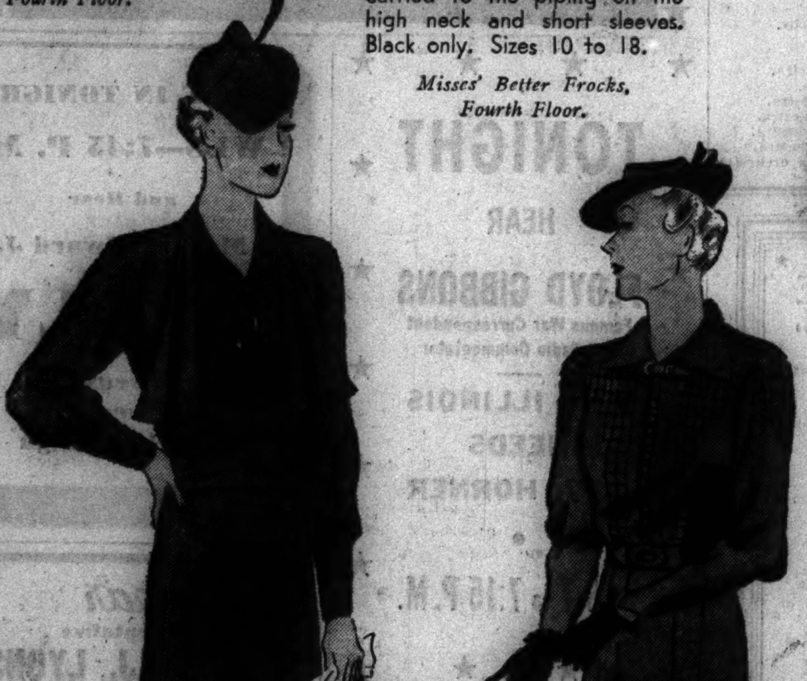
$10

HERE'S something smart in a beret—especially designed for women who wear larger headsizes. It has soft, easy lines, with upward movement toward the back and a graceful, not too pronounced, dip over the right eye. It is fashioned of felt, with stitching for a dressy note. Just one of hundreds of individually flattering hats for those heads that are 22½ to 24 inches.

Millinery, Fifth Floor.



Women's Frocks for Afternoon —Dressy—and Not So Dressy

$16.95

THE dressy afternoon-party frock is of crepe, with a fagoted front, forming a gilet, and a cascade of the material at each side. Black, navy, green, brown, crushed grape. 16½ to 26½.

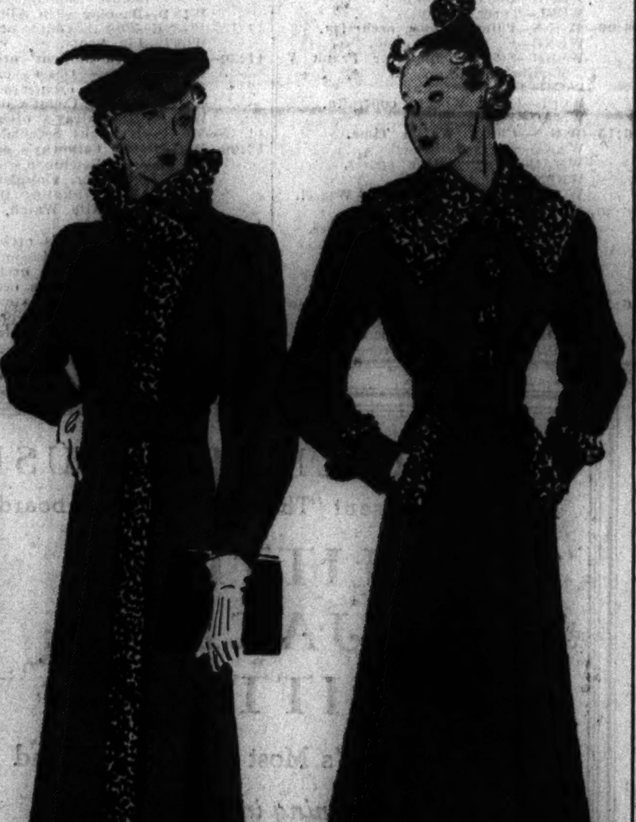
Women's Moderate Price Frocks, Fourth Floor.



PERSIAN LAMB

Black, Gray and Brown on Coats In Haircloth or Broadcloth

$110

A STANDING collar when it's closed, wide revers, Persian lamb edged, when it's open—and the Persian continues all the way down the front. This is an exceptionally youthful, yet flattering, coat for the woman who wears half sizes. Black, gray, brown. 35½ to 41½.

PERSIAN lamb at its youngest—in the boyish collar that trims this smart coat. The Persian banding on the cuffs and pockets is another youthful touch. Tucks below the waist shape the coat to Princess lines. In black, gray, brown. 10 to 16.

Better Coats, Fourth Floor.

EAGLES ATTACK OFFICIAL AS GIANTS WIN, 21-17

Riot on Interference Pass Ruling.

New York, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The New York Giants defeated the Philadelphia Eagles, 21 to 17, today in a National league football game. Immediately after the final whistle, Field Judge George Vergara was attacked by two Philadelphia players for ruling interference on a pass which led to the winning touchdown.

Trailing, 14 to 17, and with less than three minutes to play, Ed Danowski passed to Winnie Anderson. The ball was yards ahead of the intended receiver, but Vergara charged Swede Hanson with interference on the 15 yard line. The Eagles protested in vain. Two plays later Danowski passed to Kink Richards, who was hauled down on the 3 yard line, and on the next thrust Richards crossed the line. Tillie Manton kicked the extra point.

Players Rush at Officials.

After the game several thousand of the 15,000 spectators swarmed on the field and the beaten Eagles surrounded Vergara. George Mulligan and Joe Pivaronik, Eagles' reserve end and guard, who did not play, charged into Vergara, but no harm was done as Referee Tom Thorp intervened quickly. Vergara came out of the mêlée with his bow tie askew and a torn shirt.

The Giants played lethargically in the first half and were behind 10 to 7 going into the third period. With Dave Smukler ripping off huge gains, the Eagles paraded 85 yards to a touchdown in the first period. Smukler accounted for almost the entire 70 yards during the drive to the Giants 15 yard line, from where he passed to Leonard in the end zone.

Leemans Plunges 45 Yards.

Tuffy Leemans, New York's sensational rookie half back, gained 45 yards through the line to the Eagles' 15 yard line in the second period, then passed to Tod Goodwin for a touchdown. Four minutes before the end of the first half Smukler kicked a 28 yard field goal to put the Eagles in the lead again.

The Eagles increased their advantage just before the half time whistle when Stumpy Thomason intercepted a pass on the Eagle 45 yard line and raced to New York's 19. Smukler passed to Pilconis in the end zone for the touchdown.

Leemans' Fumble Costly.

Midway through the final quarter the Giants pulled up to 14 to 17 as Leemans fumbled on the Eagles' 3 yard line and Walt Singer, Giant end, picked up the ball and crossed the goal. Lineup:

Packer Pass Attack Routs Pirates, 42-10

BY CHARLES NEVADA.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 25.—Green Bay piled up six touchdowns in the first three quarters against the Pittsburgh Pirates today to hang up a 42 to 10 victory at State Fair park before 10,000. The Pirates got away to a 3 to 0 lead in the opening three minutes, then wilted before the Packers' diversified attack.

Green Bay scored 7 points in the first quarter, added 21 more in the second, and then closed the scoring with an additional 14 in the third quarter. Paul Miller and Don Hutson each made two touchdowns, while Johnny Blood and Joe Laws made one each.

Pirates' Passes Fail.

The Pirates, saved from being shut out by Armand Niccolai's field goal and John Karcis' touchdown and subsequent extra point, were outplayed throughout. Their passing attack, with Southpaw Ed Matesic doing much of the throwing, was stopped.

Green Bay, with its array of passing experts headed by Arnie Herber, whipped the Pirates at their specialty. The Packers attempted 23 throws and completed 10 for a total gain of 139 yards. Pittsburgh tried 25, 11 of which were good for 131 yards, with most of the yardage being confined to the territory between the 40 yard lines.

Pirates Score on Kick.

Pittsburgh, without resorting to a pass, scored on twelve plays following the opening kickoff. After marching from their 17 yard line to Green Bay's 24 yard line, the Pirates inserted their field goal specialist, Niccolai. Niccolai went back to the 30 yard line and with Gildea holding the ball kicked the ball between the posts. That aroused the Packers and in

DODGERS HAND CARDINALS 6TH LOSS IN ROW, 9-0

New York, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers turned back the Chicago Cardinals, 9 to 0, today to hand the westerners their sixth consecutive defeat in the National Professional Football league race.

Seventeen thousand fans at Ebbets field—the largest crowd of the Brooklyn season—saw the Dodgers, displaying their full strength for the first time this year, roll up a lead in the first half, protect it in the second, and outplay the Cardinals in every department throughout.

Kercheval Leads Attack.

Ralph Kercheval, former University of Kentucky star, was the chief factor in the Brooklyn triumph. He climaxed a 65 yard Dodger march with a 10 yard field goal in the first quarter and followed this achievement in the second by intercepting a Chicago pass and galloping 55 yards for the only touchdown. His try for point was wide.

The Cardinals missed their only real scoring chance when they drove 45 yards to the Dodger 19 yard line in the fourth quarter only to lose the ball on downs when their passing attack failed to click.

Kercheval Kicks Field Goal.

The Cardinals were charging down from their 40 yard line in the second quarter when Kercheval pulled down one of George Grosvenor's aerials, shook off four Card tacklers and headed for the Chicago goal 55 yards away. The lineups:

IT was just 43 years ago that Connie Mack threatened to quit baseball if the Pittsburgh Pirates refused his demand for a $100 salary increase. . . . Capt. John J. McEwan, former football coach at the Army, Oregon, and Holy Cross, is broadcasting gridiron games in Boston. . . . Mrs. John J. McGraw has fully recovered from a serious illness. . . . Last year St. Mary's college in San Antonio, Tex., couldn't find a tackle over 180 pounds. . . . This year the varsity tackles weigh 305 and 290 pounds. . . . Minnesota may find its difficulties at an end next season in developing a full back. . . . There's a freshman named Bonka, who comes from Stan Kostka's home town, who is considered a better player than Kostka. . . . Hank Mills, who rode 198 winners in 1932 and brought McGonigle in second in the 1934 Agua Caliente handicap, is riding bucking broncs in the New York rodeo. . . .

Coach Billy Thom of Indiana university in a recent talk said that the American, English, and Canadian wrestlers were treated unfairly by the referees in the Olympic games. . . . "If what we witnessed there was German sportsmanship, I don't want any of it," Thom said. . . . Ohio State, Minnesota, and Michigan State are the only football teams that can boast of three consecutive victories over Michigan. . . . The Buckeyes won in 1919, 1920, and 1921 and both Michigan State and Minnesota have taken their last three engagements with the Wolverines. . . . Illinois will have a chance Saturday to make it three in a row, for Zuppke's players won 3 to 0 and 7 to 6 in their last two meetings. . . . Ohio State has a similar opportunity on Nov. 21. . . . The headline writers are slipping. . . . None of them fired either Ossie Solem or Harry Kipke yesterday. . . . Pacific coast authors, however, are casting around for a successor to Stub Allison at California. . . . Tom Lieb of Loyola and Bob Zuppke of Illinois are their favorites. . . . While this department does not presume to speak for Mr. Zuppke, it is our guess they can check him off. . . . He turned down an attractive offer to coach at California several years ago. . . . Illinois is so much a part of Zuppke and Zuppke is so much a part of Illinois that it is our hunch there will be no separation of the two until Zuppke's coaching days are at an end. . . .

Slip Madigan, coach of the St. Mary's eleven, says he fears the Marquette game at Soldiers' field Friday night more than he did Saturday's contest with Fordham. . . . Walter Hagen and Joe Kirkwood plan another world tour to begin after the P. G. A. tournament next month. . . . Their campaign will end at the 1937 British open, which begins at Carnoustie, Scotland, July 5. . . . They will miss the American open. . . . Indiana and George Washington universities have players from 17 states on their rosters. . . . Mrs. Emil Denemark has named one of her young colts Henry Busse, after the night club and radio band leader. . . . Francis Schmidt of Ohio State was the first to congratulate Jock Sutherland after Pittsburgh defeated Ohio State. . . .

Ten Years Ago Today—Donie Bush was appointed manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates. . . . Otto Petri and Dave Lands held a one lap lead in the six day bike race. . . . Fred Clarke, vice president and assistant manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, resigned. . . . Bert McKinney, speedy Maroon half back, returned to the lineup and strengthened Chicago's chances against Ohio State.

WILDCATS WILL NOT SOFTEN UP, GOPHERS TOLD

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Minnesota's football squad earned its usual Monday rest by its victory over Purdue Saturday and only a chalk talk and movies will be on the schedule for the 41 players who took part in the smashing victory, Coach Bernie Bierman said tonight.

Bierman, while elated over the showing of his team, still was in a conservative mood as far as Northwestern is concerned, however.

"Northwestern's victory may not have looked as impressive as ours, but they weren't pressing at any time and plainly showed that they were willing to win as easily as possible with the idea of saving as much as possible for next Saturday," Bierman declared.

With Scout Sig Harris he went over details of Northwestern's, 13 to 2, victory over Illinois.

"I don't think you'll find Northwestern softening up in the second half like Purdue did," Harris reported to Bierman. "Their line is easily as big and rugged as ours, and they used 24 men against Illinois with no apparent change in the team's effectiveness. They showed plainly that the Minnesota game was in their minds."

Cleveland Rams Defeat New York Yankees, 27-0

Cleveland, O., Oct. 25.—(AP)—The Cleveland Rams romped through the New York Yankees for a 27 to 0 victory today and moved into a tie for second place in the American Professional Football league. The Rams made three of their four touchdowns by passing. A crowd of 10,000 watched the game.

MACCABEES BEAT ALL-STARS, 1-0, ON PENALTY KICK

A successful penalty kick by Gaoul Machlis five minutes after the start of the second half enabled the touring Maccabee soccer team of Tel-Aviv, Palestine, to defeat the Illinois All-Stars, 1 to 0, yesterday at Comiskey park.

The game, receipts of which will be shared by every Jewish charity organization in Chicago, was witnessed by a crowd of 25,000. Rain fell throughout the contest. Receipts will total well over actual crowd figures, however, as many who purchased tickets were absent because of the weather. Judge Hugo Friend, general chairman, and Melvin Strauss, treasurer, of the committee in charge, announced they will release final figures tomorrow.

Repulsed by Fischer.

The undefeated Maccabees, featuring their famed short passing attack, spent more than half the game in Illinois territory but were repeatedly repulsed at the goal by Louis Fischer of the All-Stars, who had 22 close saves. Goalie Sidi of the Maccabees had 12 close calls.

The winning goal was the result of a tripping foul on the All-Stars, called after Platchek of the Maccabees, working his way in on the Illinois goal, was sandwiched between Scott and Davidson and knocked down. The decision brought loud protests from the All-Stars to no avail. The penalty shot was awarded the Maccabees and Machlis drove it past Fischer for the point which gave the invaders their 29th triumph in 31 starts on the present tour.

Only Three Substitutes.

The Maccabees used only one of the two substitutes allowed, Natan Panz being injured in the first half and replaced by Efraimov. For the All-Stars Purden replaced Fidler and Robb took Wolf's place at outside left when the latter moved to center.

The Jewish champions next stop will be at St. Louis, where they are scheduled to play Thursday. From there they go back east for appearances at Boston and New York, after which they will depart for home.

Bar Levinsky from Boxing in Illinois

BY FRANK MASTRO.

The Illinois boxing commission has turned down an application of Nate Lewis, former matchmaker at the Chicago Stadium, to present a ten round bout between King Levinsky and Max Marek at the International Amphitheater next Friday.

The action followed Levinsky's appearance before Chairman Joe Triner and Commissioner George Getz in a closed session last week, but the news did not leak out until yesterday, when it was learned the Chicago heavyweight and his trainer, Walter [Whitey] Ekwert, had left for a series of matches in California.

King May Be Through Here.

In the event the present commission is retained after the gubernatorial election Nov. 3 it may mean that Levinsky's fighting days in Illinois are ended.

Although no official announcement was made, it is known that the commission's refusal to grant Levinsky permission to fight here again was due to his sorry exhibition against Joe Louis at Comiskey park last year. Louis won on a technical knockout when Levinsky, who has earned more than a quarter million dollars during an eight year campaign, surrendered after 2 minutes and 21 seconds of the first round.

A crowd of 39,755 saw the match. Gross receipts were $214,442.10, of which Levinsky received $30,000.

Suspension Report Denied.

A few days after the bout Chairman Triner announced reports that Levinsky had been suspended were untrue, but he added that before King would be permitted to box in Illinois again he would have to explain his poor showing.

Thereupon Harold Steinman, manager of the fighter, decided to accept eleven matches out of town. Levin-

JACK MANDERS' 2D FIELD GOAL DECIDES GAME

All Points Scored in First Half.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

The accuracy of Jack Manders' toe preserved the Bears' perfect record yesterday, accounting for six of the points by which the National league leaders defeated the Detroit Lions, defending champions, 12 to 10, in a struggle of gridiron titans on Wrigley field. It was the Bears' sixth consecutive victory.

Manders kicked two field goals, one from the 34 yard line in the first quarter to send the Bears into the lead, 3 to 0, and another from the 29 yard line in the final seconds of the second period to put them ahead for the third and final time.

One of the largest crowds of the pro football season, 27,424, saw the game, in which all the scoring was concentrated in the first half.

Clark Leads Lions.

Manders, although heroic in victory, was no more brilliant than Earl [Dutch] Clark, the Lions' quarterback and drop kicking star. Clark put his team into a tie in the second quarter with a 27 yard field goal. After the Bears had regained the lead on Carl Brumbaugh's 14 yard pass to Luke Johnsos, Clark ran 38 yards to set up the touchdown which put the Lions back in a tie and added the extra point that gave them a 10 to 9 lead for a few hectic minutes before Manders delivered his game winning shot.

Clark, however, considered himself the goat of his team's futile attempt to conquer a jinx that has pursued the Lions and their coach, Potsy Clark, since their entrance in the league as the Portsmouth Spartans. He missed a field goal attempt from the 29 yard line in the fourth quarter. And he virtually held up Johnsos in the end zone to enable the veteran end to catch Brumbaugh's pass for the Bears' only touchdown.

Petersen Scores for Lions.

Failure of this pass undoubtedly would have ended in a Lion victory, their first over the Bears in Chicago, where they have never been able to get better than a tie. Yesterday's defeat was their second of the season and virtually eliminated them from the championship race.

Until the heavy turf, moistened by a shower just before the kickoff, and the fierce tackling and blocking had begun to tire ball carriers the 27,424 were treated to the offensive fireworks they had come to expect from these two powerful elevens. The Lions staged uninterrupted marches of 81 yards, 69 yards, and 50 yards and the Bears reeled off drives of 83, 46, and 54 yards.

Clark Ties Score.

Both offenses were at the mercy of hard charging lines in the early part of the first quarter, but broke loose when Feathers kicked 71 yards over the goal for a touchback, and F. Christensen's third down return kick went only 22 yards to the Lions' 34 yard line. A bad pass from center got away from Manders and Feathers fell on it for a 15 yard loss. Masterson passed 25 yards to Hewitt on the first play, but his fourth down pass was intercepted by F. Christensen on Detroit's 10 yard line.

Caddell failed to gain on a wide reverse to the left, then F. Christensen got off another poor kick which set the stage for the first score of the game. His punt went only 27 yards, rolling out of bounds on the

Tonight's Card

Davey Day vs. Joey Greb [10], 140.
Pete Lello vs. Henry Huerta [5], 133.
Nick Peters vs. Pedro Rivera [5], 135.
Babe La Varra vs. Willie Dudlak [4], 126.
Tony Michaels vs. Sammy Guidara [4], 136.

Joey Greb, rugged New York junior welterweight, will make his Chicago debut tonight in a ten round bout with Davey Day at Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street. The assignment is a tough one, for Day is considered the best lightweight in the central states. Nevertheless, the aggressive eastern battler does not fear Davey. He likely will give his Chicago opponent a lively time of it.

Pete Lello, who won this year's diamond studded Golden Glove as a lightweight candidate from Michigan City, Ind., will be searching for his eighth consecutive professional triumph in the five round semi-final against Henry Huerta, a battling fool from Peoria, Ill.

The main preliminary involves Nick Peters, hard punching lightweight from San Antonio, Tex., and Pedro Rivera, a stranger in local boxing circles. Matches at four rounds pair Babe La Varra, who knocked out Walter Matthys in one round last week, and Willie Dudlak and Tony Michaels and Sammy Guidara, lightweights who go where the fighting is.

Rudy Kay, Chicago heavyweight wrestler who gained followers by defeating Mike Kilonis last Wednesday, and Frankie Hart will be opponents in Promoter Joe Coffey's scheduled 60 minute windup bout at White City, 63d street and South Park avenue, tonight. Stan Buresch and Jerry Meeker meet in the secondary feature, booked for 30 minutes.

Leo Rodak, south side junior lightweight, will leave today for Hollywood, Cal., where he is matched with Frankie Covelli of New York for ten rounds Nov. 13. The match is being presented under the direction of Tom Gallery, former husband of Zasu Pitts. . . . Gentleman Jack Smith will oppose Art Van Sazon and Stan Buresch is matched with Walter Roxy in the wrestling show at Arcadia Gardens Wednesday. . . . The Most Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, head of the Catholic Youth organization, will conduct pontifical requiem mass in memory of the late Patrick F. [Packey] McFarland, member of the Illinois athletic commission, at St. Andrew's church; Addison and Paulina streets, Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

Racing Season Goes Into Its Final Week

BY FRENCH LANE.

The curfew rings this week for 1936 racing in Chicago, the six months' season ending at Sportsman's Park next Saturday afternoon.

After Saturday if Chicagoans are to do any race going they will have to migrate to the south or the far west, for the state law provides that racing here must be limited to the period between May 1 and Nov. 1.

A Successful Meeting.

The windup brings to a close the Sportsman's Park fall meeting of 18 days. This has been the most successful meeting ever conducted at that half-mile track. Before the Sportsman's Park meeting there had been racing at Aurora, Hawthorne, Arlington Park, and Lincoln Fields in the order named. At one time or another during the spring, summer, and fall meetings every outstanding horse of the year, with the exception of the 2 year old champion, Pompoon, has demonstrated his greatness here.

Going into the final week of its meeting today Sportsman's Park offers another of its eight race programs with all except one of the events packed to the limit with entries. The exception is the 5 furlong fifth race which attracted six of the fastest steppers among the top rank selling platers quartered at the course.

Juvenile Race Scheduled.

This event will share honors on today's program with a race fashioned for 2 year olds which brings into action Ipso Facto, Arthur B, Karkie, Solar Maid, Sealine, Denbigh, and others.

Ipso Facto will be trying for his third straight triumph in this battle. He easily won his first start on the opening day of the meeting and in his second engagement at Sportsman's he was moved into first place as a result of that stormy Alice G disqualification of last Wednesday afternoon.

The best evidence that Sportsman's Park is enjoying its most successful season is shown in the betting figures. During the first twelve days approximately $2,000,000 has been wagered. This gives the track an average betting handle of about $165,000 a day, which is a higher figure than some of the larger tracks here were able to roll up during the present season.

James Leads Jockies.

Jocky Basil James, who finally hit his stride on Saturday when he rode three winners and went into the lead in the American jocky standings, plans to ride at Sportsman's Park until the final day of the meeting. Then he will move to Churchill Downs.

Henry Hauer is well out in front of James in the race for riding honors at Sportsman's Park, but James and many of his followers believe he has a good chance to catch Hauer during the next five days. He appears to be definitly out of the slump that overtook him last week.

F. Edw. Springer, Former Cycling Leader, Is Dead

Hawthorne, N. Y., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—F. Edward Springer, one of the leading bicycle racers of the late '80s and early '90s, who later became a pioneer in the automobile industry, died here today of cancer after an illness of a year and a half. He was born sixty-eight years ago in Batavia, Ill. His widow and a son, Gene Springer, of Maplewood, N. J., and a daughter, Mrs. Donald Craig, of Philadelphia survive.

Members of Lincolnshire to Organize Gun Club

Lincolnshire Country club announces the formation of a gun club. A meeting has been called for members Nov. 8. H. Labrador Is Stake Winner in Field Test

Glenaire Rover, a Labrador retriever owned by the Woodend Kennels of Mound, Minn., won the open all age stage yesterday as the second annual retriever trials of the Midwest Field Trial club were concluded on the estate of Dr. Paul Magnuson, near Dundee. The winning dog was handled by Francis Hogan.

Type of Barrington Second.

Type of Barrington, winner of Saturday's Derby stake, placed second to Glenaire Rover in the open all age. This dog, a Labrador, is owned by William Walker of Park Ridge. Third place was awarded to Nigger, Labrador owned by Gordon Kelley of Chicago, and fourth went to Grouse of Arden, Labrador, owned by W. A. Harriman, New York City.

The victory of Glenaire Rover in the most important stake of the trial signalled a reversal of form, since the dog had placed only fourth in the novice stake held Saturday.

Works on Pheasants.

Rover retrieved consistently well during the morning when the dogs were sent through heavy cover after pheasants and proved himself to be fast and accurate during the afternoon water tests.

Blind of Arden, the Labrador from the kennels of W. A. Harriman which was named the outstanding retriever of 1935, proved faulty on duck retrieving in the afternoon to offset good work done in the marsh. He was awarded a certificate of merit.

AMBERS TO BOX EDDIE COOL IN NONTITLE BOUT

U. S. Army Riders Win Horse Show Jumping Title

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25.—(AP)—The United States army horsemen outpointed their cavalry rivals from Chile and Mexico to win the international military team jumping championship of the four day Inter-American horse show here today. A gayly dressed gallery of 6,000, with fancy furs mingled with military gold braid, looked on at Meadowbrook Saddle club as the American four won the second annual event with a fault total of 61¼, against Chile's 78 and Mexico's 98½.

Olympias Beat Nickeloids in TribuneSoccer

After playing for 88 minutes and getting no place the Olympia eleven decided it was time for a fresh player. In came Kostosky who lost no time sending the ball into the net for the goal that enabled Olympia to defeat the American Nickeloid team of Dalzell, Ill., 1 to 0, yesterday and advance in the Class A competition of THE TRIBUNE's amateur soccer tournament. The game was played in rain and mud at the Olympia stadium.

Both Overlook Chances.

Both teams failed to take advantage of openings preceding Kotosky's successful kick. With only the goal keeper to beat Keberle of Olympia missed badly and L. Mini of the Nickeloids kicked past the posts with the best chance of all.

Four other class A games, eight in class B and one in the junior division were played yesterday.

The Kicker Reserves and the Schwabens Reserves staged the hardest battle of the day, playing two hours to a 2 all tie that was halted by darkness. This was a Class B game.

Vikings Junior Winners.

Tomorrow night at 8 o'clock officials of the tournament and representatives of the various teams will meet in the Tribune Tower to make the draw for the next round of games.

MAREK TO TAKE BAER'S PLACE IN STRICKLAND BOUT

Max Marek, Chicago heavyweight youngster, has been substituted for Max Baer against Maurice Strickland, champion of New Zealand, at Chicago Stadium Nov. 6. Strickland, who was imported to this country by the Stadium, along with Patrick Michael Barry, 240 pounder from Ireland; Joey Connolly, lightweight monarch of Ireland and Scotland, and Eddie Pierce, middleweight from South Africa, will be making his American bow. He is 21 years old, 6 feet 1 inch tall, and weighs 190 pounds, about five more than Marek.

St. Ambrose Blocks Punt to Beat Rockhurst, 7-0

Davenport, Ia., Oct. 25.—(AP)—A blocked punt gave St. Ambrose college a 7 to 0 victory over Rockhurst college of Kansas City, Mo., here today, and enabled the Saints to remain one of the undefeated elevens in the country. With Rockhurst in possession of the ball deep in its own territory, Hutchins' attempted kick, the first punt of the game, was blocked by Severson, St. Ambrose guard, and Gustitus recovered on the 3 yard line. Oelerich plunged over and Farrell kicked the extra point.

Bar Levinsky from Boxing in Illniois sky was paid about $20,000 for these appearances.

Nevertheless, Levinsky yearned to redeem himself in his home town, and upon his return from a bout in Washington last month negotiations were opened for a meeting with Marek. Word that the boxer still was in disfavor here caused Promoter Lewis, Steinman, and Levinsky to appear at the board's meeting a week ago. After the meeting Triner stated that since nothing was discussed officially no action had been taken.

Steinman, who will fly to California during the week, intends to make another appearance at today's commission session, but he does not think the board's stand will be changed.

ESTHER RUNNE REJOINS SKATE PARTNER; GAIN

Esther Runne, one of the outstanding skaters in the transcontinental roller Derby at the Coliseum, returned to the track last night after being laid up for three nights with a bruised ankle. During the time she was off the track her partner Joe Kleats, kept the team in the race by skating continuously. Saturday night he collapsed twice and the team lost 15 laps.

Last night, Kleats started out to regain some of the lost ground. His partner could not skate the entire time, but her appearance for several periods helped considerably. The team now is in 11th place, having dropped from fourth.

NOW IT'S UP TO PURPLE TO STOP THOSE GOPHERS

Minnesota Can Coast if It Wins Saturday.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

As the list of the nation's unbeaten football teams grows smaller each week, it also emphasizes the record of Minnesota, now holder of 21 consecutive victories and undefeated in its last 28 games. Purdue's dazzling attack which had scored 117 points in three games piled up a gain of more than 300 yards and accounted for ten first downs Saturday at Minneapolis. But the Boilermakers couldn't cross the Minnesota goal line and because of a second half collapse, finally yielded 33 to 0.

Now it is up to Northwestern, still undefeated by virtue of its 13 to 2 conquest of Illinois, to stop the Gophers. If the Wildcats fail Saturday, there is no reason to doubt that Minnesota will complete this year's campaign with victories over Iowa, Texas, and Wisconsin and eventually have an unfinished string of 25 victories.

Then They Can Coast.

Once past Northwestern, the Gopher football machine will be coasting down hill. But by its victories over the University of Washington, which continues its drive for the Pacific coast championship, over Nebraska, apparently headed for a Big Six title, and now over Purdue, the Gophers have a claim to a third national championship, unless, of course, Northwestern wins or a startling reversal of form brings an upset later.

Duke's defeat by Tennessee, 15 to 13, and Duquesne's 2 to 0 licking by West Virginia Wesleyan last Friday night were the week's outstanding upsets. Tennessee had held Alabama to a tie but there was no warning of impending defeat for Duke other than the long continued jinx for a Duke team playing at Knoxville.

Duquesne's Glory Fades.

Duquesne's glory in defeating Pittsburgh a week ago lasted only six days. And comparative scores produce an unbelievable situation. West Virginia had defeated West Virginia Wesleyan, 15 to 0. Pitt defeated West Virginia, 34 to 0. Duquesne licked Pitt, 7 to 0, and then Duquesne, which you might presume to be 56 points better than Wesleyan, lost 2 to 0.

You may not be able to explain how the Dukes defeated Pitt and you'll never convince Ohio State and Notre Dame that the Panthers do not have one of the most powerful teams in football history. Pitt's smashing line play on defense held Ohio State to a net gain of six yards. Saturday this same line kept Notre Dame from completing a pass or making a first down for 44 minutes.

Score Might Have Been Less.

As in the case of Purdue at Minnesota, the score might have been less. A penalty assisted the Panthers to a third touchdown and an intercepted pass was directly responsible for the fourth.

Marshall Goldberg, Pitt's sophomore left half back who yesterday celebrated his 18th birthday, was the outstanding ball carrier. His change of pace, coupled with driving power, frequently sent him through Notre Dame's defenders for long gains. And his 50 yard return of Larry Danbom's kickoff to start the second half made possible the ensuing forward pass which scored Pitt's second touchdown.

Northwestern's line thrusts were powerful enough to whip Illinois. Defensively the Wildcats always held Illinois in check. Whether Northwestern is a match for Minnesota only Saturday's game will tell.

Ohio Wins on Pass.

Ohio State won its first conference game Saturday, defeating Indiana 7 to 0. A forward pass accounted for the touchdown, climax of a drive of 70 yards.

Michigan once again proved that no matter what happens in the Big Ten, in intersectional games it is supreme. The Wolverines won their first victory of the year by whipping Columbia university, 13 to 0. Michigan now has hope of winning from Illinois this week.

Marquette's passing combination of Ray Buivid to Art Guepe was too much for Michigan State. The Spartans lost their first game of the year, 13 to 7, to undefeated Marquette which now prepares for its Friday night game at Soldiers' field against St. Mary's of California.

St. Mary's place kicked two field goals against Fordham Saturday, but the Rams' one air thrust brought a touchdown and the kick for the point was the winning margin that kept Fordham in the ranks of the undefeated. St. Mary's previously had been tied by San Francisco.

Nebraska Hurdles Oklahoma.

Nebraska, loser only to Minnesota 7 to 0, this season, disposed of Oklahoma Saturday, 14 to 0, and thus hurdled what probably was its toughest assignment in the Big Six campaign. Washington, which like Nebraska has won from all except Minnesota, defeated California Saturday, 13 to 0, to advance another step toward a championship. Southern California gained expected revenge from Stanford by punching out a 14 to 7 decision over the Rose Bowl winners.

Carnegie Tech played its best game of the year Saturday, but Holy Cross kept its slate clear by a 7 to 0 victory. The most important Crusader conquest of the season still is the victory over Dartmouth which this last week convincingly disposed of Harvard, 26 to 7.

Tulane Wins, 21 to 7.

Tulane's surprising team hammered through North Carolina for a 21 to 7 victory. Vanderbilt could do no better than a scoreless tie with Georgia Tech. Georgia lost to Alabama Poly, 20 to 13.

Playing in the mud of Dallas' Cotton Bowl, Texas Christian and Mississippi State set a record for a punting duel. There were 44 kicks in this game in which neither team could score.

Hibbing Beats Chicago; It's a Hawk Game

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Two teams of the Chicago Blackhawk hocky players are nearing condition for the opening of the National Hocky league season on Nov. 5, played a regulation game here tonight.

Led by Paul Thompson, Doc. Romnes and Mush March, the National hocky league's high scoring line, the squad representing Hibbing won 9 to 5, against the team representing Chicago.

Thompson, Romnes and March accounted for eight of their team's scores. The Chicago sextet's five tallies were made by Brydson, Cook and Gottselig.

Take Advantage of Goalie.

The Hibbing team, so called because seven of its players were northern Minnesotans, did not outplay their opponents as badly the score would indicate. Frank De Leo, iron ore country amateur, was in the nets for Chicago and he was not able to cope with the shooting of the Thompson-Romnes-March trio.

On the other hand, Mike Karakas, the Blackhawks' goalie, who was in the nets for Hibbing, was in fine form. Most of the tallies made on him came when Joe Bretto and Steve Beda, two rookies, were playing defense.

Personnel of Teams.

Marquette Sees Film Record of St. Mary's

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Coach Frank Murray took the undefeated Marquette football team to the movies today, but the stars of the picture were not from Hollywood. Instead they were the St. Mary's eleven of California, whom the Hilltoppers meet next Friday night in an intersectional struggle at Soldiers' field, Chicago.

Murray has obtained motion pictures of all of St. Mary's games this fall except the Fordham contest and ordered his men to the stadium this afternoon to review the games. The films were re-run several times as the Golden Avalanche athletes looked over their next foe.

ST. MARY'S ARRIVES TOMORROW.

The St. Mary's squad will arrive in Chicago tomorrow noon and take up quarters at Olympia Fields Country club, where it will stay until after the Marquette game.

The squad will practice Wednesday night at Soldiers' field. Thursday Marquette works out. A new lighting system has been installed on the field.

RUTHS TAKE 3 GAME LEAD IN CLASSIC LEAGUE

The Baby Ruths took a lead of three games in the Sunday division of the Classic bowling league last night at North Center when they won three games from the Monarch Beers and were aided by the Pabst Blue Ribbons, who swept their series with Prager Beers.

The Ruths had three high scores—a 2,980 total, Joe Puccinelli's 680 and 256. The new standing now gives the Ruths 20 victories and 7 defeats, against 17 and 10 for the Pragers and 16-11 for the Monarchs and Pabsts.

EARLIER CHICAGO.

DEAR WAKE: In the years from 1900 to 1905, we kids of the neighborhood celebrated Halloween by sending tin cans down the street fastened to rope strands which were lowered through the slot and picked up by the cable underneath. The cans broke off when they reached the turn at Cottage Grove avenue where hundreds of cans would be piled up the morning after Halloween. Cars ran east and west on 55th street and the power house was at 55th and Cottage Grove avenue.—M. A. Dwyer.

Robert Fergus, the old-time printer, lived on State street, old number 18, where the Palmer house now stands, from 1840 to 1866. That is where the writer was born. Sometime in 1855, having become tired of milking his cow, Mr. Fergus sold the cow to Michael Deversey, milk dealer, and was paid by receiving his quart of milk each morning at the rate of 4 cents per quart.

Deversey and P. A. Newton were the largest in business then. Later Wanzer, Mark A. Devine and his two brothers, William and Patrick. Bowman succeeded M. A. Devine by purchase and after William's death, John R. Thompson took over this plant for his own use.—"53."

In 1892, I was on a committee to arrange a banquet at the Grand Pacific hotel in Chicago for University of Illinois alumni. This function was attended by many women. On the committee with me was an alumnus who objected to serving cardinal punch because there was liquor in it. John B. Drake Sr., with whom we were dealing, then suggested Manhattan punch to which the alumnus consented. Was there plenty of good cheer in that Manhattan punch? I'll say there was, and the prohibition alumnus stayed close to the punch bowl as long as there was anything in it.—C. A. K.

Seeing the name Isbell as a star in the football firmament recalls Frank Isbell, one time White Sox baseball star and that famous series of "Winter Visits to the Homes of Baseball Players," written by the late Charley Dryden, once baseball writer for THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. Isbell was a plumber and practically bald headed. Dryden queried, "How did you become bald?" and Isbell responded, "Working under the dachshund bath tubs."—J. G. D.

Editor's note—On a spring training trip in the late '90's, Isbell, Big Bill Lange, Walter Thornton and the present Wake had our heads shaved close so we could rub kerosene into the scalp, a highly recommended remedy at that time to stop hair from falling out. We'd not return to Chicago for nearly two months. We have an old photo somewhere showing the startling result. That might have been all right except that not a week afterward we were called back to Chicago so our boss could attend the Fitzsimmons-Corbett fight at Carson City. And did we ever look like an escaped convict on our return?

WET WEATHER POSTPONES AUTO RACES AT ROBY

The auto race program scheduled at the Roby track yesterday was postponed until next Sunday after rain had made the going too slippery for safety. The Roby sweepstakes, a race of 100 miles, was to have headed the card.

This event would have determined the central states championship. Sixteen of the best drivers in the country were included in the field. It is expected that the same pilots will be on hand next Sunday for the final championship point event of the season in this section.

Packers Pass and Run Over Pirates, 42-10

13 plays they had their first touchdown. It climaxed a 57 yard march, during which they made four first downs, with Monnett throwing a short pass to Laws in the end zone. Engebretsen added the extra point.

Beginning with the opening play in the second quarter, Green Bay launched an 80 yard drive which ended in a touchdown when Hutson took a throw from Herber and raced 22 yards. Schwammel added the extra point.

Miller's interception of Gildea's pass led to the Packers' third touchdown. After catching the throw, Miller ran 19 yards to the Pirate 26 yard line. Four plays later, he raced around right end to the goal line. Schwammel again kicked the extra point.

Packers Continue Drive.

A few minutes later Blood, intercepted one of Matesic's passes and ran 58 yards for a touchdown. Hinkle was successful with his placement kick, making the score 28 to 3 in favor of the Packers.

Green Bay continued the rout in the opening minutes of the third quarter. After Miller returned Zaninelli's pount 22 yards to Pittsburghs's 25 yard line, Sauer and Blood took turns at advancing it to the Pirates' 10 yard mark, from which point Miller went over on a cutback. Smith made the extra point.

Another Packer touchdown followed four plays later. Miller hauled down a Pittsburgh pass near midfield and returned it 46 yards to the Pirates' 6 yard line. Following two line plays and a 5 yard offside penalty assessed against Green Bay, Blood passed to Miller and the latter went over for the score. Blood contributed the extra point on an end run, making the score 42 to 3.

With Heller contributing runs of 37 yards and 21 yards, the Pirates paraded from their 20 yard line to score at the outset of the fourth quarter. Karcis made the touchdown and the seventh point, both on plunges. The remainder of the period found both elevens battling between the 20 yard line markers.

Bears Defeat Lions, 12-10; Sixth Straight

36 yard line. Feathers and Manders moved it up to the 27 yard line in three smashes at the tackles. On fourth down, Manders dropped back to the 34 yard line and kicked a field goal.

The Lions offense suddenly sprang to life after an exchange of punts that followed the kickoff. Starting on their 2 yard line, where Feathers had kicked out of bounds, Gutowsky went off tackle for 6 yards, then spun inside Left Tackle Joe Stydahar for 24 yards. On the last play of the quarter Clark threw a shovel pass to Caddel, coming around behind the line, and Caddel, sweeping around the Bears' right end, went 18 yards to the Bears 48 yard line.

Caddel and Clark added two more first downs in as many plays. Caddel swept around right end on a reverse for 14 yards and Clark went around left end for a similar distance, being run out of bounds on the Bears' 20 yard line. Gutowsky moved the ball up three yards on a spinner, but two plays failed and Clark went back to the 27 yard line and tied the score with a perfect drop kick.

Bears Take Lead.

The defense appeared to be no match for the offense at this stage of the game and the Bears, after receiving the kickoff, put together four first downs, driving from their 17 yard line to the Lions' 14, where Brumbaugh threw a pass to Johnsos. Clark apparently had Johnsos covered in the end zone, but Luke, leaning back in the Lions' arms, caught the ball and stayed on his feet to put the Bears ahead 9 to 3. Knox broke through and blocked Manders' attempted place kick.

That march, accomplished by 11 plays, was led by Ray Nolting, the Bears' rookie right half back, who broke through outside of Right Tackle George Christensen for 26 yards and by Bronko Nagurski, who contributed two eleven yard smashes.

Five minutes remained in the half and fireworks broke loose again almost immediately. Detroit took the ball on its 31 yard line after a punt had gone out of bounds. Petersen raced around Johnsos at right end for 15 yards, then reversed off left tackle for eight, putting the ball on the Bears' 46 yard line.

Clark Runs 38 Yards.

Clark, running wide to his right, slipped away from Hewitt, who frequently was trapped as he crashed into the Detroit backfield, and started down the east sidelines. Frank Christensen took Molesworth out on a perfectly executed block, and Clark cut back toward the middle. Hewitt finally overtook him at the end of a 38 yard gain on the Bears' eight yard line. Shepherd spun inside Musso at right tackle, then Petersen went outside Musso on a reverse for a touchdown, tying the score. Clark drop kicked the extra point, putting the Lions ahead, 10 to 9.

The Bears were aroused to a new fury. Molesworth took the kickoff behind the goal line then came straight up the middle in a headlong charge to the 35 yard line. He and Manders made it first down on the 45 yard line. Ronzani passed eight yards to Molesworth and the latter, trapped near the sidelines, lateraled to Musso. Musso, 258 pounds and aldermanic, charged five yards farther for a first down on the Lions' 40 yard line.

Field Goal Decides It.

Four smashes, one by each member of the back field, added ten yards. Molesworth passed to Brumbaugh for one yard and Brumbaugh passed to Molesworth for eight. Then a pass failed and Manders dropped back to place kick from an angle on the Lions' 29 yard line. His kick lacked height, but carried over the bar and the Bears were back in the lead, 12 to 10, where they stayed.

Clark's unsuccessful drop kick attempted in the fourth period and Hewitt's interception of a pass were the only dangerous threats made by either team in the second half. Hewitt raced 45 yards to the goal line for a touchdown on his interception, but the ball was called back and the Bears penalized 25 yards to the Lions' 33 yard line, when Rookie Ed Michaels was called for clipping.

Teams Evenly Balanced.

Statistics of the game were as even as the score, with the Bears having a slight advantage. They made thirteen first downs to the Lions ten and gained 235 yards to Detroit's 212. The Lions' running attack, built on speed and deception, made 184 yards, against 179 for the Bears, who rely on power. This was the only department in which the Lions were superior.

The Lions attempted ten passes, completed two for 28 yards and had four intercepted. The Bears attempted fifteen passes, completed five and had one intercepted. The Lions' kicking, done by Frank Christensen, was not up to its usual high standard and the Bears, with Feathers and Molesworth kicking, held an advantage of 41 yards to 35.7 on the average. Each punted nine times.

Student Body Gives Layden Hearty Cheer

Coach Elmer Layden was overcome by emotion as he attempted to respond to the students' demand for a speech. "Nothing has ever touched me as deeply as this turnout," he said, "I must have forgotten myself when I ran on the field yesterday, but I merely wanted to see that no injustice was done to one of our boys."

Explains O'Reilly Incident.

He attempted to go on, but suddenly left amid a tremendous ovation.

The incident he referred to in his team's 26 to 0 defeat by Pitt occurred late in the game when Chuck O'Reilly, according to Notre Dame players, had been ordered off the field for unnecessary roughness. Umpire A. H. Slack motioned O'Reilly either to get off the field or to one side.

Spectators said O'Reilly had merely used his hands legitimately on the shoulders of Frank Souchak, Pitt end, in an effort to ward off his attempted block.

Booing Is Explained.

Layden demonstrated to Slack what he believed had occurred, and the crowd, thinking Layden was pushing Slack, booed him.

The players, badly battered in their effort to stop Pitt's power, were discouraged over the worst defeat Notre Dame has suffered since the 1925 Army victory, 27 to 0. Layden, however, said that he believed the game was a great lesson to his boys and that they would continue to develop.

Fenwick kept its record clear by whipping St. Mel, 27 to 12, thus remaining in a tie with St. Philip for the west section lead.

St. Patrick Wins.

St. Patrick, another contender for the west section title, scored its third victory in four games by beating Catholic High school of Joliet, 14 to 0.

De La Salle advanced to second place in the east section, running up a 35 to 12 score against St. George.

Loyola Scores Late in Game.

The Loyola-St. Rita game was decided in the last two minutes of play when Bowman, a Loyola substitute, intercepted a pass on the St. Rita 15 yard line and was downed on the 12 yard line. On the first play, De Leonardis went around end for a touchdown. Spencer kicked goal.

PRICES OF BONDS LOWER DESPITE BUSINESS GAINS

Secondary Rails, Utilities Lead in Decline.

New York, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Notwithstanding ample evidence of business improvement over the last nine months, offerings were heaped on the trading scales last week and prices in active sections of the bond market settled to lower levels.

The week ushered in that important time of the calendar year when industrial and business concerns make their third quarter reports and the first batch of these averaged gains of 30 to 50 per cent over a year ago. Nevertheless, prices dropped in the rail, utility, and low yield bond divisions.

Secondary Rails Decline.

The previously favored low and medium priced rail loans gave way before substantial offerings. Bonds of such roads as the Missouri-Kansas-Texas, St. Paul, Missouri Pacific, Nickel Plate, and North Western were traded at falling prices. High priced carrier issues came through the week unchanged to a little higher.

Industrial obligations worked a bit higher on comparatively light demands. Sugar company bonds had rather sharp gains. American Writing Paper 6s and certificates, buoyant in recent weeks, dropped abruptly following publication of an interim statement showing net loss so far this year exceeding that of 1935. These issues rallied, however, and regained most of the lost ground.

Several Foreign Issues Rise.

The foreign quarter had a number of bright spots. Cuba Railroad 7½s "A" and 6s "B" advanced briskly on a proposal by the management to extend their maturity dates ten years without a change in interest rates. Mexican bonds found favor and advanced on the best volume in many weeks. Antioquia issues advanced following news that a bondholders' protective committee would press for a payment on the bonds in the Colombian courts.

United States government issues were slightly lower. These issues, dull during most of the period, leaped into action Thursday when more than $4,000,000, face value, sold at slightly lower prices.

U. S. INCURSIONS INTO BUSINESS BRANDED UNFAIR

Cost Saddled on Citizens, Says New York Bank.

Government competition with private industry is unfair to innumerable partnerships and individual business undertakings, and its cost is saddled on all citizens, the Guaranty Trust company, New York, said yesterday in its monthly survey of business conditions.

Burocratic business ventures usually are conducted at the expense of the tax paying public, which means the average worker, who pays in direct or indirect taxes a great portion of the cost of government, the review stated.

"As long as political institutions and human behavior remain what they are," the review said, "it is difficult to imagine how government could free itself from the weaknesses of the spoils system on the one hand and rigidities of civil service on the other.

Poor Government Organization.

"Poor organization has in the past and will in the future foredoom most government ventures into the field of business. There are numerous respects in which government is badly equipped to cope with business problems.

"But at no point is the inadequacy of public operation so self-evident and so serious in its effects as in the selection, organization, and management of personnel. A government bureau, with the 'red tape' that inevitably tends to characterize it, is obviously in a poor position to handle problems of this kind with success.

"Government bureaus are handicapped in whatever efforts might otherwise be made toward building organizations capable of competing with or even emulating private business. Exceptional achievement seldom brings its just reward in a government enterprise. Ambition is stifled.

Government Jobs Uncertain.

"Tenure of employment under a politically managed system is uncertain and there is an accompanying tendency on the part of personnel to do just enough to 'get by.' Special aptitude is too often overlooked. It is easier to put more men on a given job than to find the men best suited to do it in half the time."

The survey said not only is it true that competitive features of government business operation make such operation unfair to owners and employés of private business enterprises, but it is equally true that inefficiency of government operation makes it unfair to consumers, who include the whole population.

"This is true," the bank continues, "regardless of whether the enterprise is competitive or monopolistic, and regardless of whether the rates charged show a profit or loss.

"If the work is inefficiently done, the net productivity of the business is reduced or wiped out to the detriment of consumers as a body."

STOCK MARKET RANGE NARROW IN LAST WEEK

War Threat, Election Temper Trading.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 25.—Wall street's growing enthusiasm over the domestic business situation has been tempered somewhat by the warlike developments abroad and by speculation over the possible effect of the forthcoming national election on share prices. The result has been a rather desultory market with brief periods of depression and advance following one another and prices getting nowhere.

The list has lapsed into a state that the market letter writers refer to as the doldrums. The combined "averages" showed a change of only about one-fifth of a point on the entire week's turnover and few individual issues were more than a point from where they were at the preceding week-end.

Views on Future Market.

Brokerage house comment indicates little expectation of any great change in the picture until after the election. As to what will happen market-wise after that important event is regarded as an open guess. Prices have been on the rise for about 19 months and there are those who profess to see reasons why a readjustment may prove necessary regardless of whether the expensive New Deal gets a new lease of life or whether an outraged citizenry rises to turn the tax-eating aggregation out of office on Nov. 3.

Others are just as confident that the sustained activity in business together with the probability of higher dividends will offset any bearishness that might develop and keep the list pointing forward.

Expect Larger Dividends.

One argument stressed by the bulls in their predictions of further recovery is based on a hope widely prevalent that a succession of increased dividend distributions are about to get under way as a result of the undistributed profits tax. Third quarter earnings reports are held to justify the hope, most of them disclosing surprising gains over earlier estimates. Several big corporation boards are scheduled to meet for dividend action during the forthcoming week. Among them are United States Steel, General Motors, Chrysler corporation, Bethlehem Steel, and Consolidated Edison.

Of the different stock groups the utilities made the best showing in the week. The division, in fact, held behind plus signs every day except Monday and Wednesday. The industrials showed a tendency to sag in the first half of the week, but rallied Friday and registered further improvement in yesterday's brief session.

KREUGER ASSETS IN U. S. PLACED AT 2½ MILLIONS

New York, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Assets of the Kreuger & Toll company in this country now amount to $2,500,000 in cash, with the definite expectation of $475,000 additional, and claims against the estate are reduced to $95,370,755, according to the intermediate report of Edward S. Greenbaum, trustee in bankruptcy, filed with Harold P. Coffin, referee, and made public today.

An estimate of the assets of the company in Sweden, from which the major part of dividends to creditors must be derived, placed current value of about $18,000,000 in cash and $3,000,000 in securities. Liabilities approximated $70,000,000.

GLASS WORKERS GO ON STRIKE AT SIX PLANTS

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 25.—(AP)—A strike order went into effect today at six plants of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company, employing approximately 6,000 men. The order was issued by Glenn McCabe, president of the Federation of Flat Glass Workers, who asserted the company refused the union's demand for a "closed shop."

The plants involved are situated at Ford City and Creighton, in Pennsylvania, Mount Vernon, O., Henryetta, Okla., Crystal, Mo., and Clarksburg, W. Va.

D. F. Cannon, assistant superintendent of the company's plant at Ford City, said no attempt will be made to operate while the strike is in effect. The Ford City factory, one of the largest in the industry, employs about 1,500 men. Maintenance men remained on duty to care for equipment.

Employés of the company's paint plant at Milwaukee, Wis., walked out in accordance with another strike order by the Paint and Varnish Makers' union there.

EIGHT PLANES TO COST $880,000 ORDERED BY UNITED AIR LINES

United Air Lines has ordered eight more Douglas planes, costing $110,000 each, President W. A. Patterson announced yesterday. The contract made United Air Lines the largest purchaser of new air line equipment in the United States so far this year, Patterson said. He said that the additional twin engined, 12 ton sleeper transports brought United's commitments for new Douglas planes to 28 units, involving investment of about $3,000,000.

The first of the fleet of 28 planes will be delivered some time next month for the Los Angeles-San Francisco run, Patterson said. As additional planes are delivered they will be placed on United's California-Chicago-New York route. In all there will be ten 21 passenger transports, ten 14 passenger "club car" transports, and the eight sleeper planes for overnight coast-to-coast flights.

The new Douglas planes will have a wing span of 95 feet and a cruising range of 1,000 miles.

SEC Investigates Trade in City Stores, Lit Stocks

New York, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—The Securities and Exchange commission has an investigation into trading in the common stocks of City Stores company, listed on the stock exchange, and of Lit Brothers, traded on an unlisted basis on the Curb exchange, it was learned today. A questionnaire asking for all data on trading in the two stocks from Aug. 1 to Oct. 15 was received by brokerage houses this morning. Several times prior to this questionnaire the SEC has sought information on trading in Lit Brothers common stock.

Trade Gains in Midwest, Bank Reports

Improvement in business conditions in the seventh federal reserve district during September was reported yesterday by the Chicago Federal Reserve bank. Industrial employment showed a fractional increase, although wages dropped 1 per cent, as compared with August. However, there were gains of 8½ and 15 per cent, respectively, over a year ago.

The bank reported that the showing in employment and pay rolls for September, as compared with August, was better than usual, and that accelerated output was noted in several manufacturing and food producing industries, while other industries maintained the comparatively high level of activity that prevailed through the summer months.

Trade Shows Unusual Gain.

In most reporting groups of wholesale and retail trade, September sales expanded more than normally over a month earlier and gains over September, 1935, were large. The third quarter closed with production and sales volume for the year to date substantially ahead of the corresponding months of 1935.

The closing of automobile plants during the changeover to new models brought production to the low level of the year in September. Output of passenger automobiles in the United States totaled 90,597 in September, while trucks totaled 44,533. These were declines of 57 and 28 per cent, respectively, from August, but gains of 61½ and 42 per cent over a year ago.

Distribution of Automobiles.

Wholesale distribution of automobiles in the middle west again reflected production trends in September, amounting to only 25 per cent of the August volume. The number of new cars sold at wholesale dropped 76 per cent below August and 56 per cent below a year ago, while the number sold at retail was 18 per cent below August, but 56 per cent above a year ago.

Celotex Exchange Plan Deadline Set for Nov. 16

G. Dahlberg, president, to the corporation's bond and debenture holders. The plan is part of a proposed financial program to revise the present complicated debt structure.

NEW YORK CENTRAL'S OPERATING INCOME RISES; TRAFIC GAINS

The New York Central railroad yesterday reported net operating income after depreciation and retirements for September was $4,356,071 compared with $3,797,744 a year ago. Gross revenues for the month were $30,568,132 against $26,719,331 a year ago.

For the first nine months the road's net operating income after depreciation and retirement was $32,679,976, compared with $23,364,904 in the corresponding period of 1935. Gross for the period was $261,539,073 against $225,938,957.

Both passenger and freight revenues showed gains over a year ago. September passenger receipts were $5,702,000, against $4,908,978 a year ago.

The Illinois Central reported net railway operating income of $1,529,556 for September, a decrease of $130,108 from a year ago. For nine months net was $9,839,758, an increase of $2,314,691.

American Air Lines Carries More Express This Month

American Air Lines, Inc., reported yesterday that its share of the business of the unified air express division of the Railway Express company out of Chicago in the first fifteen days of October totaled 22,604 pounds, an increase of 46.3 per cent.

HOW NRA AFFECTED RECOVERY

"The four months' drop which followed the introduction of the NRA has never been equaled except in the panic collapses of 1893 and 1907. On the other hand, the advance which followed the Schechter decision against NRA is the broadest and best sustained recovery to date."

STEEL OUTPUT SAGS; STILL FAR ABOVE YEAR AGO

Rate Last Week Put at 73 Per Cent.

Steel works operations throughout the country last week declined 2 points to 73 per cent of plant capacity, the magazine Steel reported yesterday. This was the third weekly loss since the high mark of the year was reached in late September and early October. However, the operating rate in the corresponding week a year ago was only 52½ per cent.

Operations in the Pittsburgh district last week dropped 7 points to 70 per cent; Chicago, 1½ points to 74½ per cent; Youngstown, 1 point to 77 per cent; Wheeling, 3 points to 92 per cent; eastern Pennsylvania, ½ point to 48 per cent; Birmingham, 2½ points to 61½ per cent, and New England, ½ point to 75 per cent. The other districts were unchanged. The Chicago and Youngstown declines were due to repair work.

Active Winter Expected.

"Further slight moderation is possible in the next few weeks," the journal said, "but from then on until the end of the year activity is expected to be strong. Shipping releases are being awaited by the mills for a great amount of material, particularly from automobile manufacturers."

It is estimated by the journal that enough steel was placed on mill books to make 1,000,000 cars in the fourth quarter, but the great bulk of this has not yet been released.

Pressure for deliveries is still strong in sheets and strip, but is considerably easier in such lines as shapes, plates, and reinforcing steel, where backlogs have been declining slowly, Steel reported.

More Locomotives Sought.

Inquiries for 25 locomotives last week raised the number on the pending list to 140. Several fairly large rail inquiries are imminent, and the Pennsylvania is reported to have placed a substantial tonnage.

Weakness in scrap prices in the Pittsburgh district, where No. 1 material fell off 50 cents a ton, the first decline there in four months, has forced Steel's scrap composite down to 21 cents to $16.33. The iron and steel index is at $34.62, down 2 cents from last week, and the composite of finished material is unchanged at $53.90.

Fastest Train Returns from Record Trip

ALBERT COTSWORTH JR.

Offsetting a delay of 41 minutes near Creston, Iowa, the Burlington railroad's new streamlined train, the Denver Zephyr, yesterday made up all but 2 minutes and 50 seconds of the lost time in traveling 396 miles to arrive at the Union station at 1:52.50 p. m., Chicago time on its schelulede run of 15 hours and 50 minutes.

The train, which brought brought back a party of Chicagoans who were on it when it hung up a new world's speed record on Friday, had a handicap of four more cars yesterday than it carried in establishing its record with an average speed of 83.33 miles per hour for the 1017.2 mile dash from Chicago to Denver.

Top Speed 104 Miles an Hour.

Despite the handicap of the added cars, the 3,000 horsepower Diesel electric locomotive easily made up practically all the lost minutes, reeling off a speed of 100 miles per hour for mile after mile, with a top speed of 104 miles an hour.

Consisting of fourteen cars, including the two power cars, the Denver Zephyr yesterday was the longest streamlined train ever to take to the rails, having an overall length of 1,036 feet. When the new Denver Zephyrs replace the Advance Zephyrs in service between Chicago and Denver on Nov. 8 they will consist of twelve cars, including the two power cars, with an overall of 884 feet.

Runs Rapidly Near Chicago.

After leaving Galesburg the train traveled at a 100 mile an hour rate. From Earlville to Montgomery, Ill., the Zephyr ran the 32.12 miles in 20 minutes, or at an average speed of 96.2 miles per hour. Between La Grange and Berwyn it raced down the tracks for two miles at a speed of 102.7 miles per hour.

Albert Cotsworth Jr., passenger trafic manager, said that a check of the figures recorded during the Friday record run disclosed that some remarkable speed sprints had been made. In running the 483 miles from Lincoln, Neb., to Denver the average speed was 88.7 miles an hour. Over this stretch of track the train climbed 4,000 feet in altitude.

WINTER WHEAT BELT RAINFALL ABOVE NORMAL

But Drouth Prevails in Some Sections.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Although rainfall on the average was greater than normal over most of the winter wheat belt in September, some areas are in poorer condition than at any time during the drouth cycle.

The figures on September precipitation for the principal producing states were favorable, but B. W. Snow, Chicago crop statistician, points out that rainfall by no means relieved some of the driest sections. He has compiled figures on precipitation in Nebraska during the July-September period which he says show that the winter wheat crop outlook so far as it is governed by moisture conditions is the poorest at any time in the last four years.

Western Nebraska Lacks Rain.

According to Snow's compilation the average rainfall in the Nebraska counties situated west of the 100th meridian in the July-September period was 3.16 inches, compared with the normal precipitation of 6.57 inches. In the counties in the central part of the state, he found rainfall amounted to 4.25 inches during the same period, compared with normal precipitation of 9.25 inches.

Snow, who is statistician for the Bartlett-Frazier company, offered the following table to show the cumulative effect of the drouth in western Nebraska over the last four years:

	Rainfall July-Sept. Inches.	Normal Rainfall Inches.	Per cent Normal.
1936	3.16	6.57	48
1935	4.18	6.57	64
1934	4.56	6.63	69
1933	8.66	6.73	129

Subsoil Moisture Deficient.

"Four years of deficient rainfall have dissipated the subsoil moisture in the wheat area of the state and the further deficiency of the present year starts the wheat crop of Nebraska for the next year with a very doubtful outlook," Snow said. Figures for the whole state show that in September alone 2.36 inches of rain were received, compared with the normal 2.14 inches.

Most of the other states in the winter wheat belt received more than normal rainfall in September, according to compilations based on weather

Borg-Warner.

Investors' Guide: Would you kindly let me have your best information on Borg-Warner corporation.—C. W. S.

Answer: Though Borg-Warner corporation has benefited tremendously by the sharp upturn in the automobile industry in the last three years, this phase of its business now contributes only about 60 per cent of dollar volume because of the development of other divisions of the company's business.

It manufactures a complete line of electric refrigerators, washing machines, gas and electric kitchen ranges, oil burners for domestic heating, and air conditioners. These appear mainly under the "Norge" trade name. Stainless steel sheets and specialty steels for the agricultural implements and machinery trade also are produced.

Borg-Warner supplies one or more parts to nearly all automobile makers, clutches and transmissions being its major lines.

Plants are located in eight American cities, Canada, and England, with manufacturing operations concentrated in the Detroit automobile area.

Earnings are now running at approximately the 1929 level, when net income was $7,661,000, or $6.09 a share. Net income dropped to $2,318,000 in 1930 and $1,208,000 in 1931. After a loss of $598,000 in 1932 the curve turned sharply upward. Net income was $1,196,000, or 84 cents a share in 1933; $3,751,000, or $3.06 in 1934, and $6,983,000, or $5.89 in 1935.

For the first half of 1936 net income was $3,458,000, or $2.96 a share, compared with $3,011,000, or $2.51 in the corresponding 1935 period.

Capitalization consists of 13,504 shares of 7 per cent $100 par preferred and 1,150,961 shares of $10 par common stock.

Despite use of funds to retire 19,000 preferred shares in the last year and a half, working capital position continues strong. Current assets were $26,046,000, and current liabilities were $6,795,000 on June 30, 1936.

From the low point of payment of 25 cents a share during 1933, dividends on the common stock have been boosted to the present $3 annual rate. In addition an extra of 75 cents a share was paid Oct. 1, and the company is considering payment of another extra before the end of the year.

bureau records. Kansas had 5.03 inches during the month, against the usual 2.80; Oklahoma had 7.65 inches, or more than double the normal 3.08 inches.

September rainfall in Illinois totaled 6.69 inches and in Indiana, 3.92 inches, compared with normal precipitation of 3.63 and 3.41 inches, respectively. Missouri received 8.58 inches, or double the normal amount.

Wheat prices in Chicago showed little change over the last week. Closing prices on Saturday, with the exception of the July, 1937, delivery, were fractions of a cent below the preceding week. The July contract was slightly higher.

CANADIAN SALES BRISK.

WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—The flow of grain out of the Canadian lake head terminals at Fort William and Port Arthur continued brisk in the last week. About sixty cargoes moved to eastern ports, including United States ports. Export demand during the week totaled three million bushels.

Imports by United States amounted to 1,353,000 bushels, only 246,000 going into bonded mills, and the rest into consumption channels. United States imports of Canadian wheat in these classifications from Aug. 1 to Oct. 24 totaled 18,000,000 bushels compared with 10,000,000 bushels in the corresponding period a year ago.

TAX BURDEN TOO GREAT, DECLARES UTILITY LEADER

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Delegates were arriving today for the opening of the eighteenth annual convention of the American Gas association in Convention hall here tomorrow. Many went to see the exhibit of more than $1,000,000 worth of equipment and appliances on display in the hall.

In a pre-convention statement, Thomas N. McCarter, president of the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey, said that "national, state, county, and municipal governments are placing a burden on industry that is almost impossible to bear." He said that his own company is now paying total taxes of approximately $19,000,000, which is 19 per cent of its gross and 32.4 per cent of its net earnings. Old age and other security legislation will force the company eventually to pay an additional $1,800,000, McCarter said.

REAL ESTATE

Real estate as an investment is the subject of closer study than it has been in years.

One significant index of real estate activity is the volume of classified advertising devoted to this subject in the Chicago Tribune.

A Lifetime Opportunity.

One of America's largest and most progressive newspapers invites correspondence with a man whose experience and background both technically and culturally fit him to be its Director of Advertising, and, during the course of years, a member of the Board of Directors.

Undoubtedly, the man most likely to be chosen for this position is at present engaged in newspaper advertising. He is between 35 and 42 years old. He has had a great deal of experience. He has an impressive record of success in sales production, and he enjoys an unquestioned personal and character record.

He is a man of abundant energy, a master salesman himself as well as a man who can bring out the best sales results in others; a student as well as a salesman of advertising, an idealist, yet a man of drive and firmness.

Inquiries are invited, with the assurance they will be treated with the utmost confidence. In replying, please present your written application as fully and as elaborately as you feel necessary to convince the advertiser that you deserve the most serious consideration and this rare and valuable opportunity. October 19, 1936

Inasmuch as the results of the general election, November 3rd will bear directly upon your own situation, it is important that you consider yourself as a candidate for re-election for the job you now hold.

Although your name will not appear on the ballot, the name of Governor Horner, your sponsor, will. I feel sure, therefore, that you will be glad to write letters to at least five of your good friends who are registered as Republicans and ask, as a personal favor of each one of them, that they vote for Governor Horner and thus help to secure your position.

Please give me your name and the 5 or more stamped, addressed and sealed letters to your friends and I will mail them for you promptly.
